Superstition

1961

This fifty-second volume of the Superstition was published by and for the Associated Students of Mesa High School, Mesa, Arizona.

This is the story of Mesa High and her students; this is the story of "We Two."

Forward

"'No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main; if a clod be washed away by the sea; Europe is the less, as well as if a promontorie were, as if a mannor of thy friends or thine own were; any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind.'"

Greg Garwood was thoughtful as he continued. "To me that statement by John Donne summarizes the importance of every individual."

"It is a beautiful thought, Greg," reflected Shari Wynters, the blonde-haired girl who sat next to Greg. "Yet, many times throughout history men have forgotten the importance of human life and human dignity."

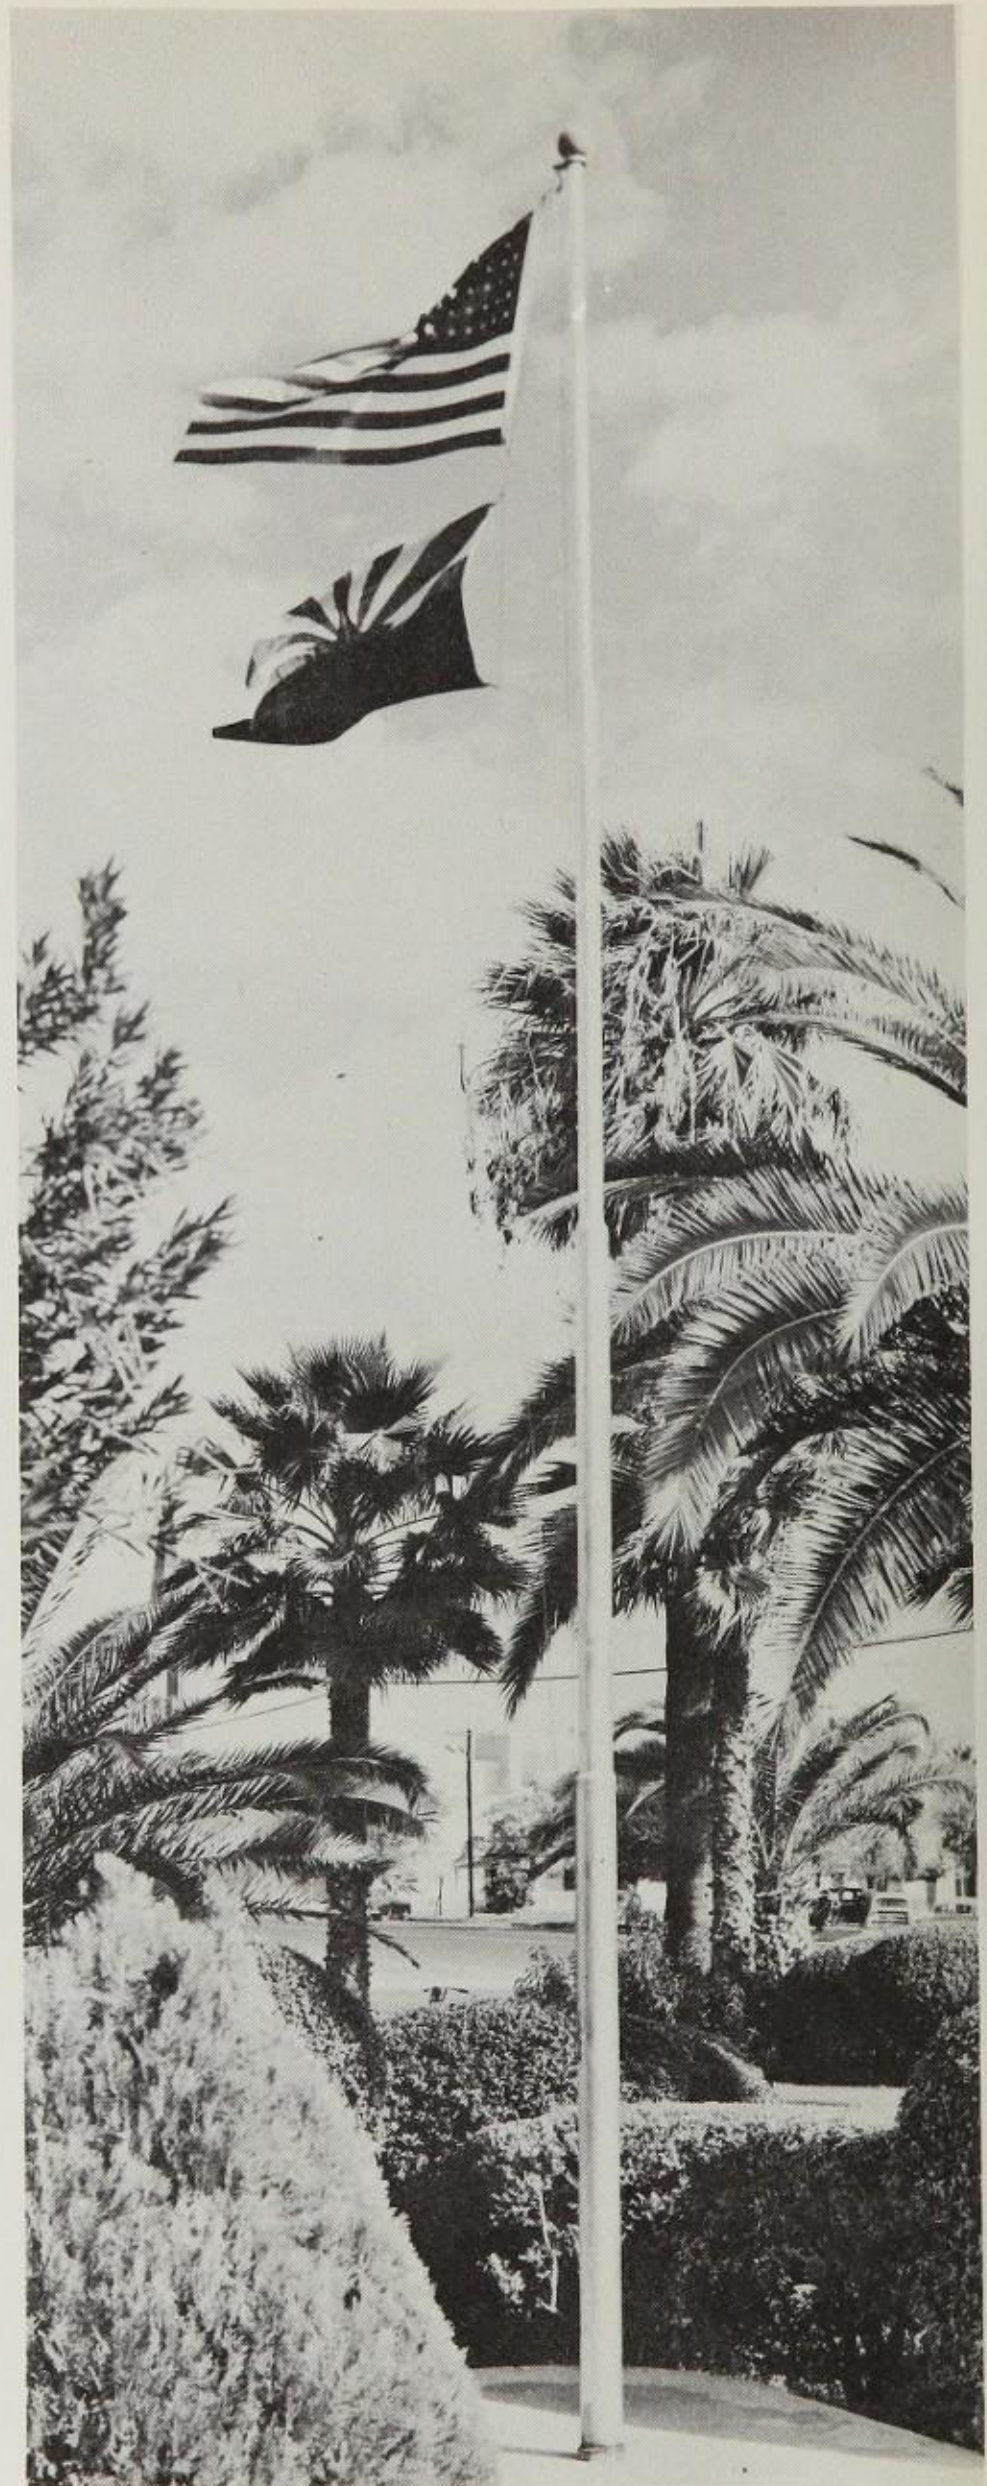

"Unfortunately, that is true, Shari," replied Greg. "Let's hope we learn from the mistakes of others. If men are ever to live together in peace, they must learn to respect each other and to treat each other as they would like to be treated."

"Jesus, the great teacher, once said, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself,'" Shari said pensively.

"If only mankind would practice that commandment, Shari. Men have existed together, but many have never learned to live together. They are neighbors, yet they are strangers."

"Even in the small world of Mesa High, we face many of these same problems that have plagued man since the beginning of time. However, through education we are learning to overcome them. The importance of the friendships that exist here may well be measured by the condition of the world when the present students of Mesa High are the leaders of our country."

"But I don't believe that it will be just the leaders of great nations that determine whether or not we will have peace. Rather, it is the responsibility of every individual. That means you and me. You know, Shari, I have come to the conclusion that in a small measure, 'We Two' hold the future of our world in our hands."

Old Glory and the Arizona State flag fly over the school.

The East building is where the students have social studies.

The English department is visited frequently by scholars.

The breezeway is the break between Old Main and the West building.

The boys get their daily exercise at the boys' gym.

Friends meet at the cafeteria to eat and relax.

To You We Render This Honor

To one who has gone hand in hand with the students to make a team, one who has given seventeen years of conscientious service to our school, we, the students of Mesa High, dedicate to you with pride and great majesty this 1961 edition of the Superstition annual.

You and we students have worked unitedly since January of 1945. Through the years you have been freshman sponsor, Tri-Y Teens and FTA sponsor and a member of the foreign exchange committee. You have subsequently enlightened freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors in English grammar and literature courses.

With appreciation and admiration we present this fifty-second volume of the Mesa High School yearbook, the Superstition, to you — Mrs. Margaret S. Heywood — teacher, companion, friend.

Mrs. Heywood is always ready to help students with their class studies or personal problems.

She has a very sincere interest in the Future Teachers of America, of which she is a sponsor.

Administration

As students filed from their classrooms after the dismissal of second period classes, noisy sounds of laughter and chattering voices echoed through the halls. Shari walked slowly down the hall toward her third period class.

"Hi, Shari." Greg pushed his way through the crowds and fell into step beside her. "Say, how would you like to go to Movie Club tonight? It's the last movie of the year."

"Oh, Greg, I'd love to, but I have an assignment due in journalism tomorrow. I'm doing a story on the administration of the school and I think I'd better stay home tonight and get it done."

"Well, as they say, 'two heads are better than one.' Can I help you? Maybe if you can get it done today, we can still make it to the movie tonight."

"As a matter of fact, Greg," she smiled, "I do need some ideas. I know the administration includes a number of people, but I'm not certain just who it includes."

"Well, Shari, it includes the School Board, Mr. Brimhall and Mr. Kilbourne, the counselors, the secretaries, and the registrar."

"Wouldn't the Student Council and the Boys' and Girls' League Councils be considered a part of the administration, then? They are the students' elected representatives who help govern the school."

"That's right, Shari. The administration governs the school and makes sure that everything runs smoothly. They make rules, plan activities, watch the budget, make changes necessary because of growth, keep the records, and solve the problems of Mesa High."

"I never realized how much the administration does for us. I think I'll make my story a little note of appreciation. Thanks, Greg, and I'll expect you tonight about seven."

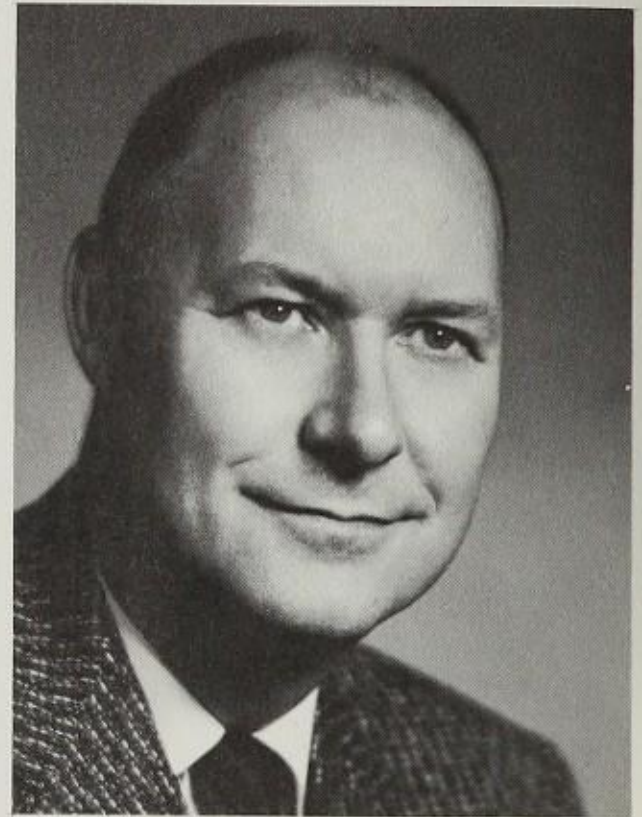

RULON T. SHEPHARD
Superintendent

They Stand Behind Us

"Say, Mr. Shephard," commented Mike upon meeting the superintendent and Mr. Humphrey in the hall one day. "I notice that there is a School Board meeting to-night. Are you going to decide on the seating for the new gym?"

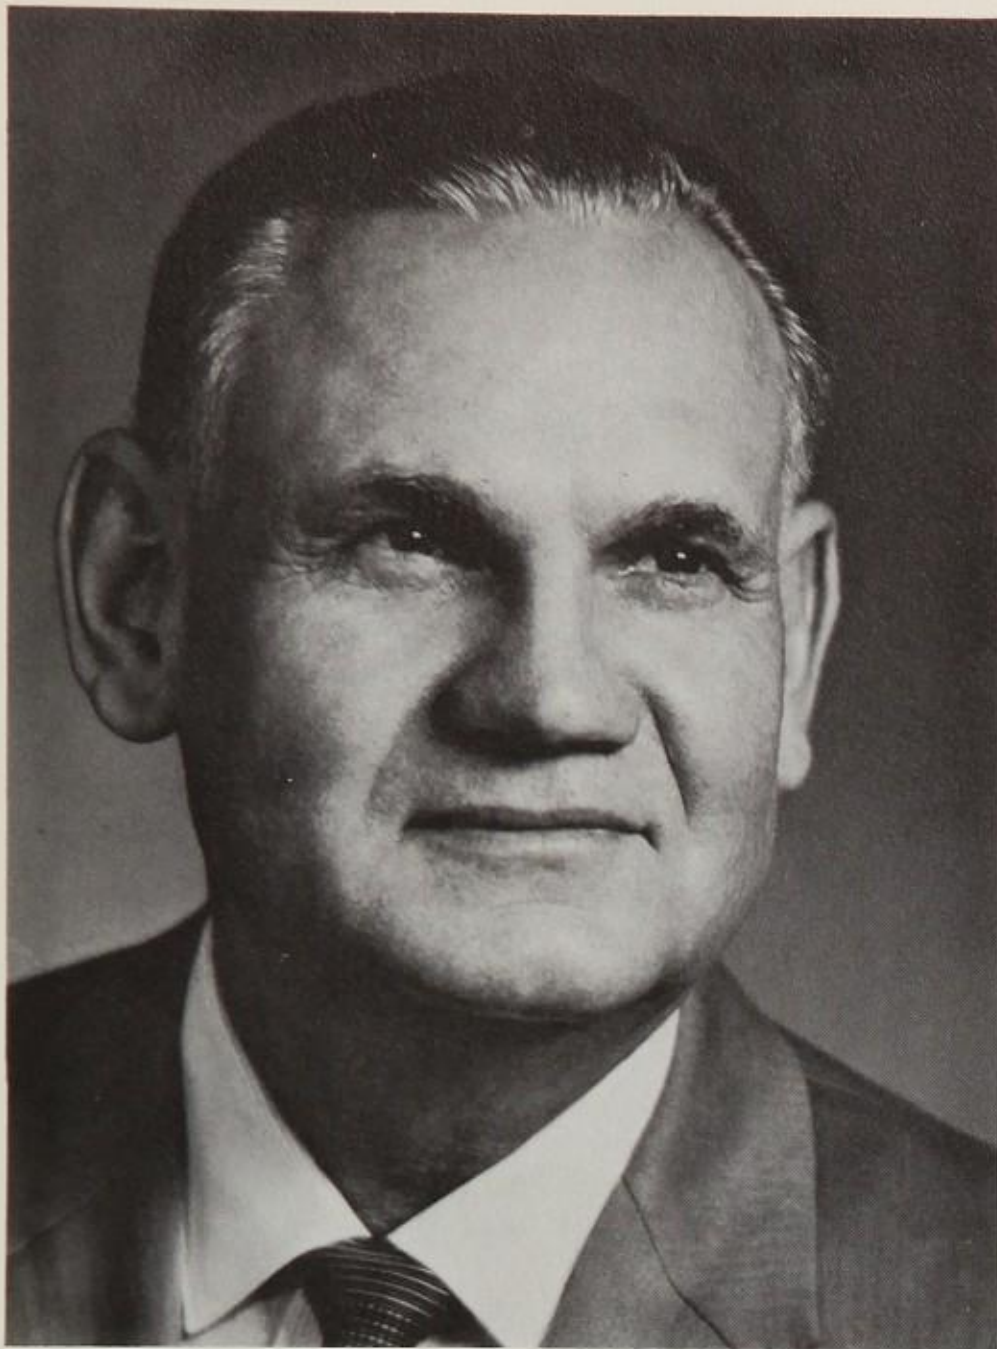

"Yes, Mike, they are. But not only are they going to consider the seating, but they may pass another bond issue for a new high school. They do other things, too, Mike," added Mr. Shephard. "They hire teachers and make the rules the students follow."

Of Service To Us

"Say, Mr. Kilbourne," asked Greg to Mesa High's assistant principal, "can you spare me a minute? I need permission to carry out a club project. Since you are a sponsor of the Student Council, I was hoping that you would endorse it for me."

"I would be glad to help you if I could, Greg," answered Mr. Kilbourne, "but final authority in things of this nature rests with Mr. Brimhall. I believe you can find him in the registrar's office trying to figure out next year's extended schedule."

"I hope I can catch him before he has to meet with the teachers of the AA classes. You must be very busy trying to wind up the year's business. I bet you two are just as happy when school dismisses as we are."

RICHARD KILBOURNE
Assistant Principal

Counselors and Nurse Serve Us Well

Greg was on his way to see Bernard Hudson about information on college. As he passed the office of Elwood Glazier, a merry "buenos dias" rang out.

"Hi, Mr. Hudson," said Greg, as he walked into the office. "Do you have any information on colleges that I might borrow?"

"There are handbooks from schools all over the nation in the other office," Mr. Hudson replied. "Would you like to see them?"

"Yes, I would." As Greg left with Mr. Hudson, he remembered how much he had relied on Mrs. Cynthia Elson and Robert Kellis, as well as Mr. Hudson and Mr. Glazier, for help and advice during his three years at Mesa High.

The counselors enjoy a few moments together while discussing a college rating chart.

Secretaries Aid Us

"Hi, Greg. What are you doing here?" asked Shari, as she walked into the office.

"I'm here to make a requisition for the Annual Signing Party," answered Greg.

"Seems like we're on much the same errand. I'm here to announce the Annual Signing Party and have it put in the daily bulletin."

"It's a good thing we have secretaries like Eula Harris, Anita Chesley and Elizabeth Wirkin to help us out," replied Greg.

"You can say that again!" exclaimed Shari.

Mike walked into the attendance office to get an excuse for his absence the day before. As he stood waiting, Barbara Sato walked up and stood next to him.

"Hi, Mike," she greeted.

"Hi, Barbara," he replied. "You were sick, too?"

"Yes, everybody seems to be getting the flu these days and I'm no exception."

"Well, I'm an exception. I ate dinner at my girl friend's night before last. She did the cooking and I think I developed a mild case of blood poisoning."

"This place is busy all of the time," commented Mike. "Do you know who takes care of all the work that needs to be done?"

"Well, the office is under the direction of Melvin Sizemore. Georgia Wright, who is in charge of attendance, takes care of the excuses and other attendance difficulties. She is assisted by Beverly Coombs. Lora Stewart and Florence Mortenson handle the registering of students."

GOLDEN TUELLER
Traveling Counselor

Greg was on his way to the bookstore on an errand for supplies. Entering the room that has everything from pop to pencils, he heard the teasing voice of Orley Bradshaw call out to him.

"All right, Greg," he said, "why are you ditching class?"

"I-m not," replied Greg. "This is official business."

"Well, we'll see. I think I will call Mr. Tueller, the attendance officer. His job is to make sure everyone who should be in school is in school and that means you," Orley replied teasingly.

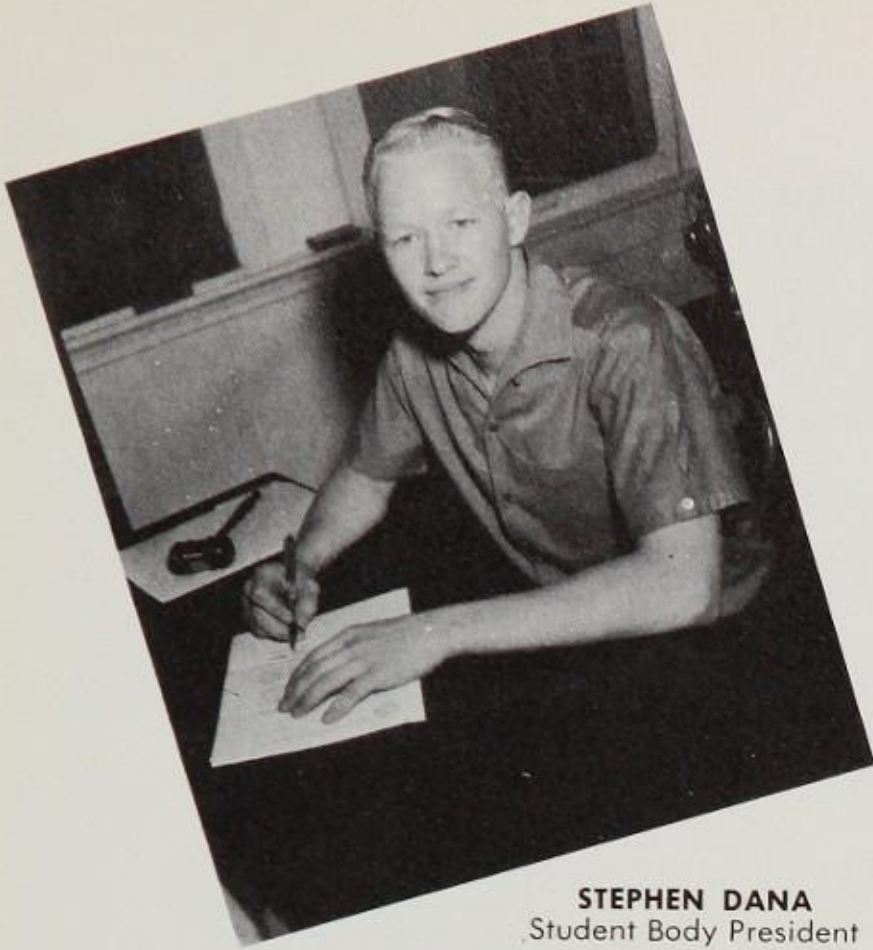

"Well, I am in school. I was sent down here to get some supplies. But if you keep accusing me of ditching, I'll take my business somewhere else," Greg smiled.

"You might find that a bit difficult since we have the only available supplies on campus. However, you have an honest face, so I'll ask Mrs. Leonard to get what you need."

Orley Bradshaw, bookstore manager, and Helen Leonard, secretary, look over a requisition.

Our Student Officers

STEPHEN DANA
Student Body President

Mike walked into the student body office and called to Stephen Dana, who sat at his desk working on some papers.

"Hey, Stephen, can you spare a few minutes for a chat?"

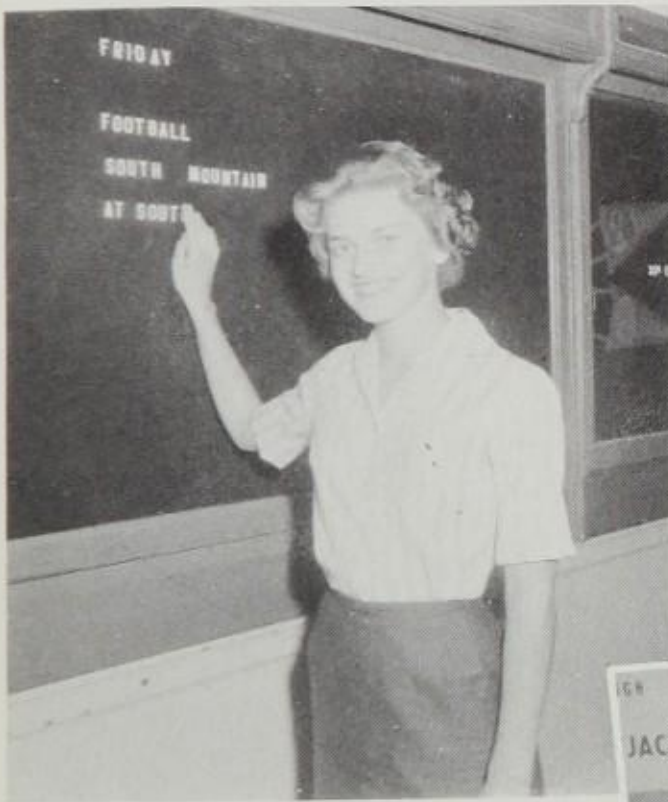

"Sure, Mike. What did you want to talk about?"

"I was just wondering if you might tell me a little about Mesa Highs Student Council. It's very different from the councils at the school I came from and I've been curious as to how it works."

"It is different from most councils, Mike," replied Stephen. "Most schools have much larger councils, but we have found that a smaller council is more effective."

"Also, this year the Student Council brought about a constitutional change concerning class elections. In addition to that, all club projects must now be approved by the Council."

"Our meetings are held every Tuesday during second lunch. At these meetings we discuss school problems and how to solve them as well as the activities and projects that concern the school."

Girls Are Active In League Activities

"I'm" glad I decided to apply for a position on the Girls' League council," stated Shari to Connie Glazier as they walked to lunch.

"Will you be on it next year, too?" inquired Connie.

"I certainly will, if they let me. You have done such a good job as president, Connie. I'll bet this has been the best year for Mesa High girls that there has ever been."

Connie smiled. "Planning and carrying out our activities so well has made the effort worth while. Remember our first big project? It was the All Girls' party."

"You bet. It isn't every year we can combine the All Girls' party with an All Girls' football pep rally. Twirp Week was my favorite time. All those boys I had to choose from. What decisions I had to make!"

"The Mothers' and Daughters' Tea was our last big project for the year. I'm glad the girls seemed to enjoy it."

"Don't forget the Coed," said Shari. "I could have danced all night to that dreamy music!"

"I would say, Connie, that this year, the Girls' League has certainly done its best to help the girls adapt themselves well in both educational and social activities."

Boys' League Manages To Keep Busy, Too

Don Warden leaned back in his chair. "Do you mean to tell me, Mike, that you have already planned the Christmas Formal for December of 1962?"

"Sure, Don. As the president of Boys' League year after next, I'll be in charge of it. I thought I'd better be prepared. That's why I'm asking you about your duties."

"Aside from the fact that you will have to get yourself elected, you seem to have it all planned," laughed Don. "The purpose of the Boys' League is to develop the social abilities of the boys of Mesa High, as well as offer opportunities for training in leadership."

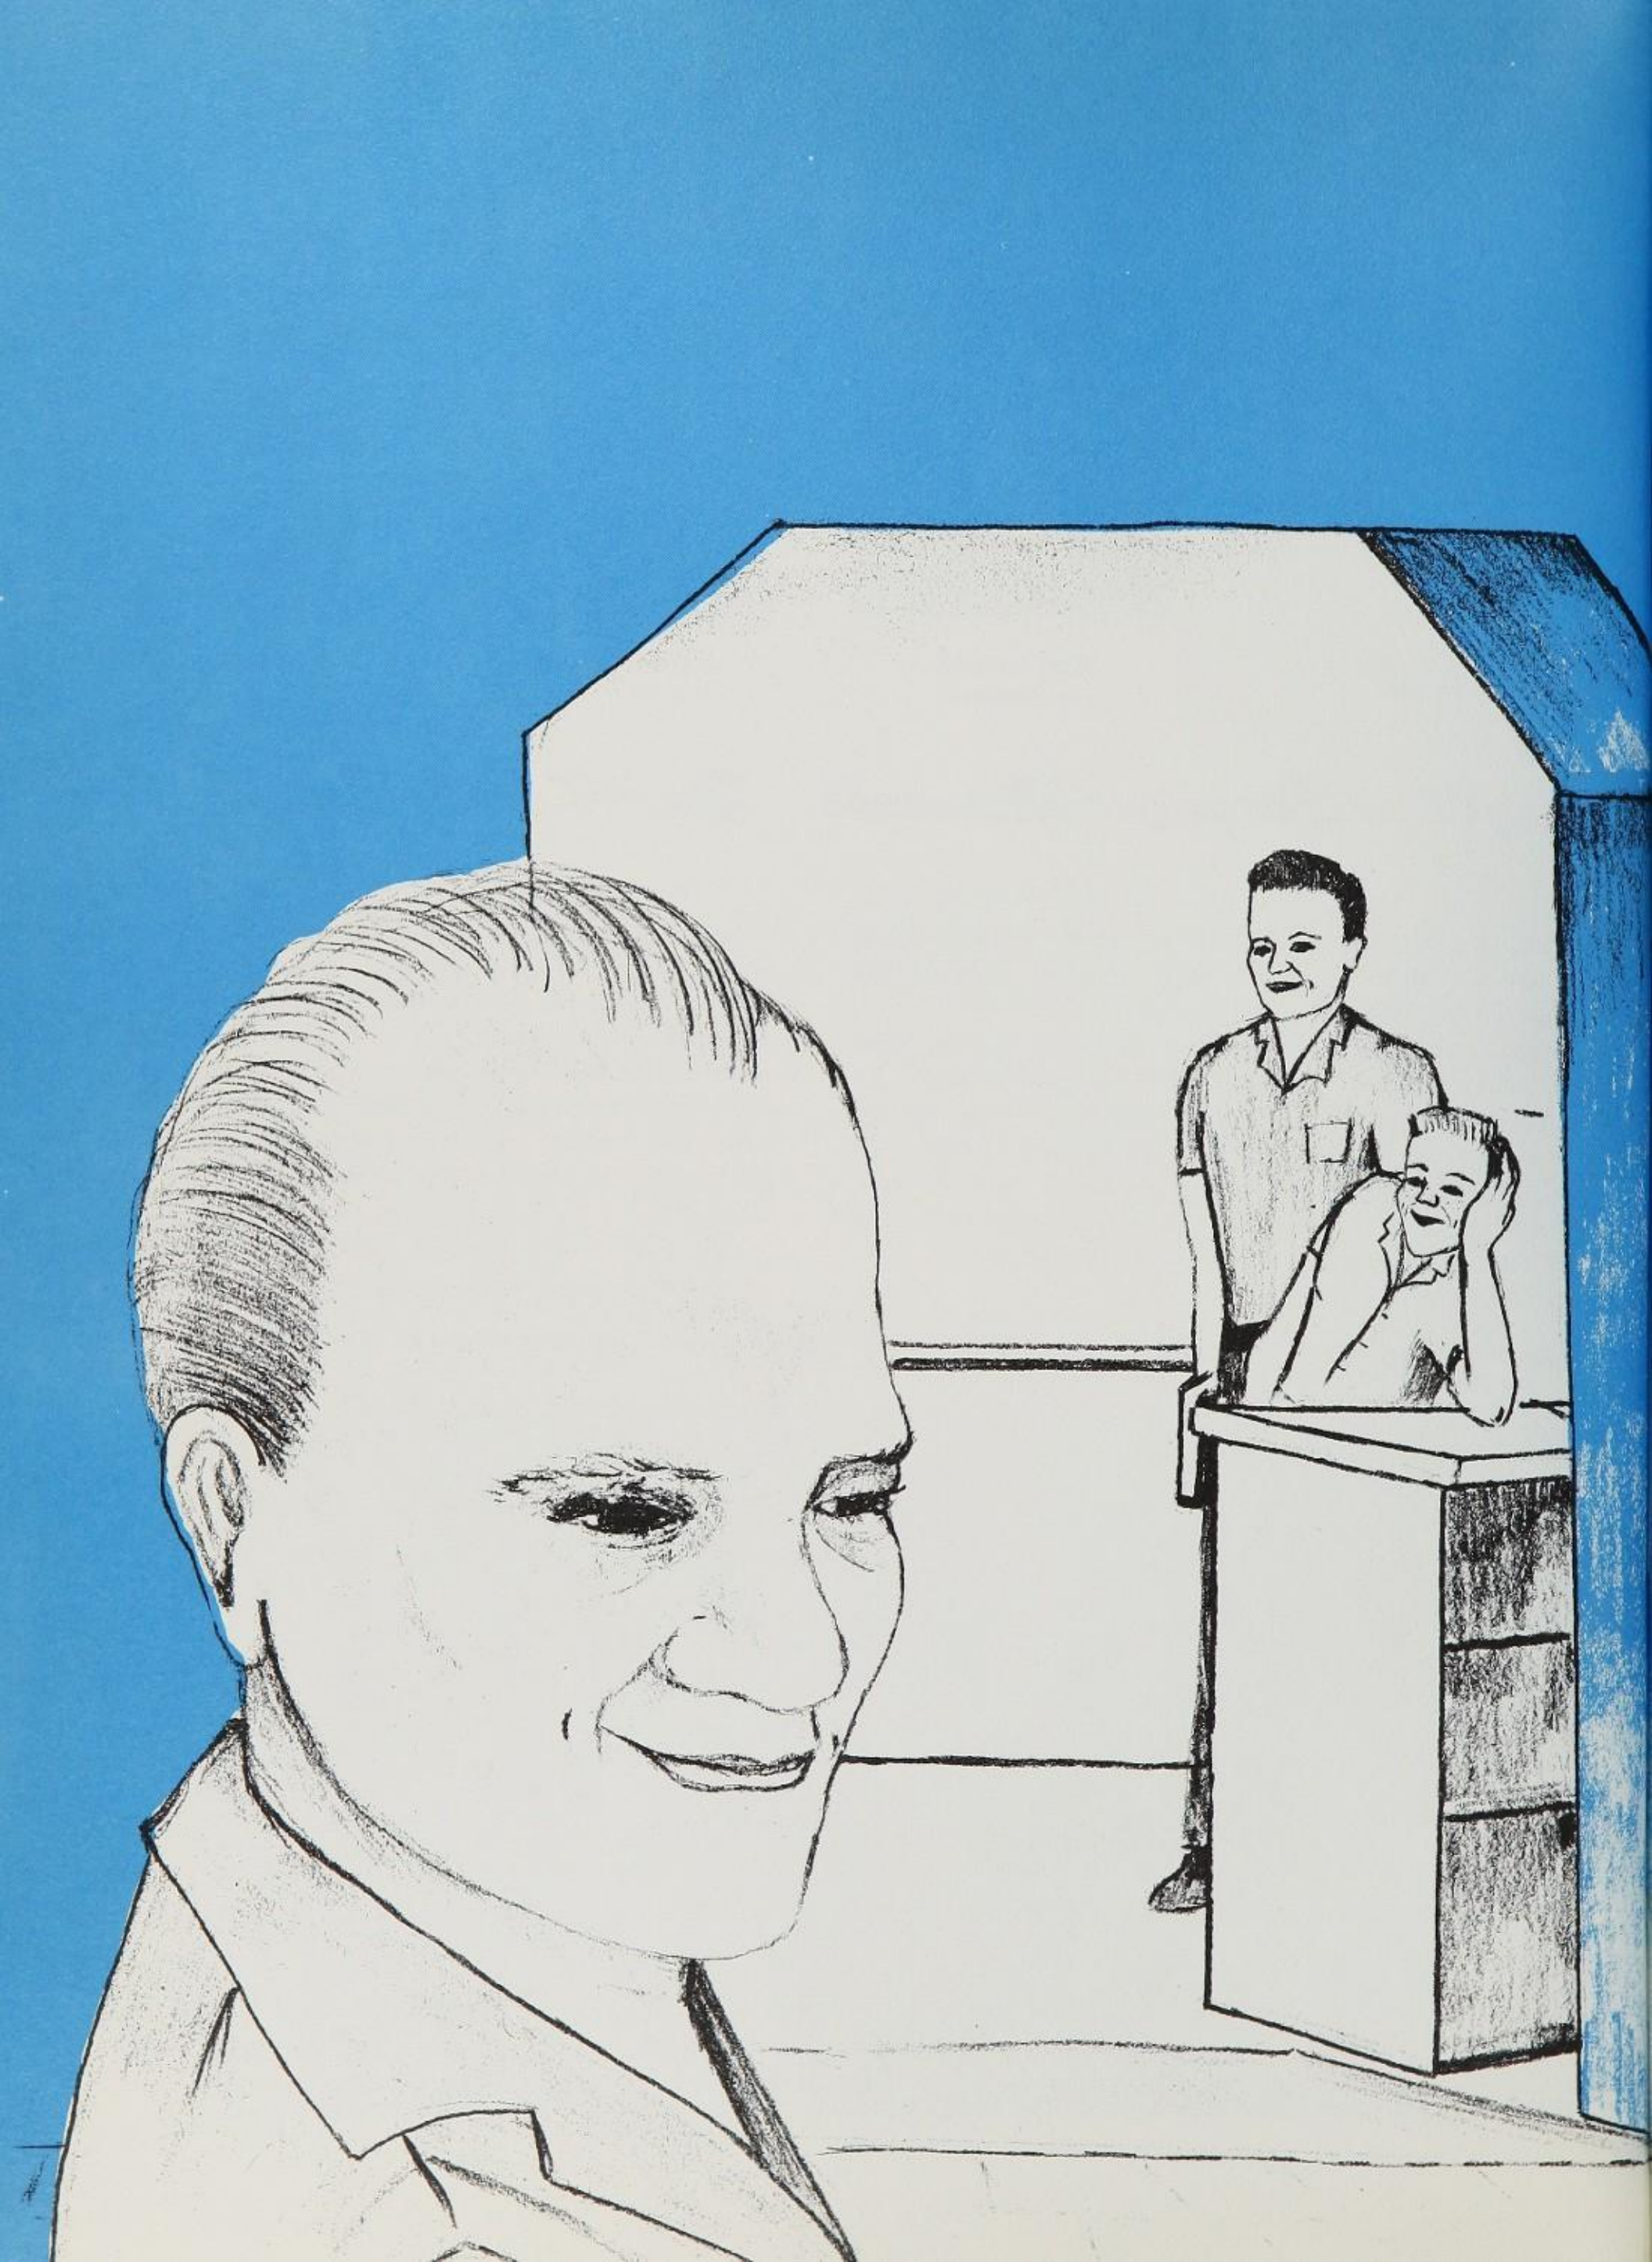

"You have carried out the purpose this year. Just look at how much I have learned," Mike grinned. "But, I imagine there are a few details about the dance that still need a little work."

"Yes, and while you are thinking about it, you might plan the Father and Son activity that is held each year. Then there are the concessions at the football games that you can worry about. Besides that, there are numerous other duties that will keep you busy."

"Oh, I don't really need to worry," Mike mused. "You see, I plan to have eight or nine secretaries to help me."

Faculty and Academic

Greg and Mike pushed back the heavy door and entered the bookstore to buy a hamburger and pop for lunch.

"Hey, Greg," remarked Mike. "I hear some noise in the back room. Let's take a look and see what it is."

"Well, will you look at that! The teachers are playing a wild game of ping pong."

"You know, Greg, they're pretty sharp. Hit it, Mr. Pomeroy! Go, Mr. Nugent!"

"Yes, they are," laughed Greg. "Besides playing a mean game of ping pong, they do a pretty good job of educating empty heads like yours and mine."

"Speak for yourself, John," answered Mike indignantly.

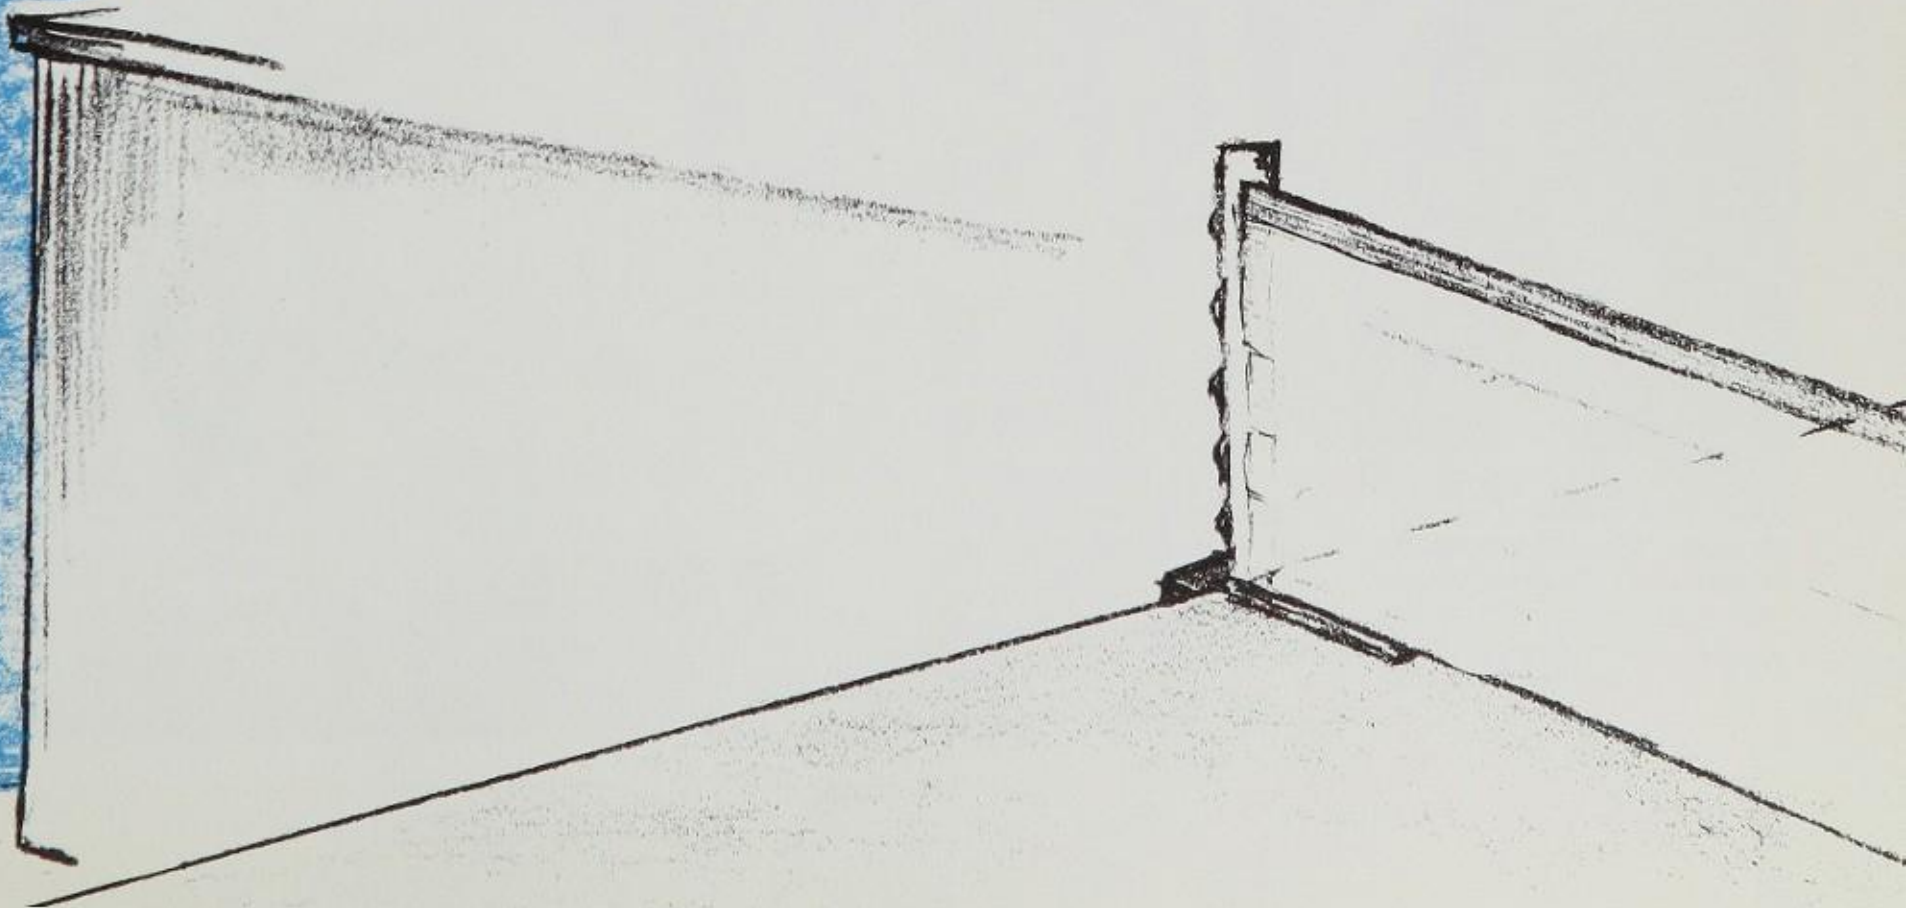

"All kidding aside, Mike, they are pretty swell. Teachers really do us a favor when they try to educate us, since education does count so heavily these days."

"That's true enough. I will admit there are a few things I have to know if I'm going to be a lawyer," replied Mike thoughtfully.

"And, you know, Mike, teachers are more than instructors and educators. They also serve as advisors, philosophers, humorists, babysitters, and just plain friends."

"Yes, Mike, if you ever amount to anything, it will be because of the teachers who have so patiently taught you."

"Thanks for the advice, Greg, but at the rate I'm going, I'll never amount to anything past five feet, four inches unless I get my food. Come on. I'm starved!"

English, Essential

G. T. YOUNG: Head of English department; teacher of journalism, publication, sponsor of yearbook, All Campus Party, Quill and Scroll.

F. H. BRADSHAW: Teacher of senior composition, every day English, world literature; chairman of Movie Club, member of assembly committee.

CLAUDIA BUFFINGTON: Teacher of drama, speech; sponsor of Masque and Dagger Club, school plays.

JOHN DONOVON: Teacher of junior English; sponsor of Goodwill Club,

JUDITH EVANS: Teacher of sophomore English; sponsor of Gold Key,

Dick Smith and Shari walked toward the library. "Dick," Shari asked, "will you give me my vocabulary words?"

"Sure thing, Shari," he replied, taking her list. "Here's one—unincomprehensibility."

"Unincomprehensibility?" A puzzled expression crossed her face. "That's not on the list."

"I know," replied Dick, "but you'll have to admit that it is quite a word."

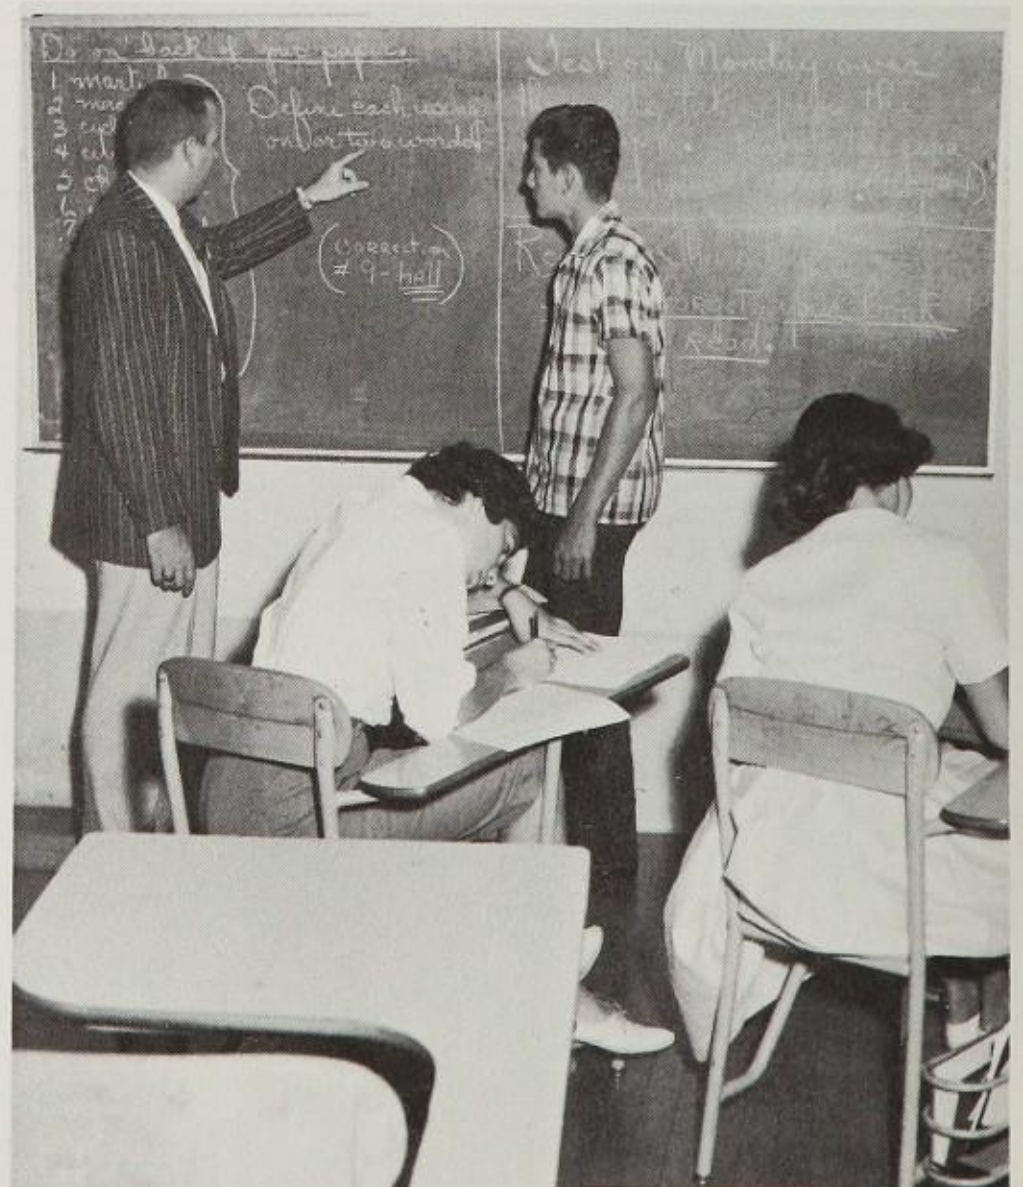

"Yes, it is," smiled Shari. "But then, Dick, you are a whiz in English."

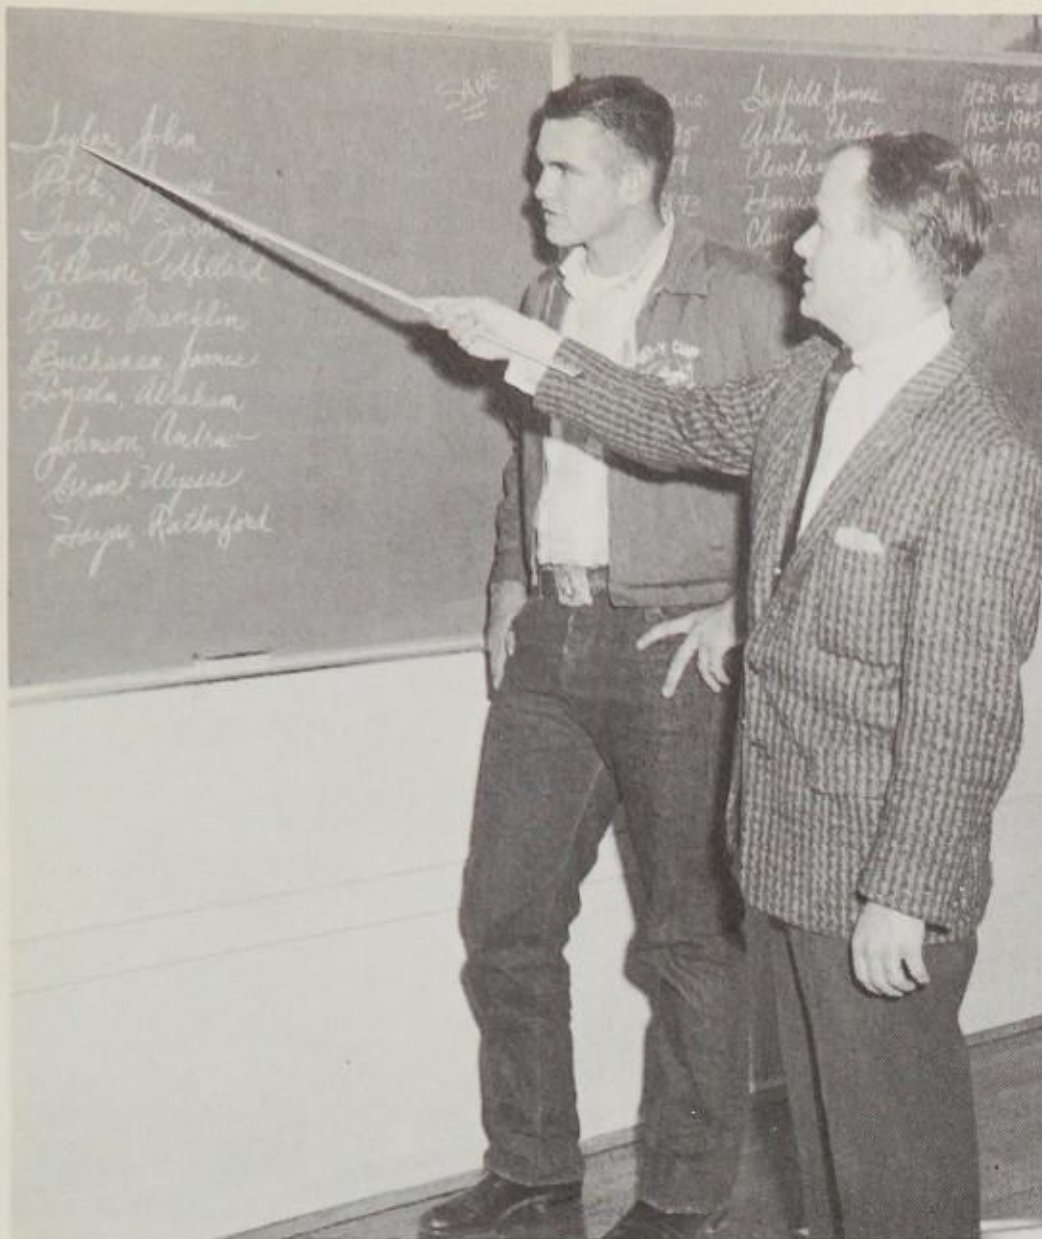

"I'm not really a 'whiz' as you call it, Shari. I just happen to enjoy English. I especially enjoy the literature courses."

"So do I," replied Shari. "I just wish grammar and composition came a little easier for me."

"It doesn't come easy to most people, Shari. It's something you have to work at. But it's worth it because to be a success these days you need to know your English."

"Test on Monday. Well, if I don't get this through my thick skull, it'll be curtains for me."

JOYCE FRESEMAN: Teacher of freshman and sophomore English; sponsor of Tri-Hi-Y, Sophie Hop, Debate Club, MARGARET HEYWOOD: Teacher of English literature, junior English sponsor of F.T.A., member of foreign exchange committee.

"What? Mr. Jones teaching history?" "No, but we do learn a lot of facts in our English class while learning to express ourselves better."

Class debates are one of the ways the juniors in Mr. Criddle's English class learn to express themselves and to think on their feet.

IDA HUBER: Teacher of sophomore English; sponsor of sophomore fall dance, member of faculty social committee.

"Watch for your cue. Don't get out of character; show a little reaction." So goes the rehearsal in Mrs. Buffington's dramatics class.

MARY REID: Teacher of junior English, advanced composition; sponsor of El Conejo.

JOAN SODERBACK: Teacher of sophomore and junior English; sponsor of Tri-Hi-Y, junior assembly.

"Here in the Readers' Guide you can find the reference you need." Oh, how familiar that is to juniors as they prepare to write their research papers.

VIRGINIA TAYLOR: Teacher English, senior grammar; sponsor of mother-daughter tea, Co-Ed, member of awards committee.

Optional Languages

"You can almost speak Russian as well as the Russians," remarked Mike as he and Jerry Smith hurried toward Old Main.

"It is going to take a great deal more practice and experience than I have had so far to accomplish that," answered Jerry. "It takes years of instruction to master a language."

"I've learned just how much effort it does take, thanks to my Spanish class this year," grinned Mike.

Jerry answered, "Yes, it takes intensive work. As the world draws closer and closer together, we must acquaint ourselves with the language of others. It's good we have an outstanding language department here."

"You've hit the nail right on the head, Jerry. Here's my Spanish class, so as they say in Dutch, 'sayonara'."

"The señoritas wear serapes and sombreros like that when they go to bull-fights?" "Well, the props add a little color to the Spanish class period, anyway."

"Now right here in Marseille is where are story is laid." We may not sound like native Frenchmen, but in Mr. Scholfield's class we talk in French."

GILBERT ORRANTIA: Head of foreign language department; teacher of Spanish, French; sponsor of Spanish Club.

WARREN SCHOFIELD: Teacher of Spanish, French; member of ticket and gate committee, sophomore class chairman.

RAY SHIPLEY: Teacher of Spanish; sponsor of Spanish Club, senior fall dance.

BARBARA SODERN: Teacher of German, Spanish; sponsor of Gold Key, water carnival.

About Our Country

"I saw a dramatic presentation of the Hatfield-McCoy feud on television last night. It reminded me of our class around election time last November." Greg stood chatting with Keith Marton in the cafeteria line.

Keith smiled. "It did get rather loud at times didn't it? The teacher knew when to stop it, though. I really did profit from those discussions."

"So did I. That's something I really like about Mesa High. You learn by discussing with your friends the various sides of the issues. The social studies department was especially helpful to me in this way. With a teacher's guidance and help, there was so much to be learned."

"Yes. After taking American problems, I can see why they are so concerned about the students they turn loose on the world," said Keith.

Greg laughed. "With good old Mesa High learning behind us, how can we miss?"

The way to learn to drive is to get behind the wheel of a real car. Both Mr. Branch and Mr. Spain agree on that.

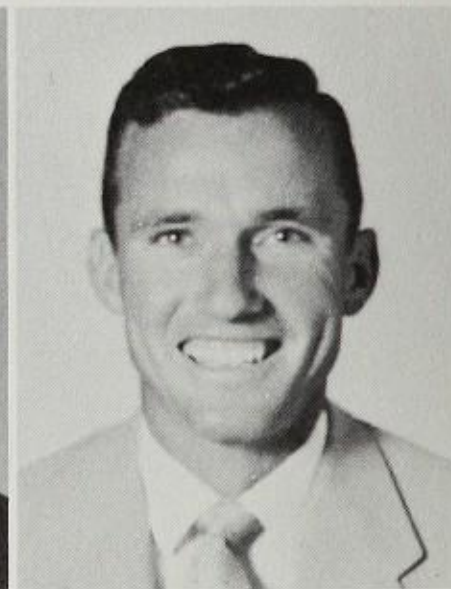

WARREN WELLS: Head of social studies department; teacher of American history, social studies; chairman of school clubs.

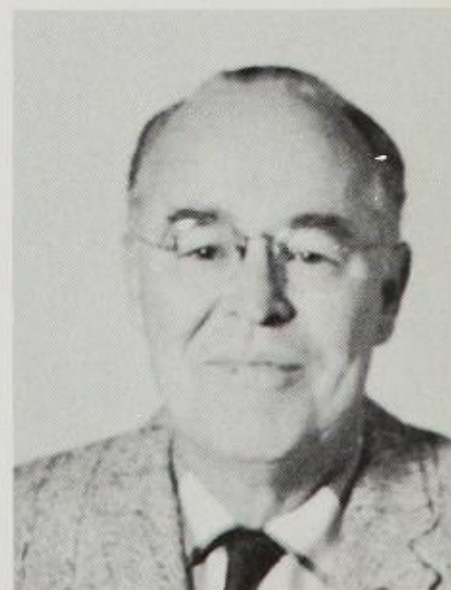

ARLAND BRANCH: Teacher of driver training, study hall; member of service council, ticket and gate committees.

CURTIS BROWN: Teacher of American history; sponsor of Junior Prom, member of auditorium committee.

SHELBY COPELAND: Teacher studies, sports; sponsor of Sophie Hop, water carnival.

FRANCIS FEENEY: Teacher of psychology audio visual; sponsor of senior fall party, chairman of professional growth committee.

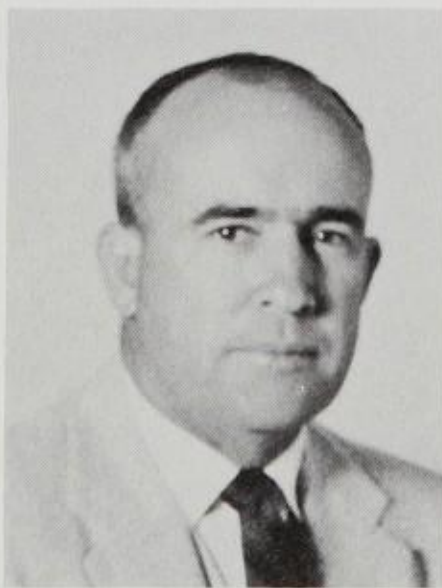

"The difference between the referendum and the initiative . . ."

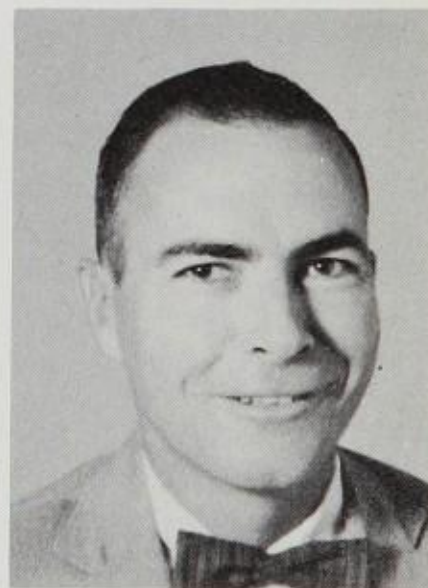

"Say, how did Alfred Newman get into American problems?"

BILL FITZGERALD: Teacher of social studies, coach of boys' tennis team; sponsor of All Campus Party,

HARRY GOODMAN: Teacher of social studies, junior varsity basketball coach.

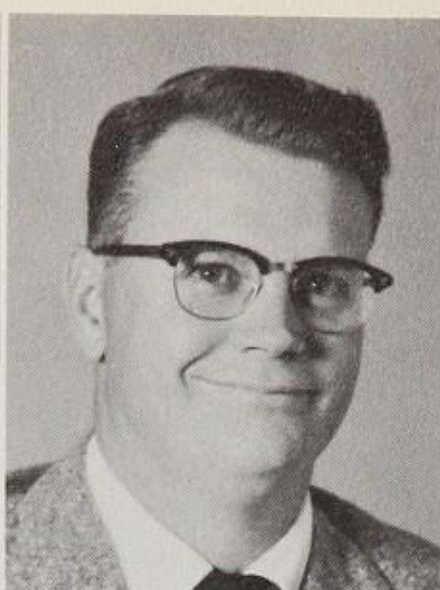

LARRY HATCH: Teacher of social studies, home and family; member of ticket and gate committee.

CARVAL JACKSON: Teacher of driver training, cross-country track team; member of service council committee.

MARION JENSEN: Teacher of American history, American problems; sponsor of senior fall party, Gah Tso Rally.

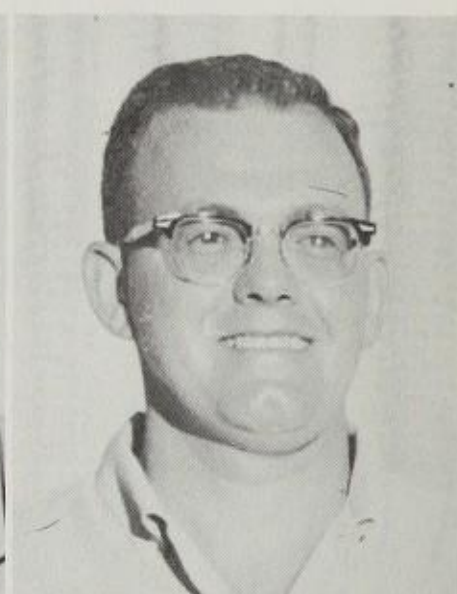

FRED KEYWORTH: Teacher of American problems, driver training; sponsor of Movie Club, senior day.

LARRY PACKARD: Teacher of American problems; sponsor of senior fall party, member of foreign exchange committee.

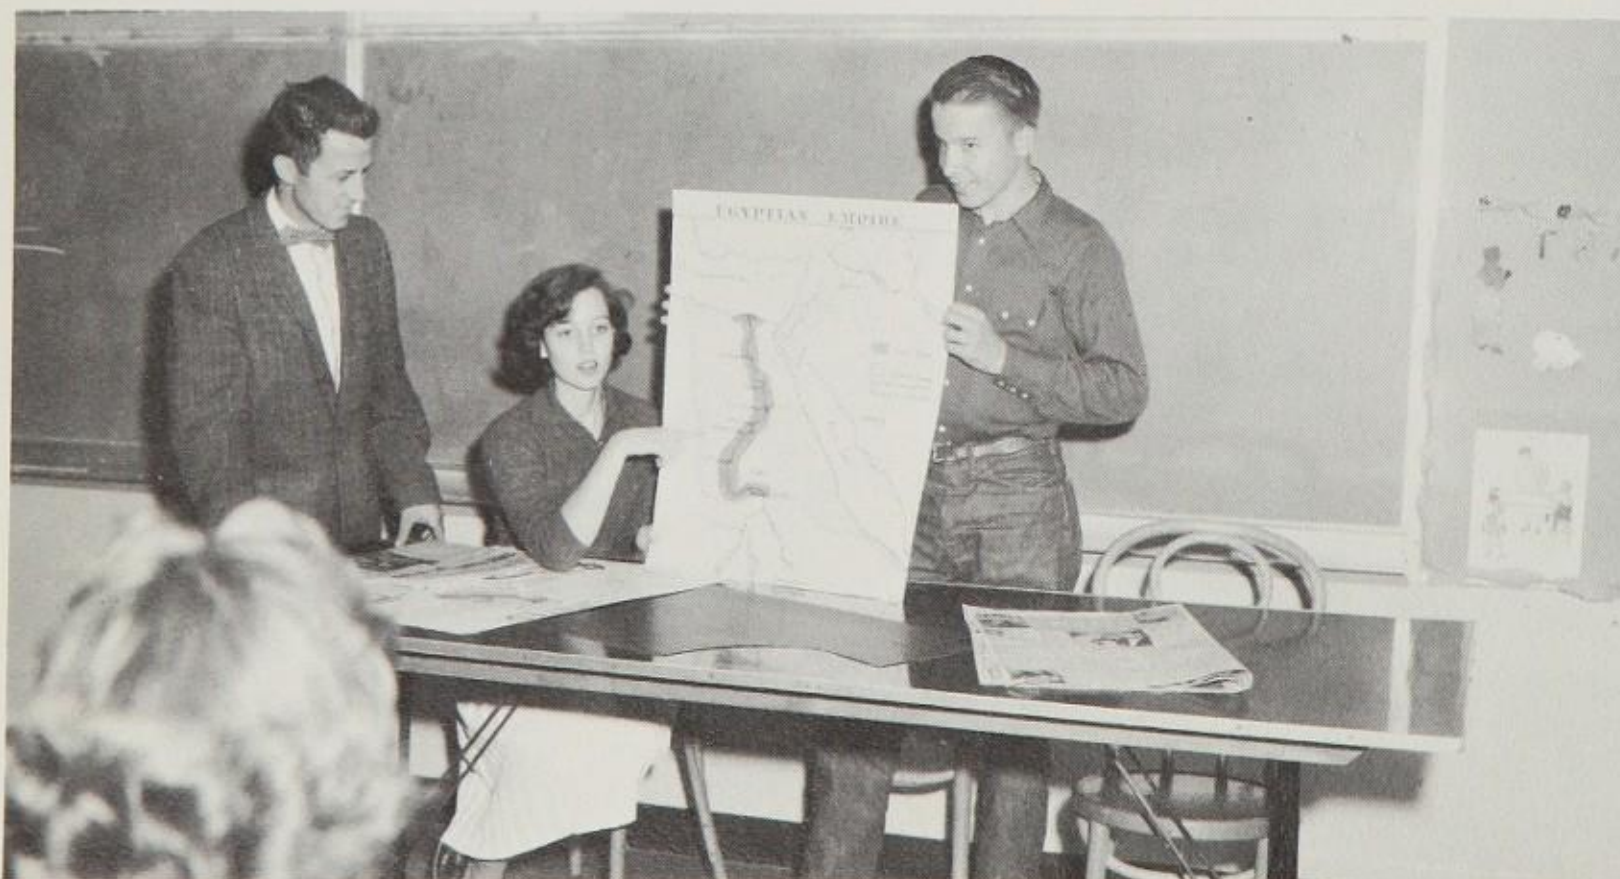

FRED PHELAN: Teacher of American history; sponsor of National Honor Society, member of auditorium committee.

HARRY PHILLIPS: Teacher of American problems, principles of arithmetic; sponsor of senior fall party.

"Here in the fertile lowlands the people . . ." But I think the young man is more interested in someone in the second row seat than in what his pardner is saying in this sophomore social studies class.

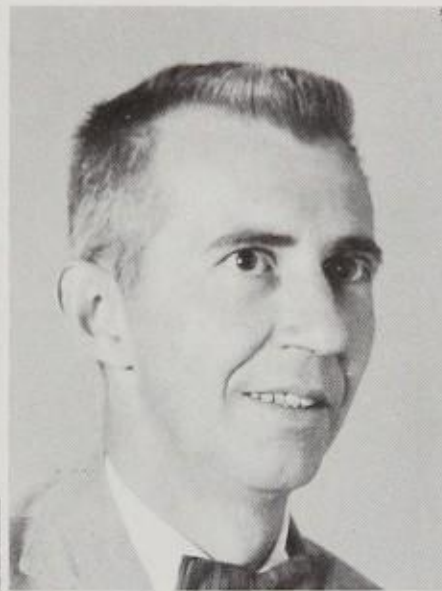

A quick look at her paper reassures this junior before she introduces the topic for today's discussion in Mr. Brown's American history class.

PAT POMEROY: Teacher of American problems, sports; sponsor of Hi-Y, chairman of senior class.

RALPH PRESRAW: Teacher of social studies; sponsor of sophomore fall party, Movie Club.

ROBERT REICHARD: Teacher of American history, home and family; sponsor of National Honor.

RALPH RUSSELL: Teacher of American history, American problems; chairman of junior class.

CLIFFORD SPAIN: Teacher of driver training, study hall; sponsor of service council, Movie Club.

BRUCE WHEELER: Teacher of psychology, American history; member of auditorium committee.

Speed Counts Here

"How was shorthand, today, Shari?" inquired Lynn Daker as she stopped at her locker.

"I'm still trying hard to take dictation at eighty words per minute. I haven't been able to do it yet, though."

"You'll find that if you work at it, you will eventually master it. No doubt you have already discovered the need for that solid basic training in the alphabet of shorthand."

"I certainly have. It takes a great deal of time to become fast and accurate. It's worth it, though," maintained Shari.

"Yes, and so are the rest of the commercial courses offered here at Mesa High. I can recommend any of them if you're planning to enter into the field of business."

"I know," said Shari. "Education is the door to success, and it seems like our teachers hand us the key."

KEITH CRANDELL: Head of commercial department; teacher of shorthand, business English; sponsor of All Campus Party.

Learning is made easier with the aid of the opaque projector in Mr. Nugent's commercial class.

Audio-visual aids are frequently used in most of the classes at Mesa High. Here Mr. Yarbrough uses a projector to make a point clear.

The course in the use of office machines is really valuable, but believe me, you had better pay attention to Mr. Alldredge when he is explaining anything.

MILES ALLDREDGE: Teacher of office machines, office practice, commercial law; member of ticket and gate committee.

JOAN GRIFFIN: Teacher of math, typing; member of auditorium committee, sponsor of Movie Club.

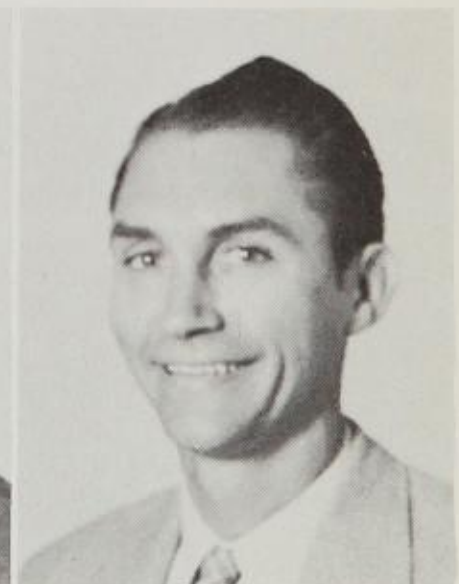

CLIFF NUGENT: Teacher of bookkeeping, commercial law; sponsor of Hi-Y senior day party, member ticket and gate committee.

MARY PARKINSON: Teacher of typing, business English, commercial law salesmanship; sponsor of Girls' League.

OWEN PORTER: Teacher of typing, economics; sponsor of Movie Club, member of auditorium committee.

LORAL YARBROUGH: Teacher of bookkeeping, typing; sponsor of All Campus Party, Christmas Formal.

Young Scientists Experiment

"Are you sick, Mike?" asked Leland DePriest as he approached a solemn Mike on the top floor of old main.

"No, I'm just trying to get into the right frame of mind for our biology lab next period. It takes courage to dissect a frog. I've got plenty of courage. Right now, I'm just trying to find it.

"Don't worry about it," claimed Leland assuredly. "I got through the whole year without a major mental collapse."

"Maybe when I'm a senior taking physics, I can be as sure of things as you are."

"There's always a chance, Mike. One thing is sure, though. If you are looking forward to a profitable career in the field of science, the teachers in the science department of Mesa High will do a superb job of giving you a good foundation."

"Thanks, Leland. You know, maybe I've been incorrectly informed about Seniors. Some of you are fairly intelligent."

"Now you notice that the light coming through . . ." Students have to know their stuff in Mr. Lillywhite's physics class.

CLETE MILLER: Head of science department; teacher of chemistry; member of foreign exchange committee.

"Easy now, take a hold of him right behind his head." "All right, I'm just a bit scared, but here goes." A live bull snake makes things interesting in the biology class.

HOWARD HERST: Teacher of biology; sponsor of sophomore hop, member of auditorium committee.

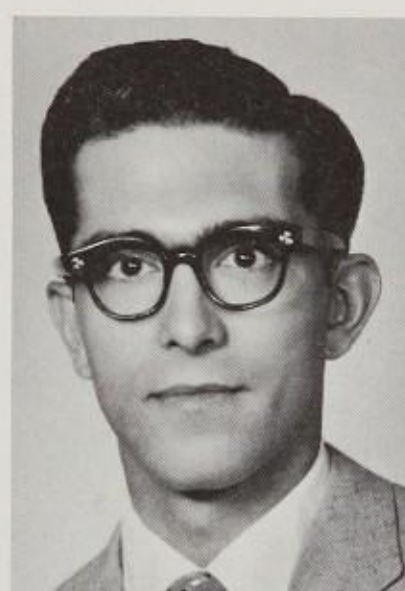

"If we could just do experiments every day, chemistry would be fun." "But you need to study the book to be able to do the experiments," pointed out Mrs. Glasco.

DOROTHY SHOUSE: Head of biology; teacher of biology; sponsor of sophomore hop, member of ticket and gate committee.

VERNER CLARK: Teacher of biology; sponsor of sophomore fall dance, member of stadium committee, faculty social committee.

AARON EPSTEIN: Teacher of chemistry; sponsor of Junior Prom, Science Club, Movie Club.

DEE HALL: Teacher of biology; chairman of sophomore fall dance, member of auditorium committee.

MARGARET GLASCO: Teacher of chemistry, first semester; sponsor Science Club, Movie Club.

RAYMOND JOHNSON: Teacher of biology; sponsor of Science Club, member of stadium committee.

DON LILLYWHITE: Teacher of physics; sponsor of science fair, senior fall party, member sports committee.

FRANK MOUNTS: Teacher of biology; sponsor of Science Club, sophomore fall dance.

Taught Us To Think

LEROY MILLER: Head of mathematics department; teacher of algebra, trigonometry, college math; sponsor of Strike and Spare Club, Chess Club.

WILLIE ASHBY: Teacher of algebra, business math; sponsor of Gah Tso Rally, sophomore hop, member of auditorium committee.

ELLA FRAZIER: Teacher of geometry; member of auditorium committee, faculty finance committee.

RALPH LEE: Teacher of geometry, algebra, trigonometry; sponsor of All Campus Party, Movie Club.

FORD SLAGHT: Teacher of geometry, algebra; member of faculty social, professional growth committees.

"Man, did you get that fourth problem, Terry? That was an eye opener."

"I'll tell you how it is, Greg. I was doing fine up through the two-plus-two-equal-four bit, then my mind just blanked out," Terry Cassady modestly answered.

"Oh sure, I can well believe that. It's a good thing we have had trigonometry this year. We'll sure need it for college."

"Just like this year when we had cause to be thankful for our previous training in algebra and geometry. We would have been lost without a sound background in the fundamentals."

"I guess some people are just lucky," said Greg. "Our math teachers here at Mesa High are top notch."

"They really make math live for you. As a matter of fact, I can't even eat a carrot anymore without calculating its diameter."

"But what do you do with the $4X + 2$, Mr. Ashby?"

Prepare For Future

Teddy Lou Power handed a dish towel to Shari Wynters. "The steak dinner was really good," remarked Teddy Lou.

"I thought so, too. One year of homemaking does wonders for a girl who likes to cook."

"Yes, and think how much more the girls who take home ec. every year learn about cooking and sewing."

"I'll remember those words twenty years from now as I stand over a hot stove trying to throw a meal together for the millionth time."

"But by that time we will be so good that our families won't have to eat our mistakes like we do now."

"Real, live kiddies?" "You bet. In the child guidance class we really learn by doing."

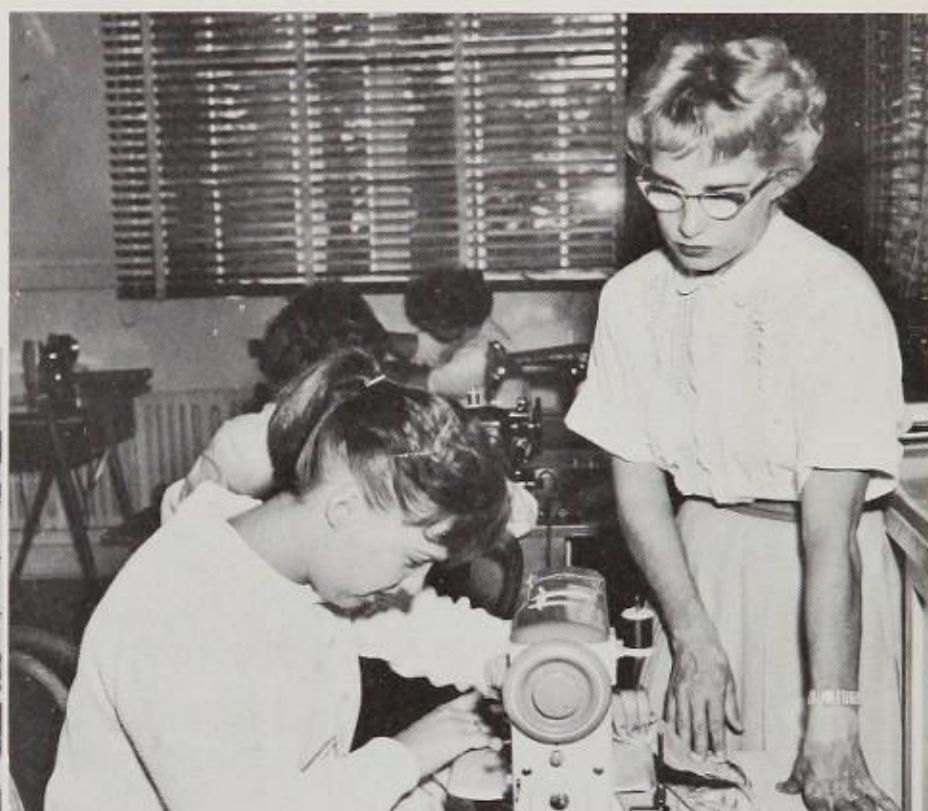

"Um-m. What's cooking?" "You just wait and see. Get that table set and the treat will be coming right up." Mrs. Nancy Mast, foods teacher, will reserve judgment until later.

JANE O'NEALL: Head of homemaking department; teacher of clothing; sponsor of Mother-Daughter Tea, F.H.A.

RUTH DIEGEL: Teacher of home furnishing, foods, clothing; sponsor Mother-Daughter Tea, member of faculty social committee.

"If I can just keep this seam straight, I may pull a one out of this clothing class yet."

NANCY MAST: Teacher of foods, senior homemaking; sponsor of Girls' League, F.H.A.

ROSA POLING: Teacher of child guidance, foods; sponsor F.H.A., all girls' party.

Keeping Physically Fit

"What a day! After taking that test, I'm so tired, the world could fall out from under me and I'm afraid I wouldn't know the difference," sighed Shari.

Jannar Sprattly laughed at the picture of exhaustion Shari created. "The girls are in better physical shape now according to the physical fitness tests, though. It's having been in P.E. every day that's done it. Not only are the sports in which we participate fun and interesting, they also help us keep trim."

"Thank goodness for that. Miss Entz is calling us. I suppose I'll have to be brave and find out what my rating was on the 50-yard dash. Oh well, over the summer vacation I can always watch Jack LaLanne and come back a girl athlete."

"Dick Allred, you and I . . . well, you understand my problems. We have a lot in common, you know. About five feet five and four inches in common to be exact. Still, with that wicked tennis arm you have, I guess I can't expect you to understand all my troubles," exclaimed Mike.

"Stop, you are breaking my heart. You touch me deeply, you know, but maybe we can forget our troubles with a fast game of tennis."

"The tennis team is nothing but great this year, Dick. I just hope when I'm on it, if I'm on it, it will be two-thirds as great."

"With practice, patience and our coaches here at the gym, you'll make it. Who knows? You may even take the ping-pong tournament."

MARJORIE ENTZ: Head of physical education department; teacher of physical education; director of Rab-bettes; sponsor of G.A.A.

BARBARA DAVIS: Teacher of physical education, girls' tennis coach; sponsor of sophomore assembly and fall dance.

MARGARET MILLETT: Teacher of Orchesis, dancing; sponsor of Dance Club, junior assembly, member assembly steering committee.

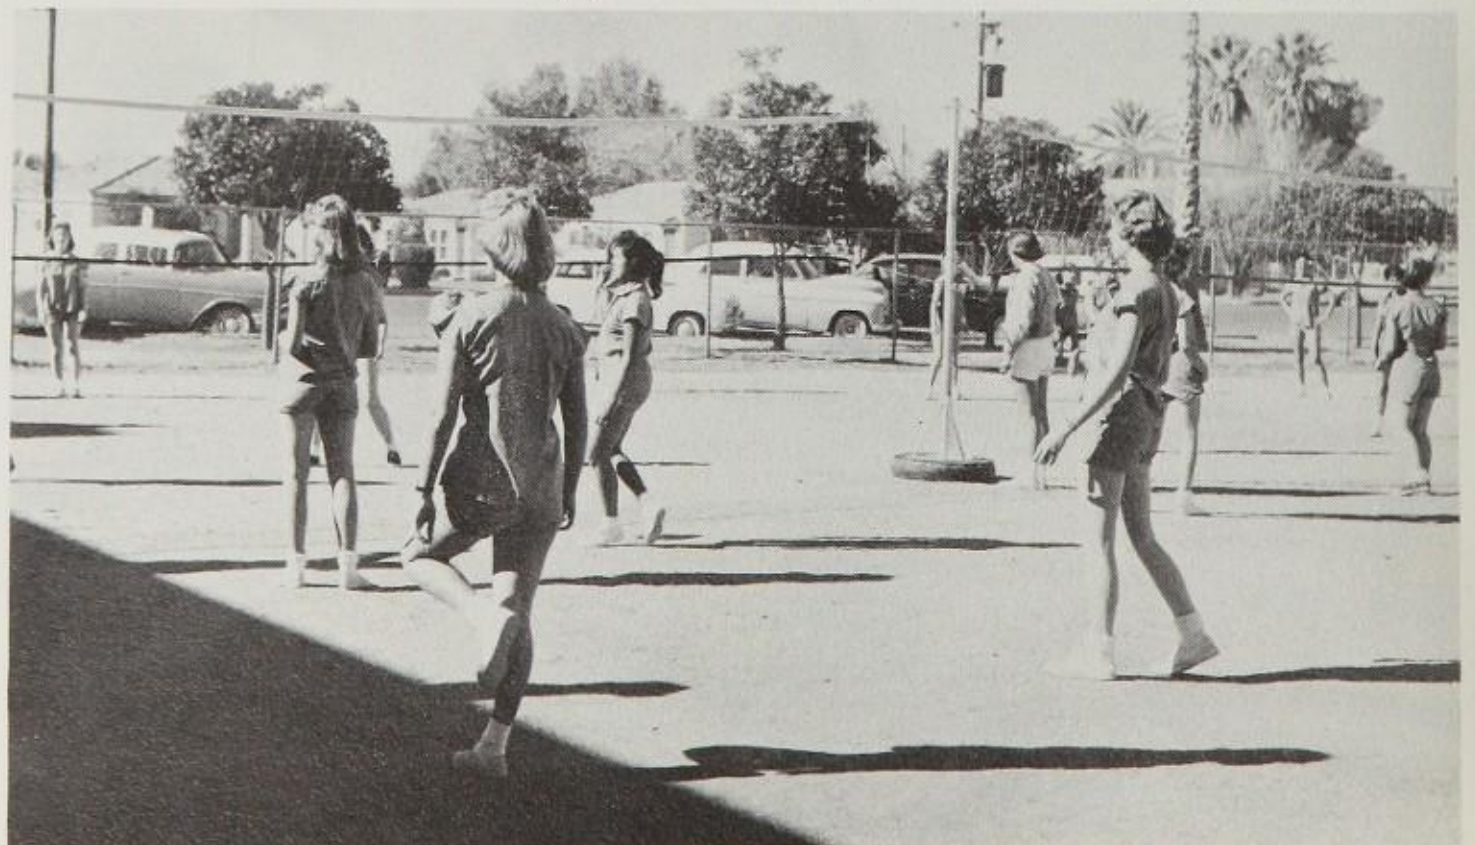

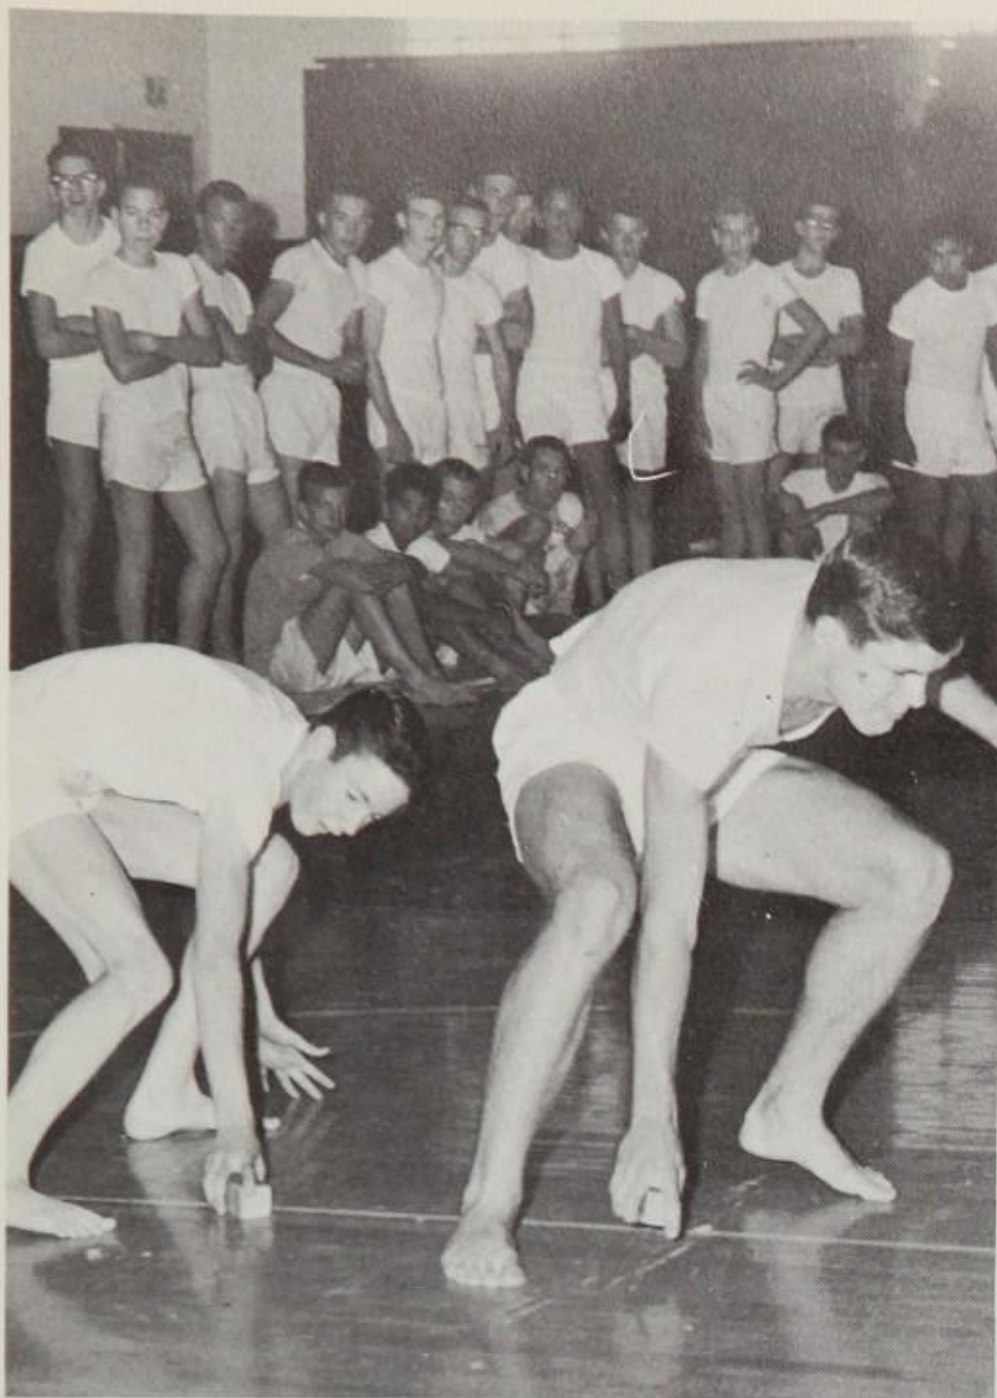

JEAN SHIELDS: Teacher of physical education, tennis; sponsor of Girls' League, all girls party, Co-Ed, Mother-Daughter Tea.

The girls of Miss Shields' class enjoy the warm January sunshine while playing volleyball.

MARY WRIGHT: Teacher of physical education; director of Bunnies, cheer leaders; sponsor of Gold Key member auditorium committee.

Pick up that block and scoot back," urged Coach Heath of two P.E. boys; "I'm holding the watch on you."

REED PETERSON: Head of physical education department; teacher of physical education, adaptive physical education, assistant football coach

EDGAR FORD: Athletic director, foot ball coach.

DAVID GATES: Teacher of physical education, assistant football coach; sponsor of Sophie Hop.

CARL HEATH: Teacher of physical education, basketball coach; sponsor of Key Club, Gah Tso Rally.

"One, two, one, two. Get those arms up. Lively now. One, two, one, two." Calisthenics starts off the P.E. period during the physical fitness tests.

WILBERT KOSKI: Teacher of physical education, gymnastics, wrestling coach; sponsor of senior day party.

With Our Hands

"I say, Harlow, old chap, that is an interesting design you've made." Mike examined Harlow Brown's design intently. "Do you think that they would let me take arts and crafts?"

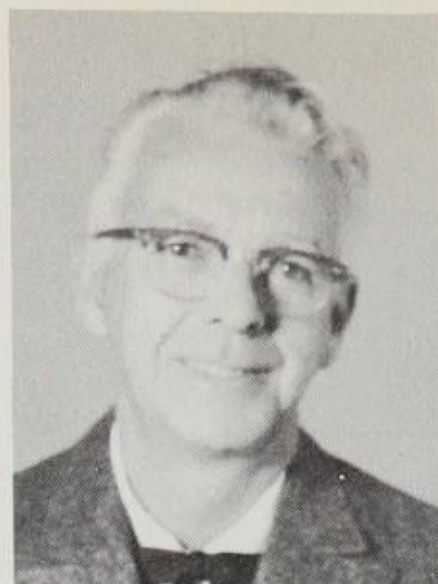

Smiling, Harlow said, "You have a pretty good chance. I know you have an imagination. That's what you need, plus a good-sized amount of effort and guidance. You'll get the guidance in class. Actually the main thing you have to do is try."

"You make it sound so easy. Not that I would have any trouble, you see, but I tried to draw a picture of one of my girl friends once. She hasn't talked to me since."

"Maybe you had better take art, too. They will help you in that department. Maybe she'll give you another chance."

"Probably not. Everytime I see her she looks more like the picture I drew."

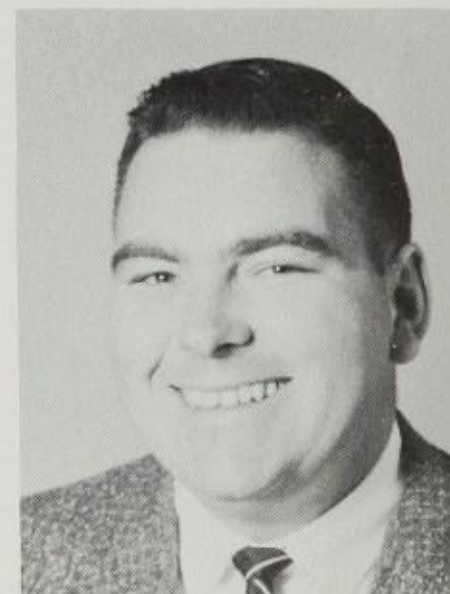

"That's a really nifty bowl! I wonder if I could talk him out of it." "Not a chance," smiled Mr. Cummins as he, too, admired the work done in his crafts class.

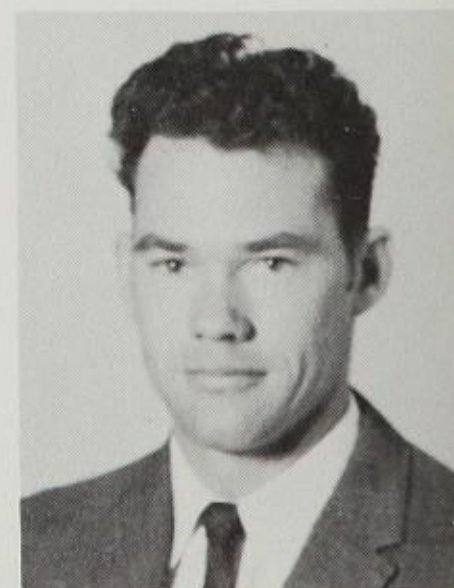

GRIFFIN STEPHENSON:
Head of arts and crafts department; teacher of arts; sponsor of Brush and Palette Club.

WILLIAM CUMMINS:
Teacher of crafts; sponsor of Christmas formal.

KENNETH THOMPSON:
Teacher of crafts; advanced crafts; sponsor All Campus Party, Co-Ed, Movie Club.

LOREN WILLIS: Teacher of art, crafts; sponsor of Gah Tso Rally, Key Club.

We Learn A Trade

LEO GARDNER: Head of industrial arts department; teacher of cabinet making, architectural drawing, metal shop; sponsor Boys' League.

RICHARD CAMPUS: Teacher of auto and shop mechanics.

"Hey, Pepera!" Mike called as Mike Pepera came toward him. "What do you think my chances of getting into electronics would be?"

"You'll have to decide that, Mike. It is really a good class. Being new this year, it also has a great potential for growth."

"It's considered as part of the whole industrial arts department, isn't it?"

"Yes, along with auto mechanics, wood and metal shops, shop mechanics, and mechanical drawings—we more or less dominate this part of the campus."

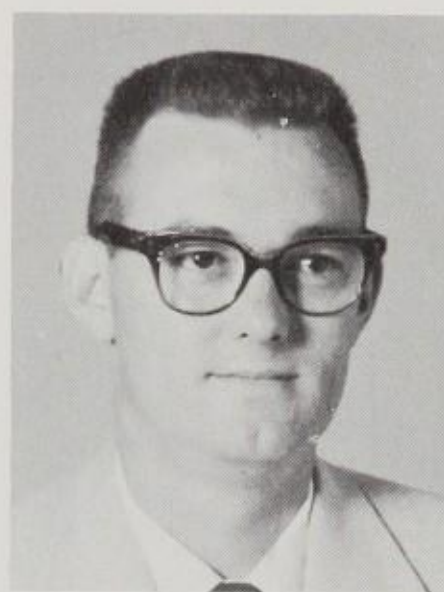

"From what I've heard, it's a worth while course. I need to take it. One night I was reading Greg Garwood's textbook. I was so enthusiastic, I tore my radio apart. Now, in order to fix it again, I'll have to take at least two years of electronics."

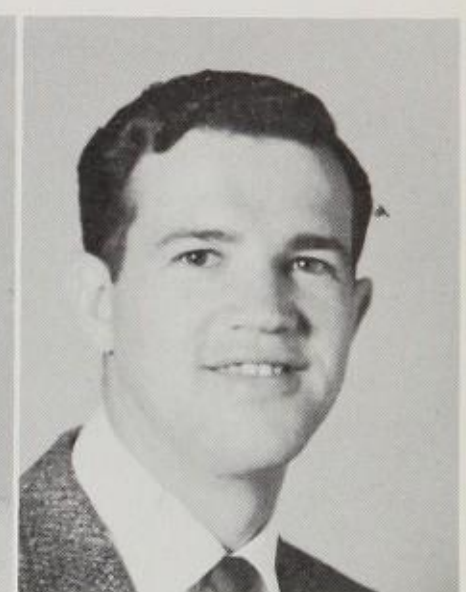

SETH SWANN: Teacher of drafting; sponsor of Boys' League, Christmas Formal, Rifle Club.

MAX SCHLARBAUM: Teacher of cabinet making, woodworking, sponsor of Boys' League, Christmas Formal, SHELDON WHITE: Teacher of electronics, shop mechanics, sponsor of Electronics Club, Christmas Formal.

LAMAR WRIGHT: Teacher of auto and shop mechanics; sponsor of junior fall dance, member of stadium committee.

Mr. White helps Mike Pepera check some new equipment for the electronics class while other students are busy repairing a super-hetrodyne receiver.

Reading and Listening for Enjoyment

"Can you check this book out for me, Keith?" inquired Mike.

"Sure thing," answered Keith Barton. "May I ask what you want with a book entitled Just An Inch Taller?"

"As if you or anyone with normal intelligence couldn't tell. Why just last night my mother mentioned elevator shoes."

Keith laughed. "You have checked a lot of good books out this year. You must like to read. Did you enjoy the books?"

"I really did. The thing that surprised me was that some of the very best books were from shelves besides fiction."

"That's why we have libraries. So you can know about many and varied types of items."

"Thanks. As soon as I learn how to count past five hundred I can take full advantage of our library."

"Just think, Susann, tonight's the very last time the band will play together for the public," said Greg.

Susann Jarvis finished putting her clarinet into its case before she answered. "I think the music at Mesa High will be one of things I'll miss most when I leave."

"Being part of the band and orchestra has been wonderful, hasn't it? Giving concerts, going to out-of-town games, and participation in the state fair hold memories I'll never forget."

"Yes, and it isn't just the band that brings honor to Mesa High in the music field. The choruses and A Cappella were only top quality. The operetta 'Annie Get Your Gun', was a great music achievement and a big success."

Greg smiled. "You can say that again. I like the way Walt Whitman put it. 'I hear America go singing to her destiny'."

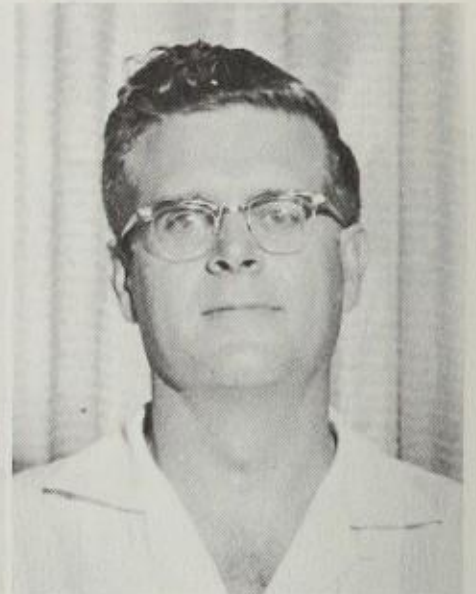

HELEN MOFFAT: Librarian; sponsor of Movie Club, Library Club; member of faculty finance committee.

MABLE MACDONALD: Assistant librarian.

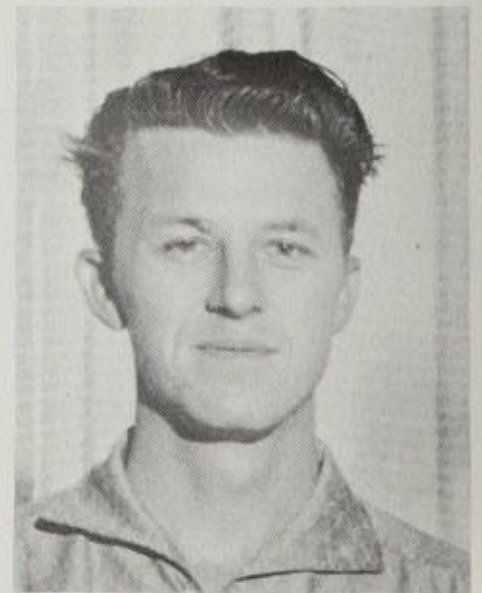

LINWOOD NOBLE: Head of music department; teacher of band, orchestra, music harmony and theory; sponsor of Swing Club.

JAMES HENDRICKS: Teacher of A Cappella, boys' chorus, mixed chorus; member of assembly steering committee.

The Mesa High Band is pictured as they played at the Whitlow Ranch Dam Dedication.

JOHN HOLLINGSHEAD: Teacher of girls' chorus, social studies; sponsor of senior fall party, senior assembly, member of auditorium committee.

Future Ranchers

"It's a good thing that I learned something in ag this year, because our semester exam was a whopper!" Greg stated as he stood talking to Fred Conway.

"You can say that again," agreed Fred. As Greg then opened his mouth to repeat the statement, Fred laughed. "No, please don't."

"It seems though, Fred, that ag would have been a snap for you."

"Flattery will get you nowhere. Really there is always new knowledge to learn about every subject—ag included."

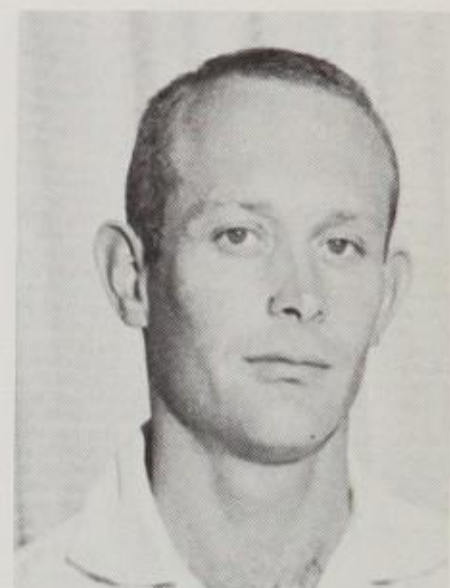

"I know, Fred. With the modern methods of ranching and farming, we must constantly keep learning new things. The problem is that I am just now learning how to be a successful farmer in the year 1900."

H. B. GRAY: Head of agriculture department; teacher of agriculture; sponsor of F.F.A., member of ticket and gate committee.

RANDAL HATCH: Teacher of agriculture, farm supervision; sponsor of F.F.A., member of ticket and gate committee.

LEO PETERSON: Teacher of agriculture; sponsor of F.F.A., water carnival, member ticket and gate committee.

Welding is an important part of Vocational Agriculture. Three boys weld a trailer during class.

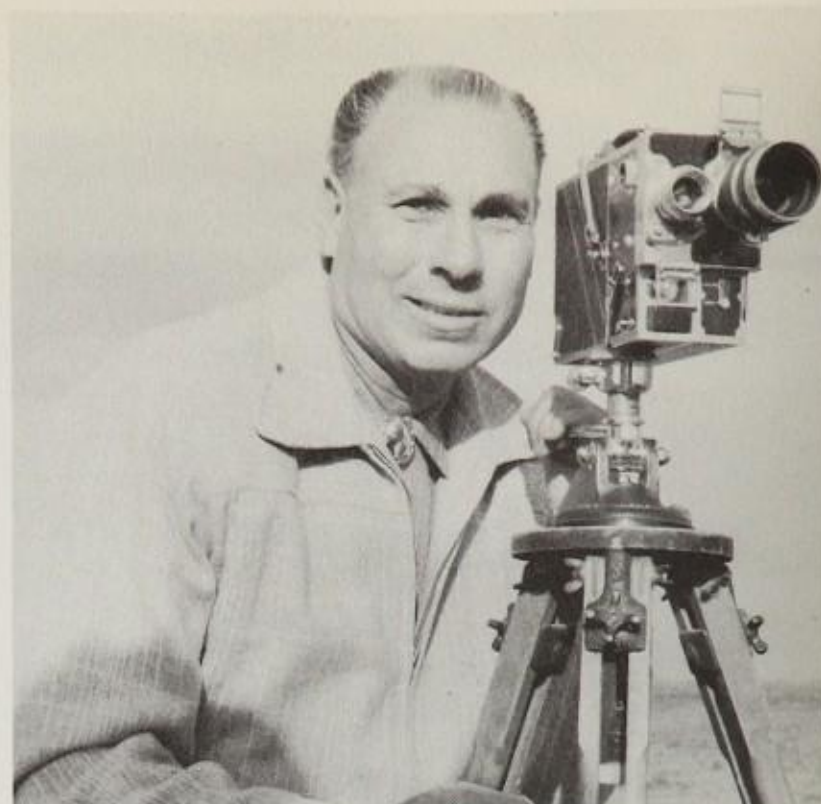

Many Work For Us

Shari and Jackie Freestone walked out of Mickey's room and up the stairs. "I'm glad we finally got those picture requisitions to Mickey," sighed Jackie.

"Our annual and newspaper would not be very interesting without pictures. Our pictures wouldn't be as nice, either, without Mickey to take them."

"I know. These particular pictures were to be of Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Pultz, who help out at the gym."

"You know, I've never stopped to think how many people work at the High School that help us and to make school more enjoyable. Not many of us do, but we sure would if we had to do without them."

We Are Served By These Workers

Mike and Jared Huish bumped into each other in the hall.

"Hey, Jared," Mike asked, "have you seen Marvin? I need the keys to the auditorium."

"No, I haven't," answered Jared. "He is probably helping someone else in distress right now."

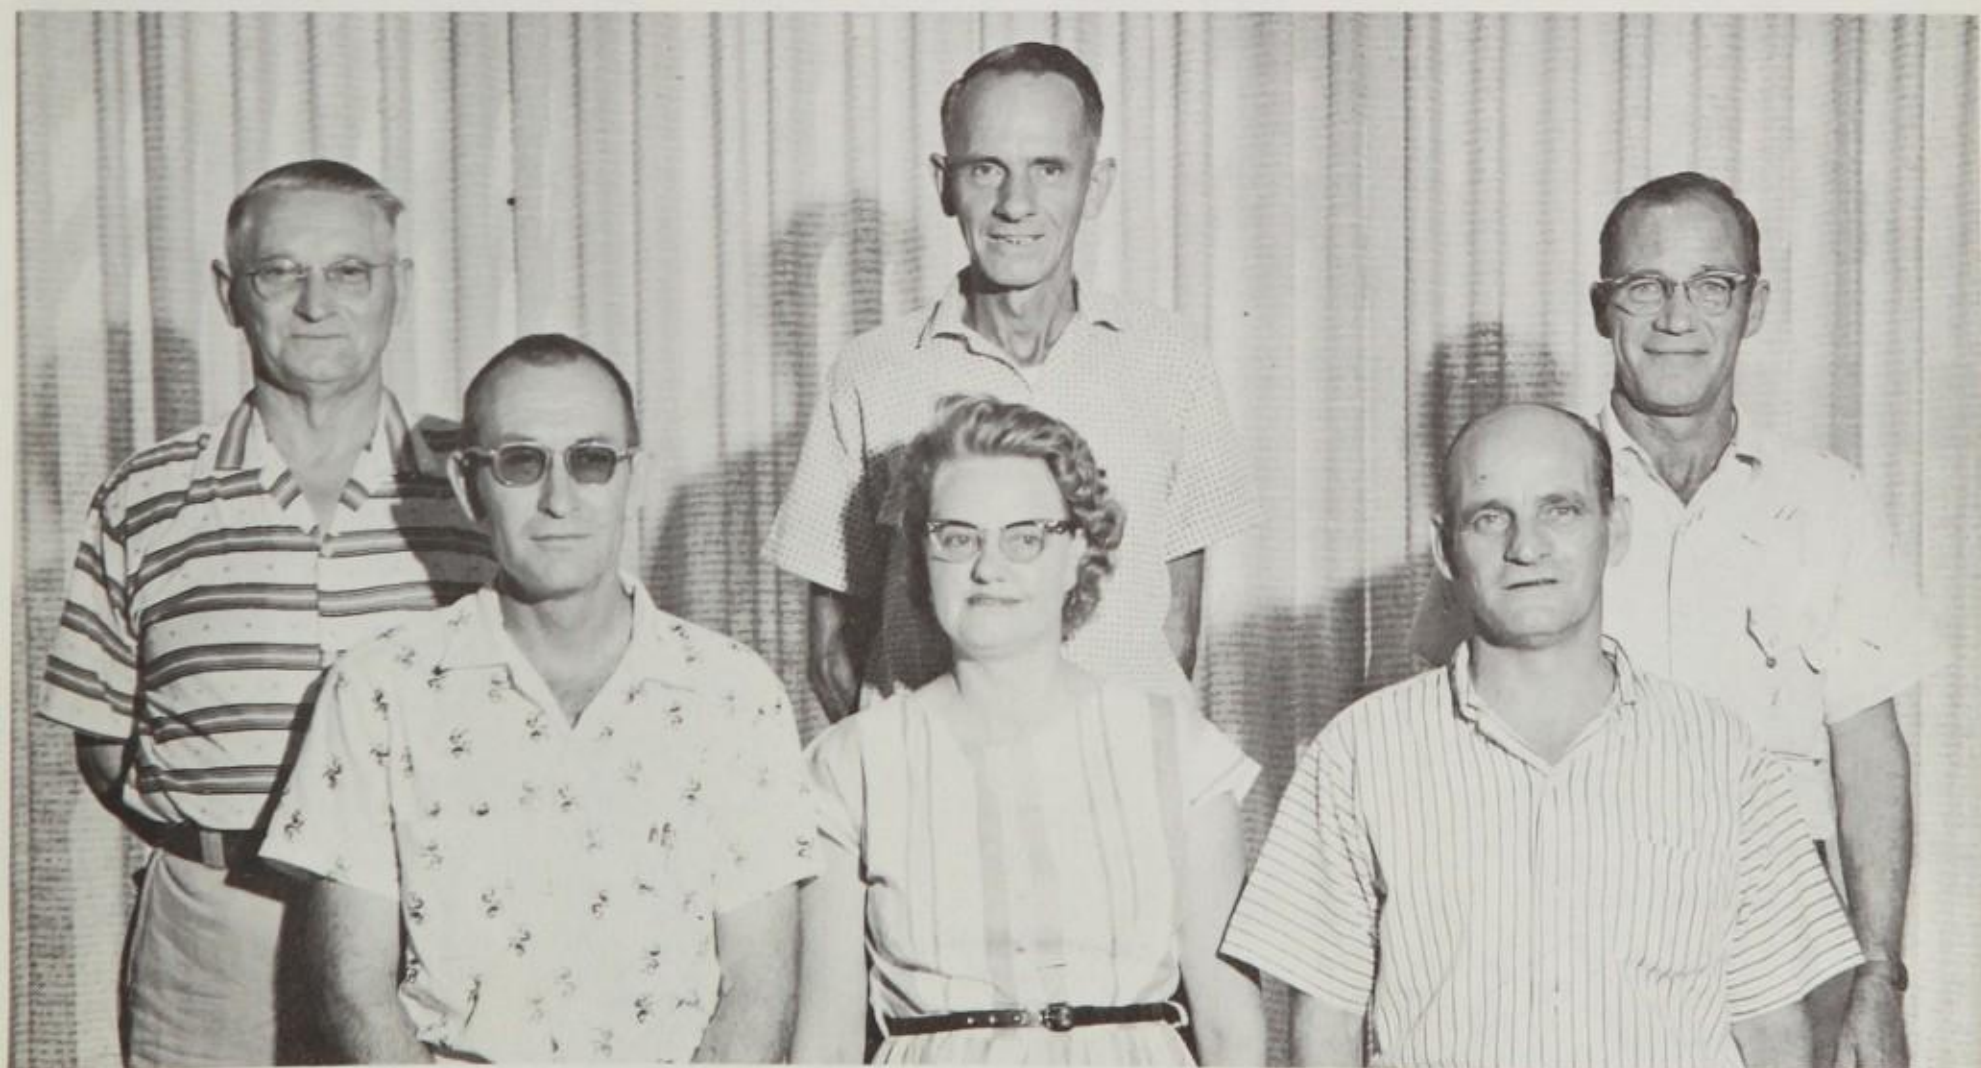

"I can't imagine what this school would do without him," Mike said, "or any of the other people who help out around school."

"That's for sure," agreed Jared. "We can credit the clean rooms and halls to the janitors. The gardeners do such a good job of making our campus look so sharp. And the cafeteria workers see that we have a hot, nourishing meal during each grueling school day."

"Yeah, and it's a hard life, this grueling schooling," grinned Mike as he continued down the hall.

Students

Shari and Mike Wynters walked down the stairs and through the archway as they hurried toward their lockers.

"Well, Mike, it looks like our first year at Mesa High is about over," smiled Shari at her short, freckled-faced brother. "How has it been for you?"

"The most, sister dear, the most." Mike cocked his crew cut head to one side as a mischievous grin spread over his face. "The kids here are the sharpest, especially one tall, dark, and handsome senior named Greg Garwood. Right, Shari?"

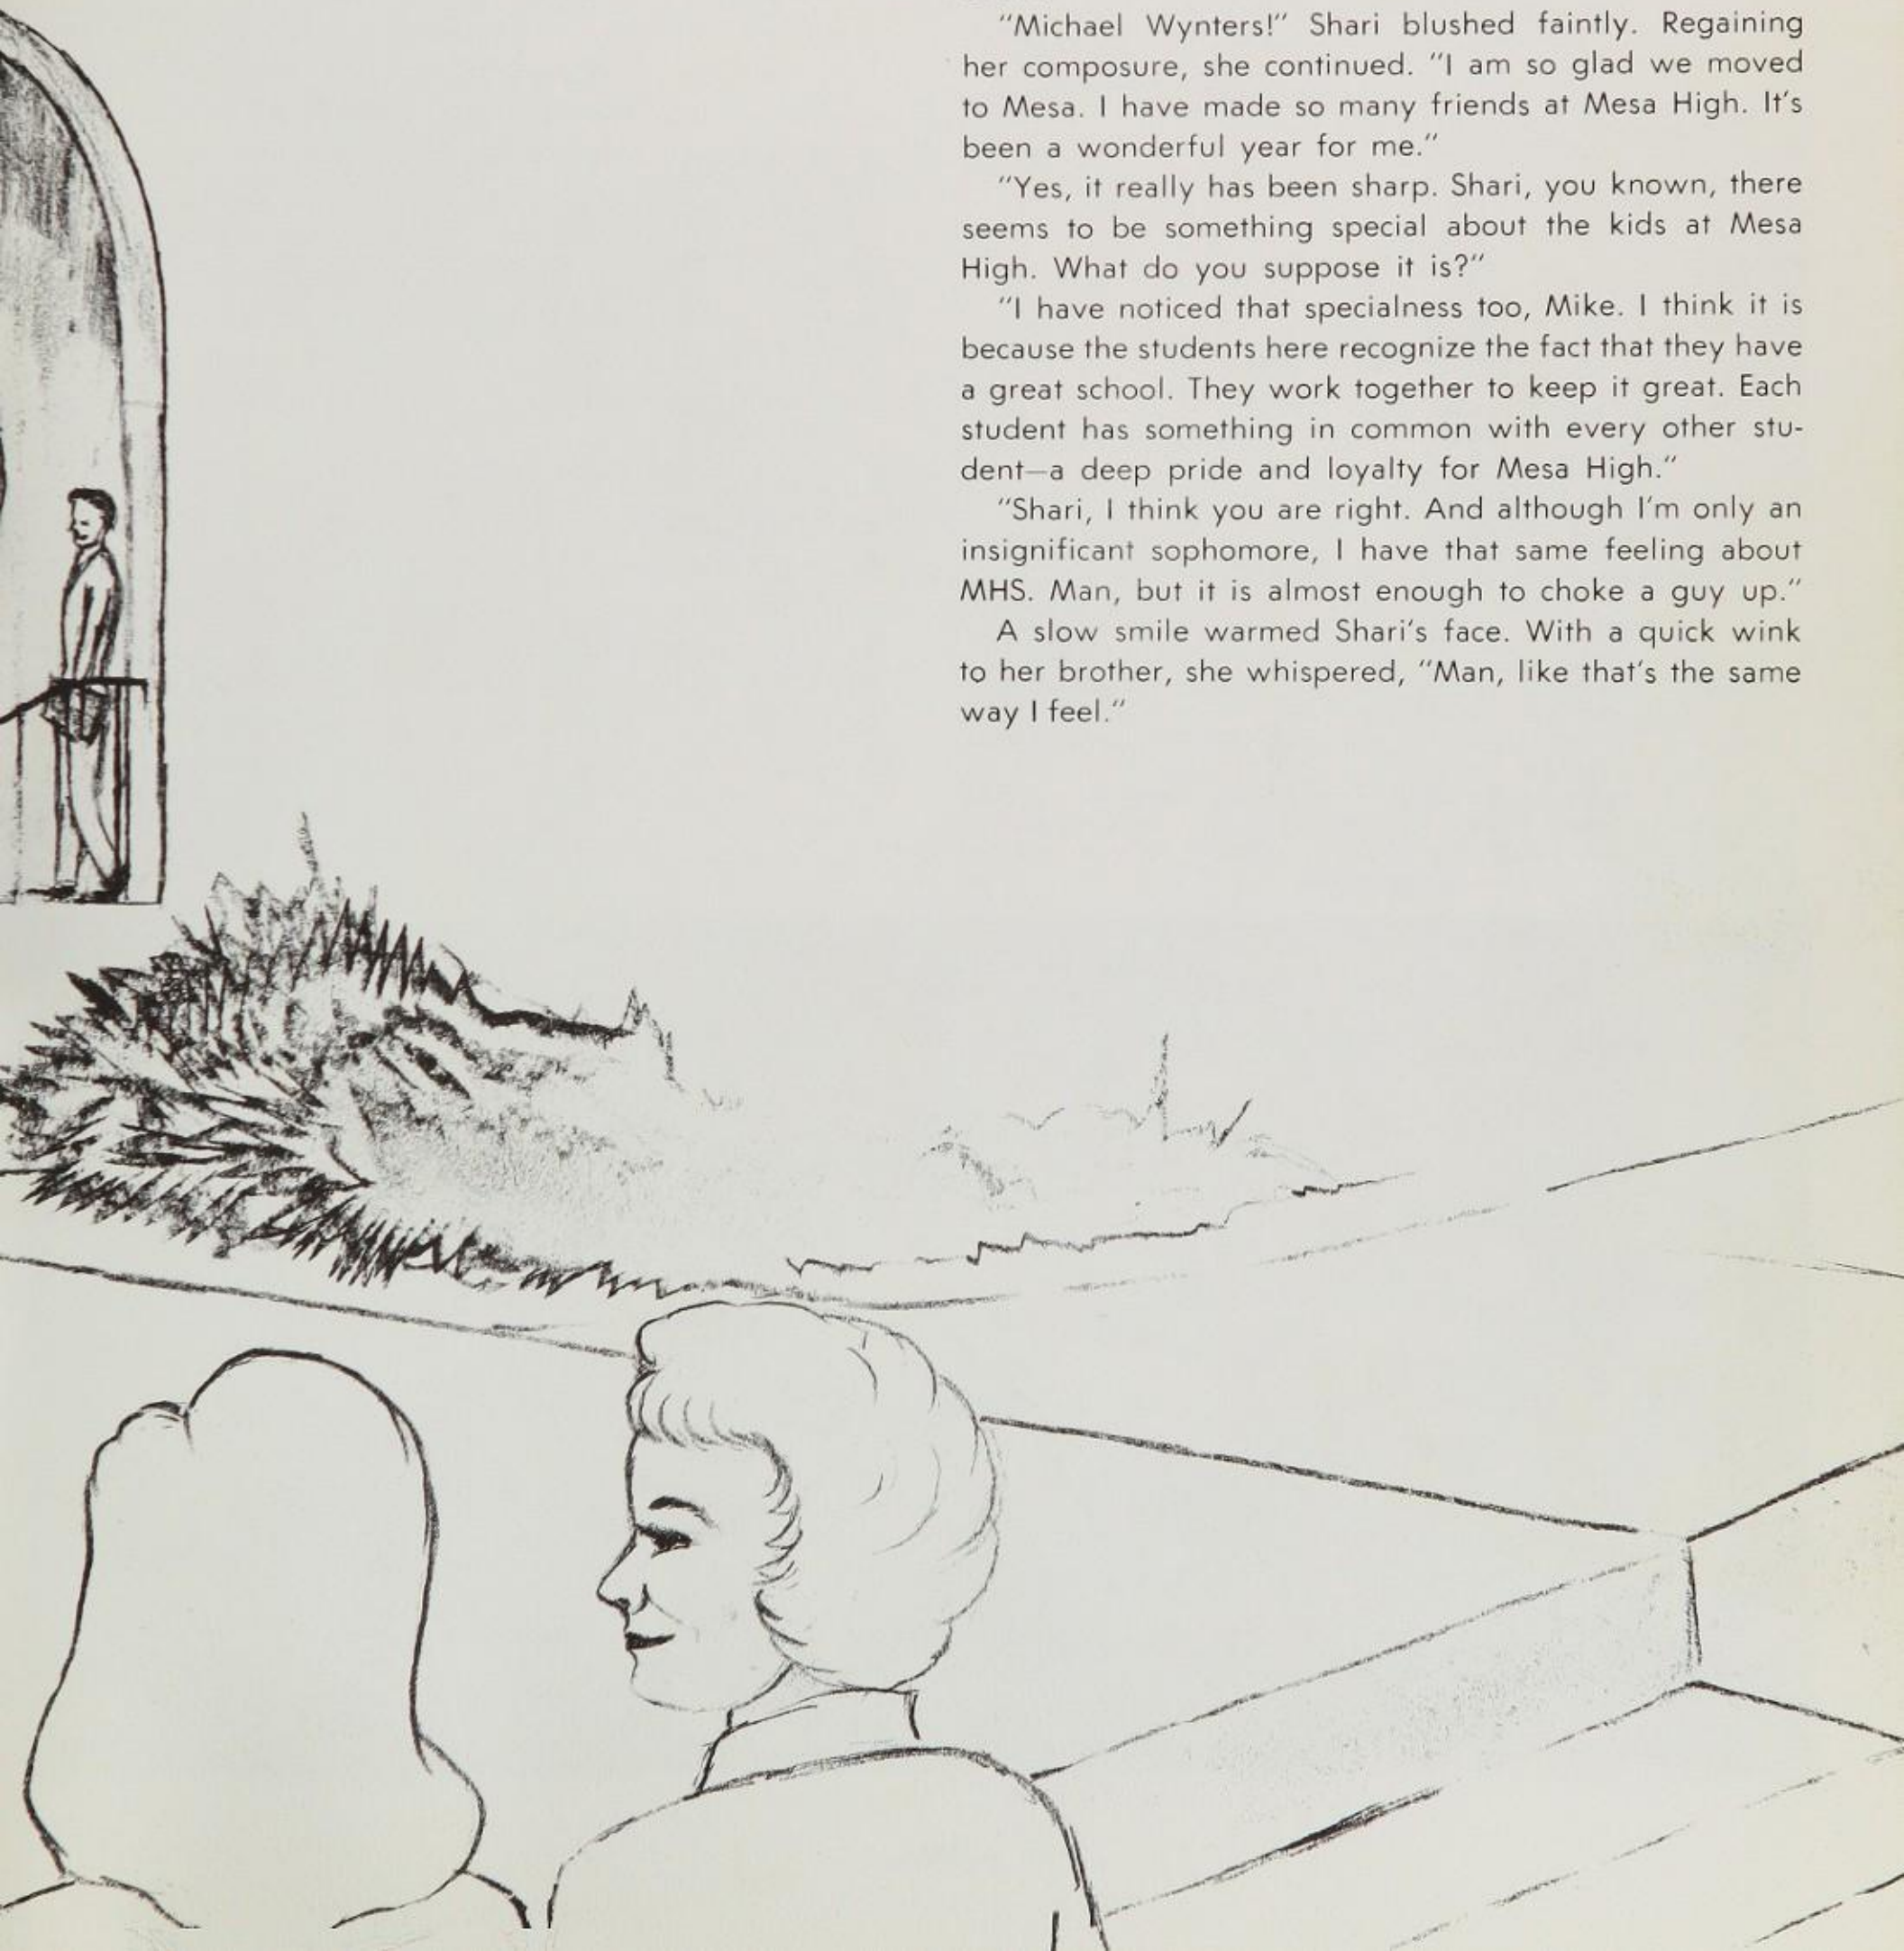

"Michael Wynters!" Shari blushed faintly. Regaining her composure, she continued. "I am so glad we moved to Mesa. I have made so many friends at Mesa High. It's been a wonderful year for me."

"Yes, it really has been sharp. Shari, you know, there seems to be something special about the kids at Mesa High. What do you suppose it is?"

"I have noticed that specialness too, Mike. I think it is because the students here recognize the fact that they have a great school. They work together to keep it great. Each student has something in common with every other student—a deep pride and loyalty for Mesa High."

"Shari, I think you are right. And although I'm only an insignificant sophomore, I have that same feeling about MHS. Man, but it is almost enough to choke a guy up."

A slow smile warmed Shari's face. With a quick wink to her brother, she whispered, "Man, like that's the same way I feel."

"Dennis, it just doesn't seem possible that graduation is so close. Boy, this year has really flown by."

"I know what you mean Greg. I remember so well the night we won the Gah-Tso Rally in October. Now we're already getting our caps and gowns. Graduation will be here before we know it."

Dennis Chapman and Greg Garwood stood in the aisle of the auditorium, already empty of the seniors who had assembled to receive their caps and gowns.

"Remember the fun we had at the Senior Days at Arizona State University and University of Arizona? Then there was the championship football game we played against Yuma and won. And I don't think I will ever forget the day we posed before the Hollywood movie cameras."

"Yes, those were times to remember, Greg. But we seniors will also remember always the traditional events we attended for the last time this year, such as the Christmas formal, the Gah-Tso Rally, the all-school plays, the Co-Ed and the Farewell Assembly, as well as a host of others."

"The class of 1961 has upheld the traditions and high ideals that have been established by the fifty-eight classes that have graduated before us," reflected Greg. "Every class that has gone before worked to make Mesa High the great institution it now is. Their voices echo with ours as we say to those we leave behind, 'work to keep our school great — it is now up to you. Carry On, Mesa High, Carry On.'"

This Was Our In Between Year

Shari Wynters entered Mr. Russell's room for the last junior council meeting of the year. Having arrived early, she sat down and allowed her thoughts to wander to events of the past year.

"Hi, Shari." Bob Burns walked into the room, pulled up a chair, and sat down beside her. "Daydreaming?"

"Yes," she laughed, "I guess that is what I'm doing. But I just can't help thinking of the wonderful times we have had on the council this year."

"Do you remember, Bob, how hard we worked on the bunny for our float?" She continued, "Then, there was the junior assembly—what a ball we had! Of course, the highlight of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, which we have in honor of the seniors."

"Yes, it's been quite a year," answered Bob. "But we can't forget about one of the junior classes's special projects, the student directory. I had names and addresses spinning through my head for weeks."

"If I know you, Bob, the addresses and phone numbers of the girls spun around the longest."

"Take it easy. I do blush, you know," grinned Bob. "No kidding, Shari, it's been a great year—a year that we will always remember and year that I will need three months to recuperate from."

We Are Climbing The Stairway To Success

"The Class of 1963 is pretty lucky to be the first sophomore class to have a class council," remarked Scott Deitz as he and Mike walked to social studies.

"Yes, we are, but my ego is still crushed because I wasn't chosen as council representative from our class. The girls didn't vote for me because I'm not tall, dark and handsome."

"Oh, is that the reason," laughed Scott. "However, you shouldn't feel too crushed, Mike. You did help decorate the sophie float, and you swam in the Water Carnival for us."

"I also won a race against the seniors and juniors at the All Campus Party. But at the Sophomore Party I danced the hours away looking up into the beautiful eyes of a dozen girls."

"Be brave," replied Scott. "You'll grow."

"Yeah, I know. People have been telling me that for years. Of course, if it weren't for my height, I wouldn't have gotten that part in the sophie assembly."

"Didn't we have a blast putting that on? We've had fun working on all of our projects this year."

"We certainly have," replied Mike, "and the sharp thing about it is that we have two more years yet. Next year, though, I think I will study a little more. My father nearly tore his hair out, and mine, too, when he saw my last report card. And, man, without my hair I'd be a measly five foot, three inches."

Clubs and Organizations

Greg and Shari stood talking in the downstairs locker area after sixth period.

Reaching into his locker for his American problems book, Greg asked, "Have you got a club meeting now, Shari?"

"Yes, National Honor Society is meeting tonight for the last time," Shari answered. "My club activities have been such fun this year, though, I rather hate to attend these last meetings."

"I know just what you mean. I've really enjoyed my membership in clubs this year. They offer a welcome break from the daily routine of school and homework."

"That's for sure," Shari agreed, "and it seems like there is an organization on campus for every person, no matter what his interests. Some clubs at Mesa High are established for students who are interested in a certain vocation. Then there are the honor clubs, the service clubs, and the clubs established simply for pleasure."

"Don't forget about band, orchestra, and A Cappella, Shari. They are vital organizations that really help contribute to our enjoyment of school."

"We can't forget to mention the Rabbettes, cheerleaders, Bunnies or Orchesis. And of course the publications staffs are indispensable. Why, I never realized how basic and vital these organizations are to our school," added Shari.

Besides their many other advantages, clubs and organizations also offer opportunities to meet new friends," said Greg. "Hey, Shari—didn't I meet you at a club meeting at the first of the year?"

"Yes," Shari answered.

"Ah, those clubs are a good thing—a very good thing," said Greg as he began walking Shari to a National Honor meeting.

The Hardest Workers

Glenna Ong and Mike were leaving school with their 1961 Superstitions in their arms.

"I've been thinking," said Mike, "you really had a full year of heavy responsibilities as editor of this book, didn't you?"

"I admit I had some terribly trying times when threatened to quietly walk from the journalism cottage for good. When I look back at the year and all the things we accomplished, and all the work and fun, I wouldn't trade it for anything!"

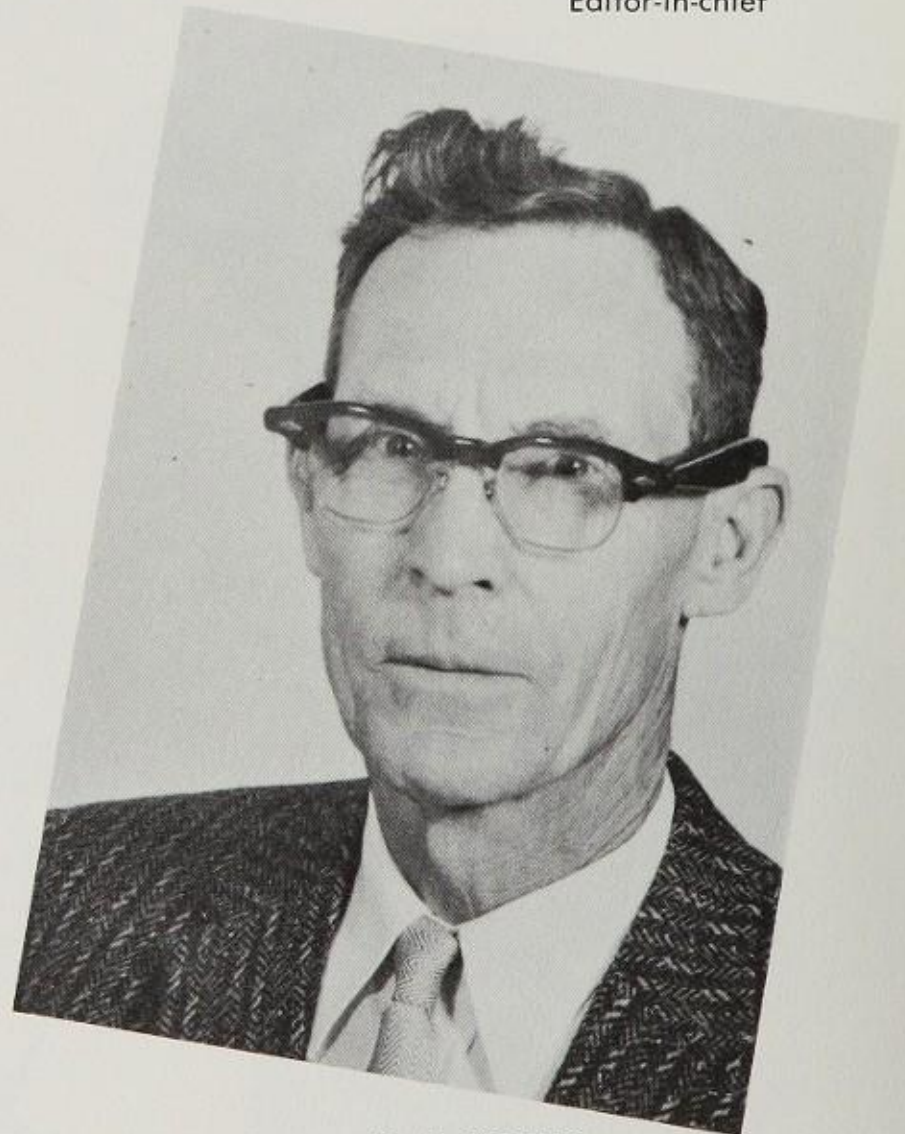

"I can just imagine," commented Mike. "You and your staff certainly had to maintain a steady pace to meet your deadlines, didn't you?"

"No lie," replied Glenna. "We thought we could breathe freely after we sent in the first batch of everything to the printers, but shortly after the first deadline we were working like dogs to meet the next one. Its a never-ending race!"

"Mr. Young must be a man of never-ending patience. Just think, he goes through the same thing every year."

Financing A Yearbook

GLORIA TUELLER
Ad Manager

"Gloria, how can you sell a yearbook for such a small price? The time, effort, and expense that went into this year's Superstition surely can't be paid for through student subscriptions."

"Well, Shari, we don't rely principally on student subscriptions. We have a staff trained to sell advertising to various businesses and businessmen around town. We help them by advertising their interests, and they help us by supporting our annual financially," Gloria replied.

"We also get money from junior and sophomore individual pictures," added Gloria.

"Doesn't it always? The amount of papers that come into this desk every two weeks would keep me busy for months."

"If I had to do it alone, it might take me years, too. But that is where my staff comes in handy."

"Oh, I get it. You turn them loose for two weeks; then, the work they don't get done goes to you."

Barbara laughed. "That's not quite the idea. With the help of our staffs and especially Mr. Young, Sharon Steele and I have kept the presses rolling this year."

"The two El Conejo magazines the staffs put out this year are sure good aren't they, Shari?" said Mike.

"Yes, I'll agree with you there. Of course they would have to be good under Mrs. Mary Reid's direction," replied Shari.

"Don't forget though, Shari, that she had a lot of co-operation from Martha Wolf, first semester editor, and Pat Slattery, second semester editor and the rest of the staff," retorted Mike.

"Right!" said Shari, "but also they wouldn't even have had a book if it wasn't for the regular English classes handing in outstanding themes, essays, stories and poems.

"Yes, and the themes "Colonialism" and "Apercu" respectively, were carried out in grand style," said Mike

Peppier Than Average

Mike Wynters lounged against the table as he talked to Janice White. "The cheerleading this year was excellent, with perhaps only one little discrepancy. You didn't have me to give the squad a masculine touch. Oh well, there are years and years to go before I leave Mesa High. Maybe I'll find time some year to offer my services."

"Mike, if you were one twentieth as great as you say, you would be on display in a carnival."

"It's just my way of trying to tell you what a great job I thought the cheerleaders did this year."

"Thanks, Mike. I'll relay your message to the other girls and to Mrs. Wright, our teacher. After putting so much effort into cheerleading, it's nice to know the students like it."

"We really do, too. The squad is so good that sometimes I think they could outdo even me."

"Just think," sighed Sheryl Tuttle as she walked slowly to the girls' gym, "this is the very last time I'll be dancing as a member of the Las Conejitas."

"I know just how you feel," answered Shari Wynters, but just think of all the fun and accomplishments you'll have to remember as you prepare to go on to college."

"Yes, it has been quite a year, especially for the Bunnies with our new uniforms and our new sponsor, Mrs. Mary Wright. I hope the girls chosen for next year will have just as much fun and success as we have had performing at the games, pep assemblies and other school events."

Performed Gracefully

"The girls in orchesis pick up dance steps so quickly," commented Shari.

Karen Bowers explained, "The girls in orchesis are chosen because they have the ability to learn dances.

"When orchesis students performed in assemblies, it looked like they had attained it. I'll bet it takes a great deal of practice."

"Every little bit counts. The girls come in after school, in addition to their hours in class. Symposiums also give opportunity for learning."

"Actually, the only distinction I can claim as a dancer is that in kindergarten I was the very first one to learn a waltz step."

They Marched, Roped and Twirled Well

Shari and Helen Lewis chatted as they hurried toward their second period class.

"How have you enjoyed being in Rabbettes this year?" Helen asked.

"It's really been fun," Shari answered, "and I've made so many new friends."

"Remember the fun we had at the football games," Helen recalled. "Who can forget the day we went to the state fair?"

"Yes, and after marching in parades for an hour or two, I thought my feet would catch fire. But I forgot about my feet when I remembered how proud I was to perform with a group like the Rabbettes. Well, I almost forgot, anyway."

"I wonder what the Rabbettes will look like next year in their new uniforms," asked Helen.

"They'll look terrific," answered Shari. "Mesa High has always and can always be proud of her famous Rabbettes."

Mary Morrison laughed. "It certainly was. Pat Tarpey was cast just perfectly as Annie, and Del Rae Terry was fabulous as Frank."

"Don't forget Merle Halls as Buffalo Bill, or Dic Russell as Charlie Davenport," added Shari. "They were tremendous."

"The operetta wasn't the only presentation of the choir this year, though," said Mary. "We also performed for the Elks Club and for the traditional A Cappella assembly."

"Remember Christmas vespers and graduation, which featured the choir?" Shari continued. "Mr. Hendricks has really done a wonderful job with the choir during his first year at Mesa High."

"And while I'm talking about our fine A Cappella, I can't forget our outstanding choruses. Mesa High sure has its share of musically talented students."

Played At Games

Well, Del Rae, your year as drum major is nearly over," Shari Wynters observed to Del Rae Terry.

"Yes, it sure was fun, especially when we performed at the football and basketball games. I'm really looking forward to next year."

"I am, too. I never had it so good in band as I do at Mesa High. No wonder the band is so big, being so much fun. That's why they really work to make the music top quality, too, like they did for our concert."

"There are those who plan to study music as a career, too. Mr. Noble helps both kinds," remarked Del Rae.

"You know, it's amazing to think how much band does for a girl, or a boy. We get strong lungs from blowing, strong legs from marching, strong arms from carrying, and gray hair from auditioning."

And They Played On

Mike walked into the band room after school. "Is Shari here, Ileen?" he asked Ileen Arnett.

"No, I haven't seen her, Mike."

"Have you been practicing again? It sure must take a lot of practice to be the pianist for the orchestra."

"It takes a lot of practice to be in the orchestra at all, no matter what instrument you play."

"That's one reason I decided against taking up the contra-bassoon. Couldn't you just imagine me after practicing for four hours on that? I'd be a mere spot of grease."

"But Mike," laughed Ileen, "that's just what Mr. Noble needs for quartette. Then we could have a piano, a piccolo, a violin, and a contra-bassoon."

LINWOOD NOBLE, director, with his accompanist, Ileen Arnett.

The orchestra practices for the bi-annual operetta "Annie Get Your Gun."

Clubs For You and Me

Greg bumped into Rayma Mish as she came from the last club presidents' meeting of the year.

"Hi Rayma, you look rather tired, but I can see why. With 28 club presidents to look after you have a right to be tired."

"They're just wonderful, Greg. They really are. Just remember that most club presidents have more than 28 members to look after."

"There are so many students at Mesa High that belong to clubs. Clubs really play an important part of the school's curriculum here."

"I know. There are so many clubs and they all have different ideas and purposes. You know there is a club at Mesa High for every student's interest. All he has to do is join."

"My mother suggested a 29th club — one for people who are tired of belonging to so many clubs."

Sports

Mike and Greg walked slowly toward their sixth period sport's class.

"Greg, I'm desperate. What can I do? If I'm ever going to make varsity football, I'll have to find five inches and twenty-five pounds somewhere."

"Just be patient, Mike. You'll grow. Besides that, it's not always the heaviest and tallest man on the team who plays the best."

"Yeah, you've got a point there," Mike conceded, "but I still don't particularly relish the idea of being mashed like a potato by some two hundred pounder."

"Well, then, maybe football isn't the game for you. Why not try basketball or track?"

"No, I don't think my talents lie in those fields."

"Maybe you could go out for wrestling, baseball, or golf."

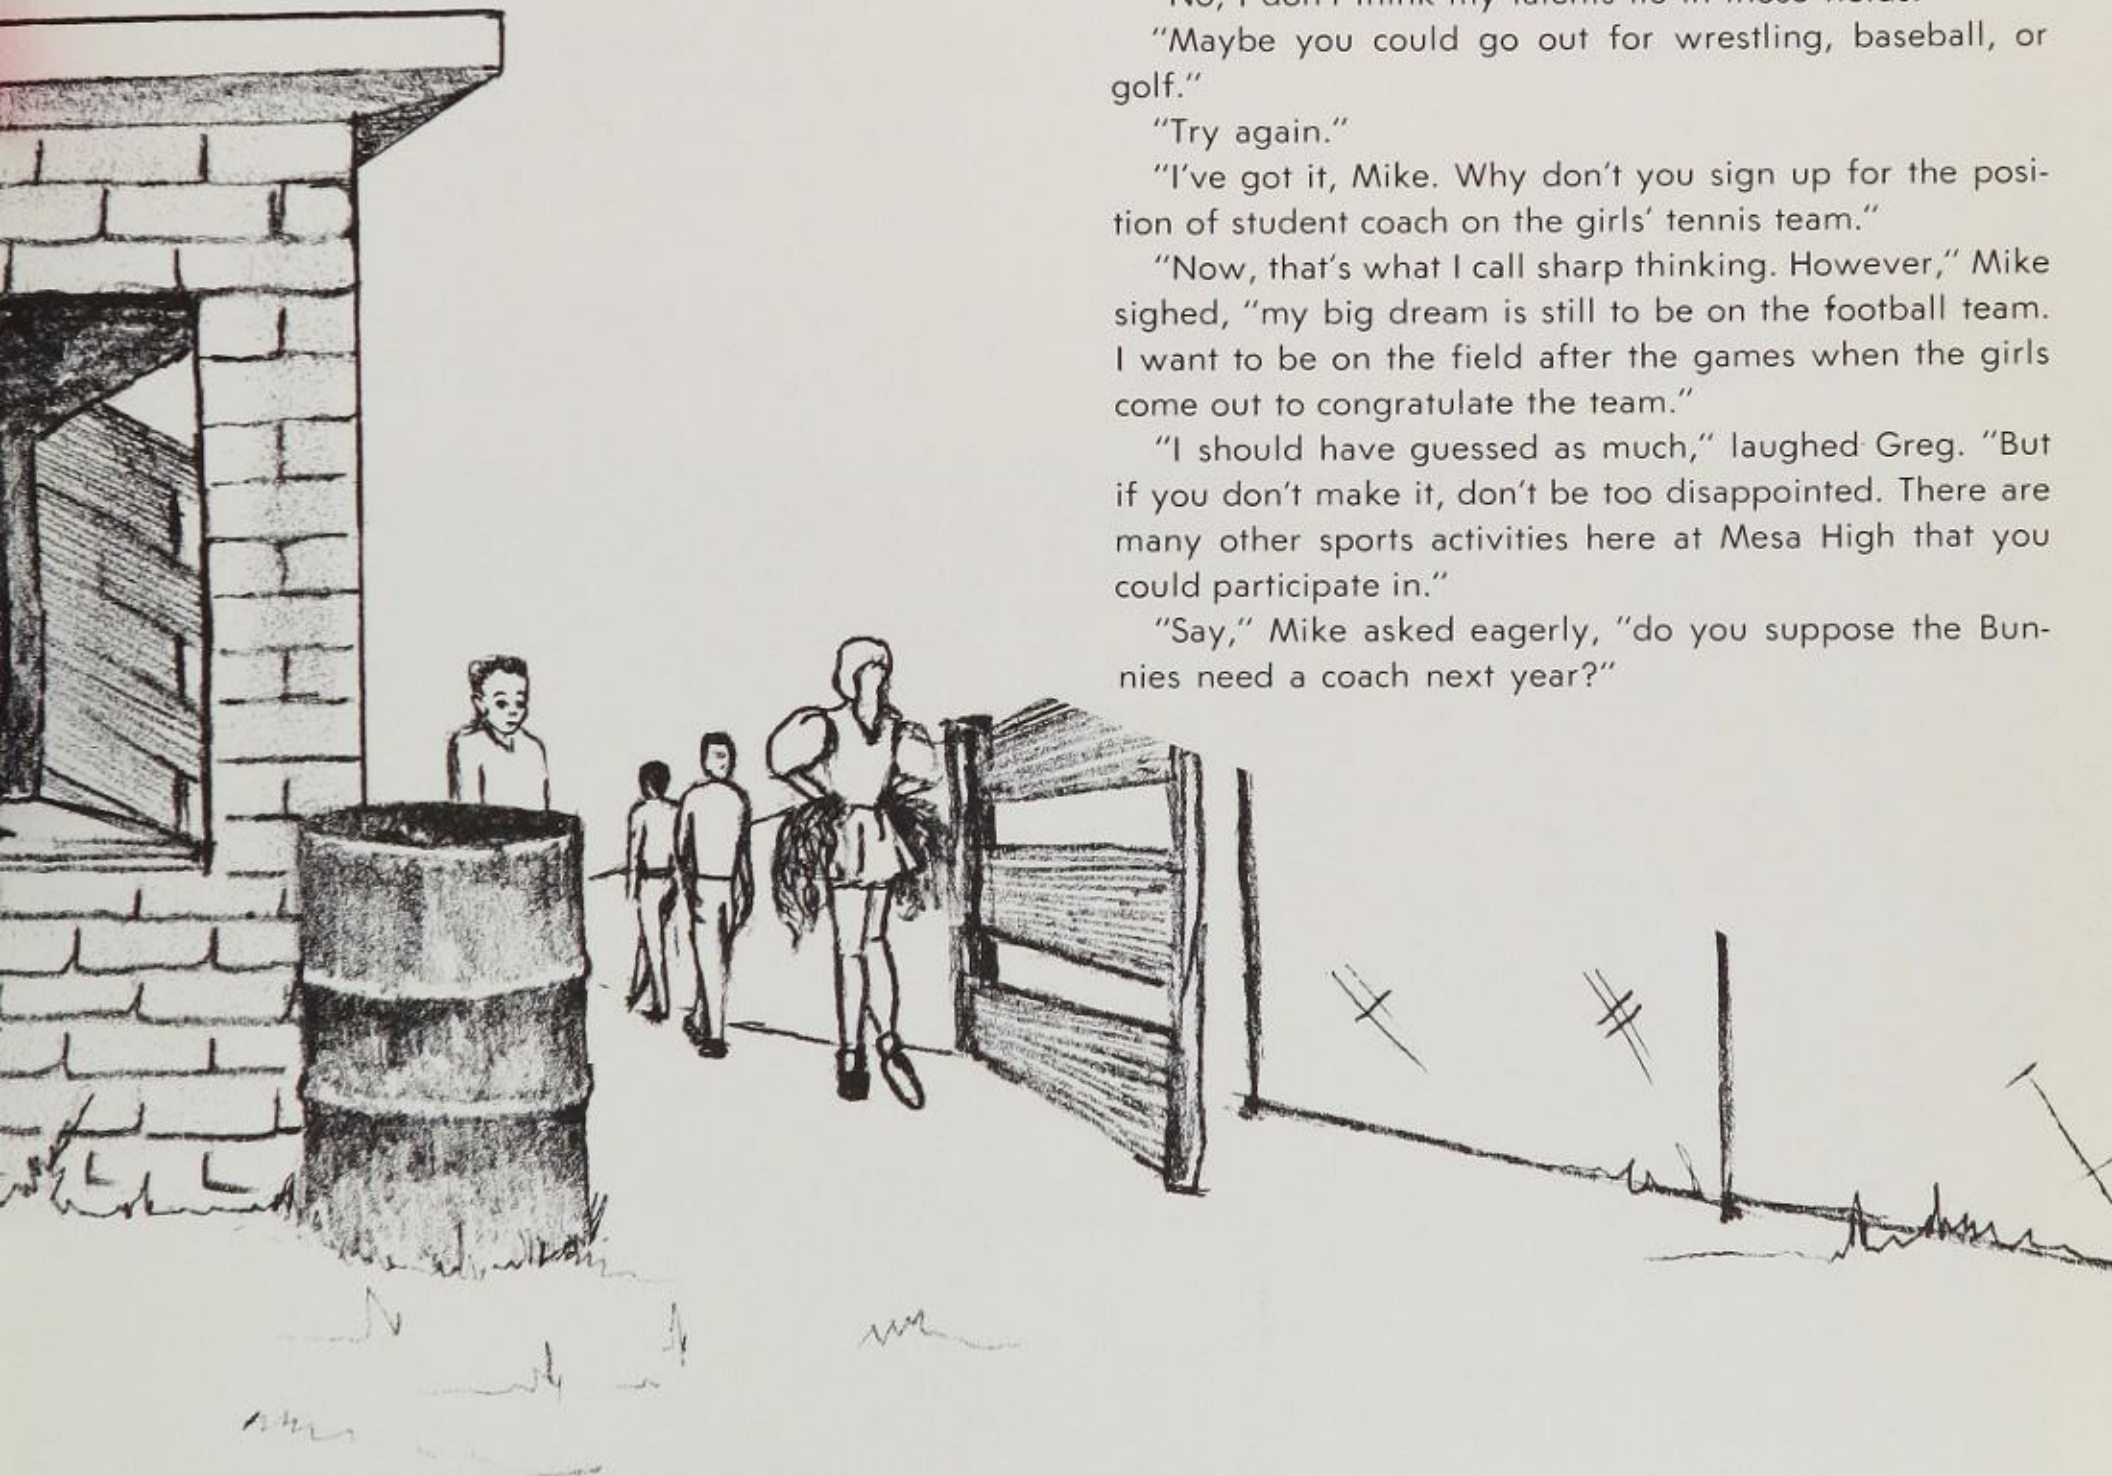

"Try again."

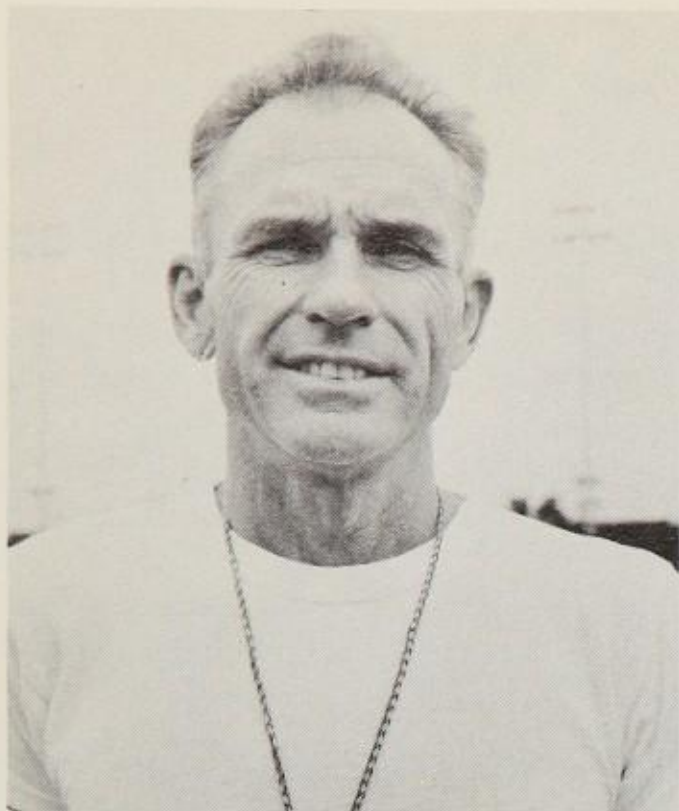

"I've got it, Mike. Why don't you sign up for the position of student coach on the girls' tennis team."

"Now, that's what I call sharp thinking. However," Mike sighed, "my big dream is still to be on the football team. I want to be on the field after the games when the girls come out to congratulate the team."

"I should have guessed as much," laughed Greg. "But if you don't make it, don't be too disappointed. There are many other sports activities here at Mesa High that you could participate in."

"Say," Mike asked eagerly, "do you suppose the Bunnies need a coach next year?"

EDGAR FORD
Head Coach

We Were Champions

"How about that, Greg? We not only captured the AA division II crown, but Coach Edgar (Mutt) Ford's powerful Jackrabbits defeated Tucson High 31-6 in a play-off game at Tucson; then went on to drop Yuma 27-6, at the Sun Devils Stadium for the class AA State championship."

"Not only that but we ended with a regular season's record of 8 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie," added Jon Chesser. "Carl Hayden defeated us and Phoenix Union tied us in two of the toughest games of the year."

"All-conference, all-state, all Southwest honors went to you, Jon. All-state honors of honorable mentions went to Gary Lindsey, Bob Anderson, Dean Nielson, Terry Cassidy, Dic Johnson, Allan Moore, Charles Ralls, Chuck Steverson, Bill Chesley and Lynn Nichols."

"You know, Coach Ford, with returning lettermen next year plus those up from the Rainbow and Jay Vees squad should have another fine season next year."

"I can recall every game we played," added Greg. "Can't you just picture them in your mind?"

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Tucson — We completely dominated Tucson High in a play-off game, defeating them by a score of 31-6. Jon Chesser went on a scoring spree scoring 25 points.

Yuma — In the final game of the season for the AA state championship, we outdistanced Yuma to win the state championship by a score of 27-6.

REED PETERSON
Backfield Coach

DAVE GATES
Line Coach

Mauldin, manager; Charles Weldon, Pat Cassidy, David LeSueur, Kelly Keasler, Darrell Holck, Dean Nielson, Tony Burns, Craig Arnett, Eddie Ash, Tom Taylor, Joe Comparin, Chuck Steverson, Wayne Scott.

Halfback Chuck Steverson (24) is tackled by a Scottsdale player as Johnson (14) and Grubbs (66) arrive too late to help.

CARL HAYDEN—We were handed our first and only setback of the year by the Carl Hayden Falcons by the score of 27-21. In this conference game the Falcons made their winning touchdown in the last few minutes of play in the upset of the year.

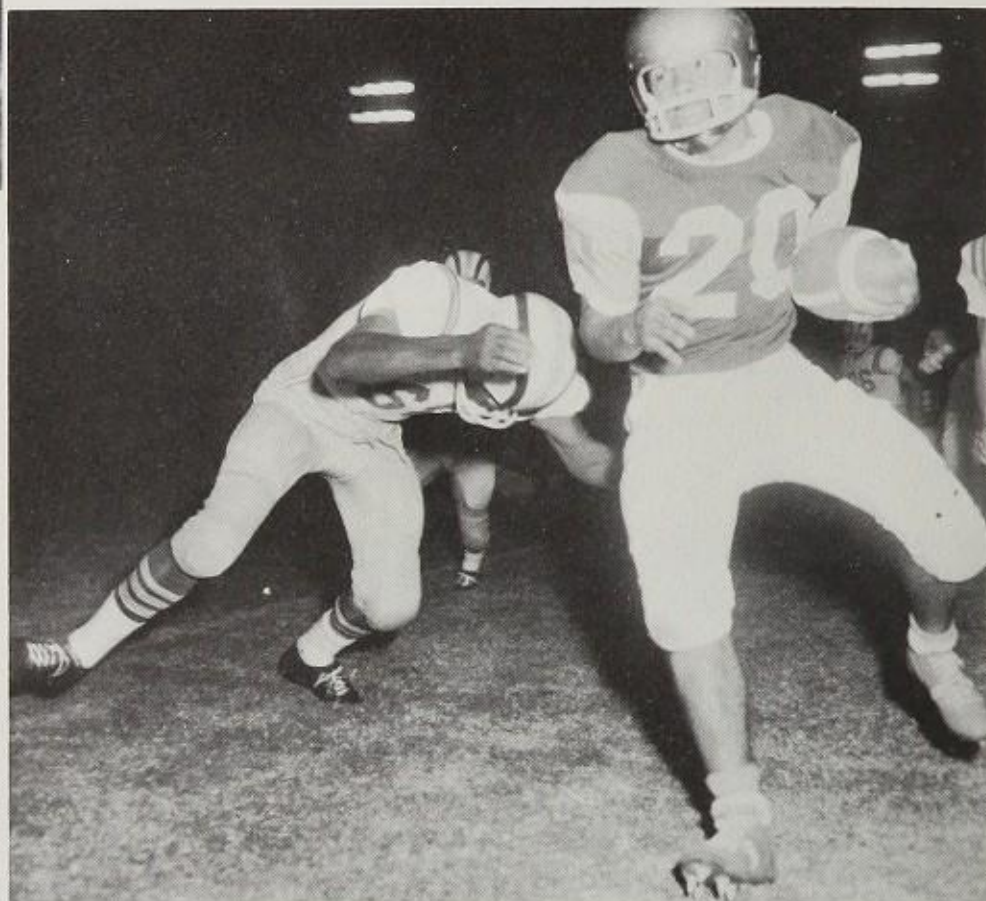

SOUTH MOUNTAIN—We traveled to South Mountain for our first away game and blanked them 13-0 in an important conference tilt. There was fine student support despite the steady drizzle.

Fullback Richard Guebarra is stopped after a short run in the Catalina game.

ST. MARY'S—We scored an impressive victory over St Mary's in the seasons opener by a score of 34-7. Leading the way for us was last year's all-stater Jon Chesser.

CATALINA—Our top-ranked Jackrabbits blanked the Catalina Trojans 33-0. Scoring twice each were Bill Chesley and Chuck Steverson. Leading the defense was Gary Lindsey.

SCOTTSDALE—We were heavily favored to beat Scottsdale but we barely squeezed by them by a score of 26-25, in an action-packed game at the Jackrabbit Stadium.

End Ernie Grubbs (66) dives to tackle ball carrier in Carl Hayden game.

NORTH PHOENIX—Our powerful squad scored four times in the last half to overpower North Phoenix by a score of 47-25. We had a slight lead of 21-19 at the half.

PUEBLO—We scored a surprisingly easy victory over Tucson Pueblo by a score of 34-6 at Tucson. We lead all the way with the Warriors making their only touchdown against the Mesa reserves.

PHOENIX UNION—In a conference game at Phoenix Union, we scored in the third quarter to deadlock the score at 14-14. The contest was a personal duel between our Jon Chesser and Caldwell of Union.

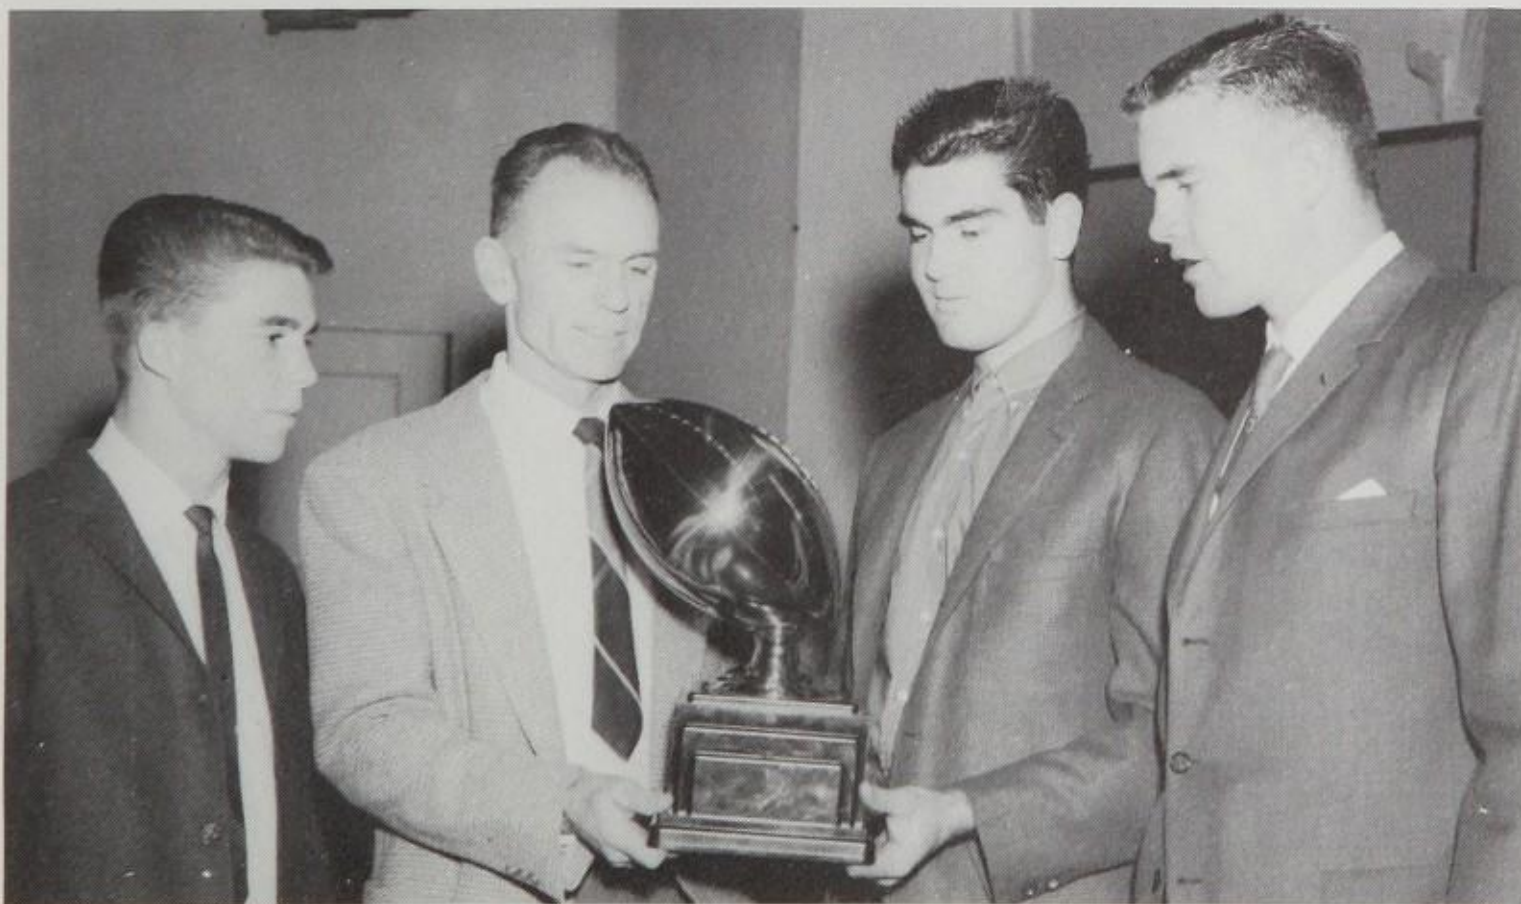

Mesa halfback Jon Chesser gets away from Phoenix Union players and goes for a 33-yard touchdown.

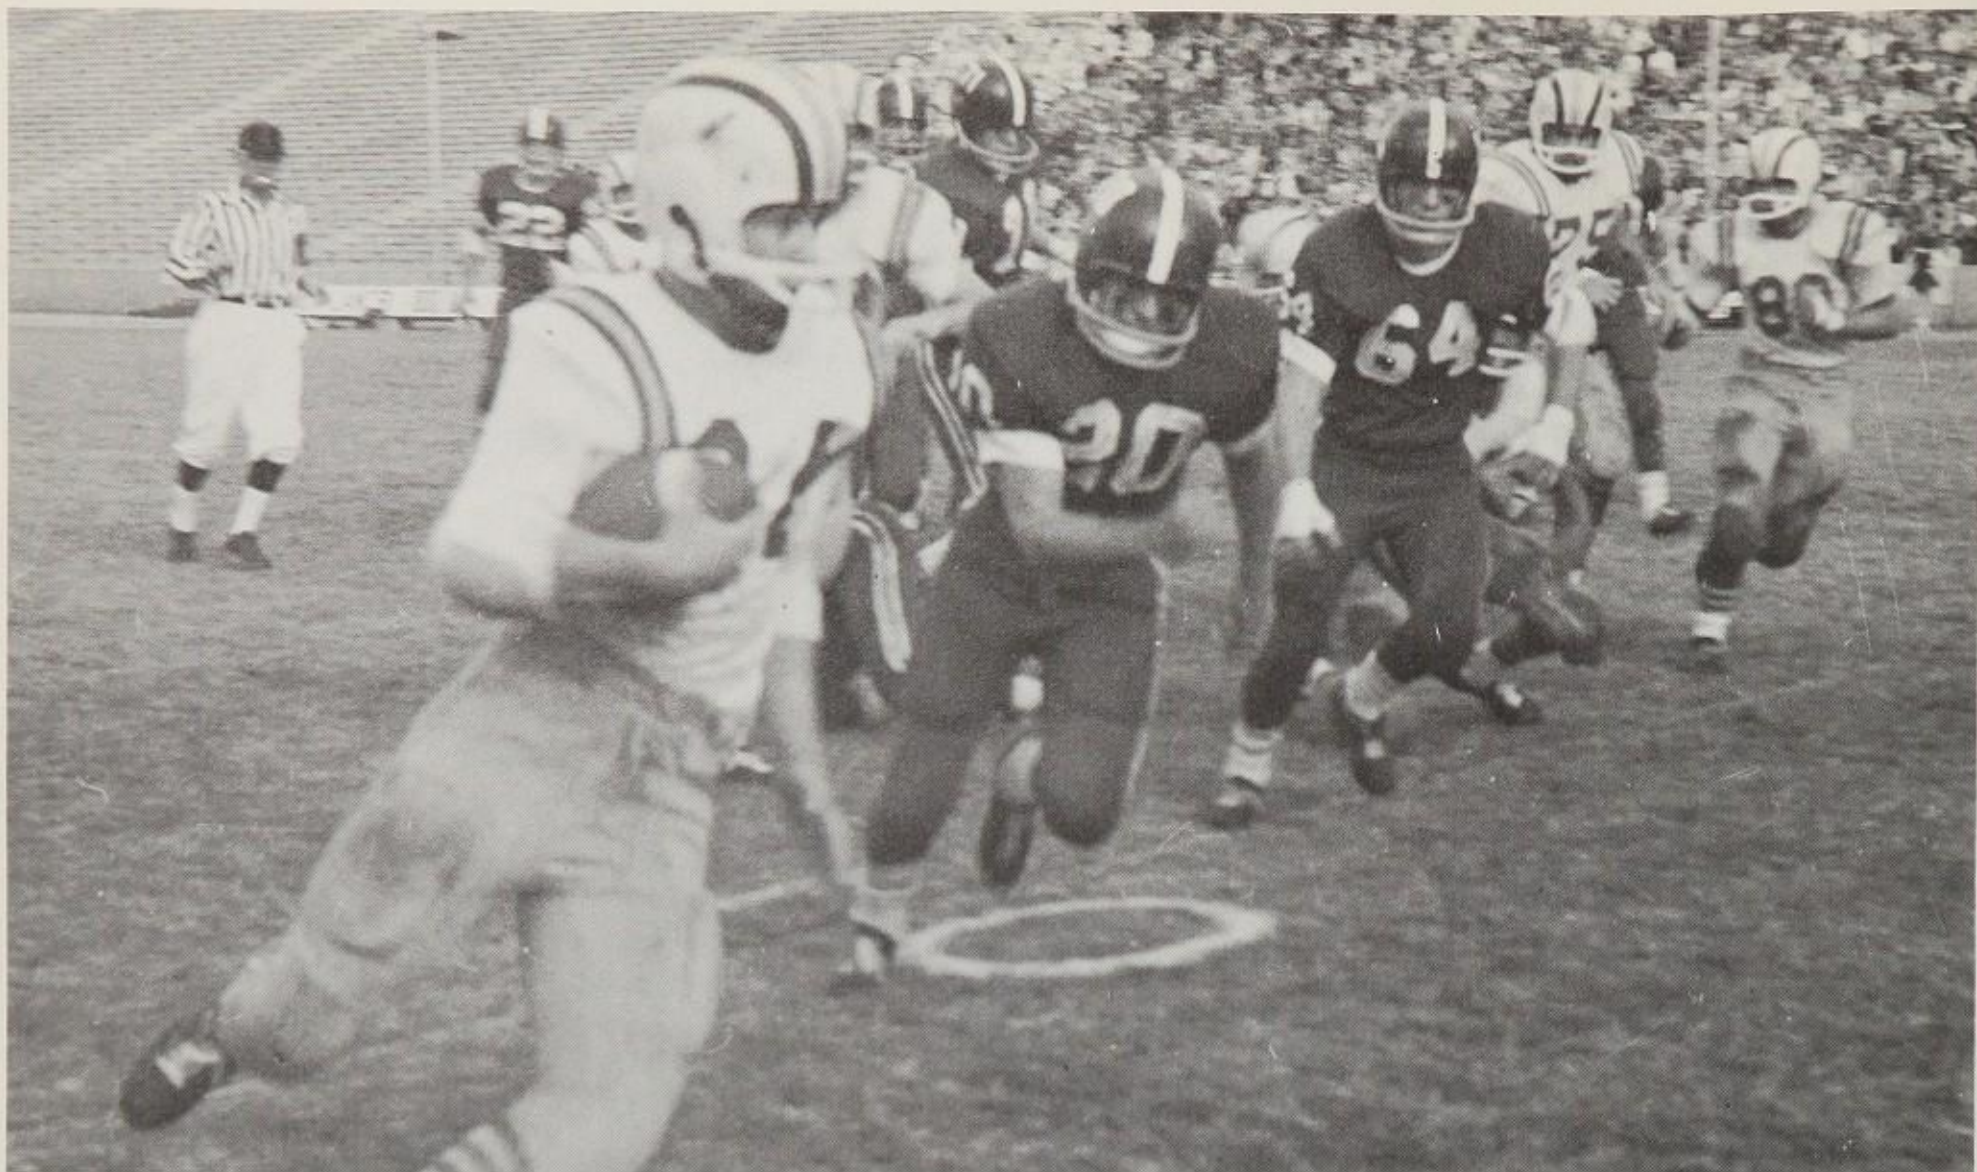

Joe Comparin is set to take a perfect pass that went for a long gain in the South Mountain game.

WEST PHOENIX—We ran into a stubborn West Phoenix team but we came out on top by a score of 24-13. The first play of the game netted us a touchdown with a pass from Dic Johnson to Jon Chesser.

TUCSON—We came on strong in the last half with the explosive Tucson Badgers leading 18-13 to upset them 39-24. Ten of our backs provided the offensive strength in one of the most exciting games of the year. Then five days later we went on to defeat them again in a semi-final game for the state championship.

Chuck Steverson, Coach Edgar Ford, Dic Johnson, and Terry Cassady admire their state championship trophy.

Halfback Chuck Steverson breaks through the Yuma defense to gain yardage in the state championship game.

JV's and Rainbow Both Victorious

"Hey, Mike!" said Shari. "I heard your Rainbow team had a very good season this year."

"Yes, we did," replied Mike. "We ended with an excellent record of 9 wins and 2 losses."

"Our outstanding players include Buddy Clapham, Harley Jarvis, Malcom Scott, Jerry Sanders, David Powers, and Lupe Gonzales. All of these and others are fine varsity prospects for next year."

"Our coaches this year," added Mike, "were Pat Pomeroy and Harry Goodman."

Our Varsity Hoopsters

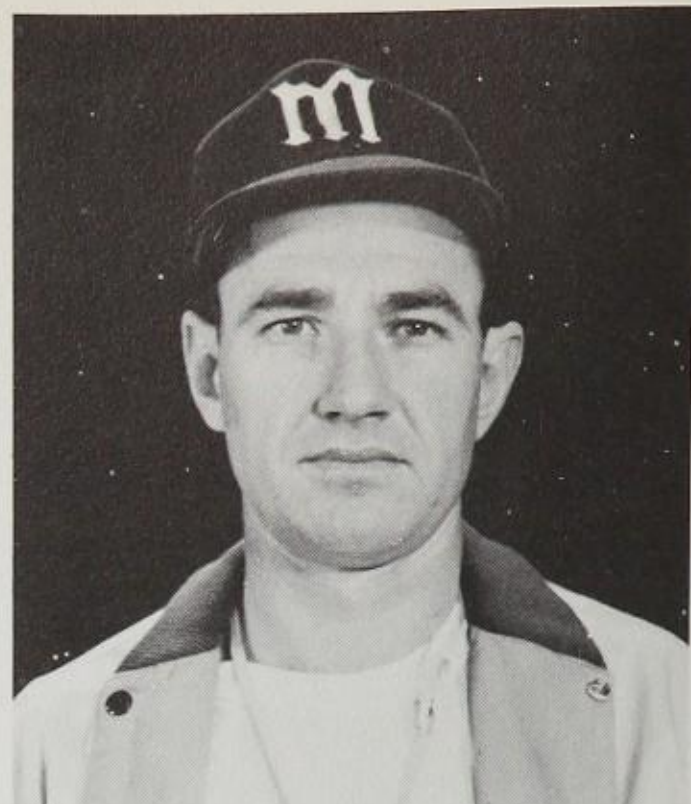

Ernie Grubbs, Jim Keppel, and Greg Garwood began to discuss the past basketball season.

"What we needed was some height," commented Ernie. "I agree," interrupted Jim. "We sure could have used height, Greg."

"Our record of five wins and 14 losses is misleading," replied Greg. "We had some bad luck during the season, losing many close games—several by only one or two points."

"Anyway," continued Jim, "Our first Christmas tournament was a success. Coach Carl Heath can look forward to a successful season next year with many returning lettermen and some varsity prospects coming up from the Jayvees."

Bill LeSueur, Ben Armstrong, Roger Crocket, Charles Weldon, Don Casey, Jim Keppel, Ray Skipper, Warren Coe, Mgr.

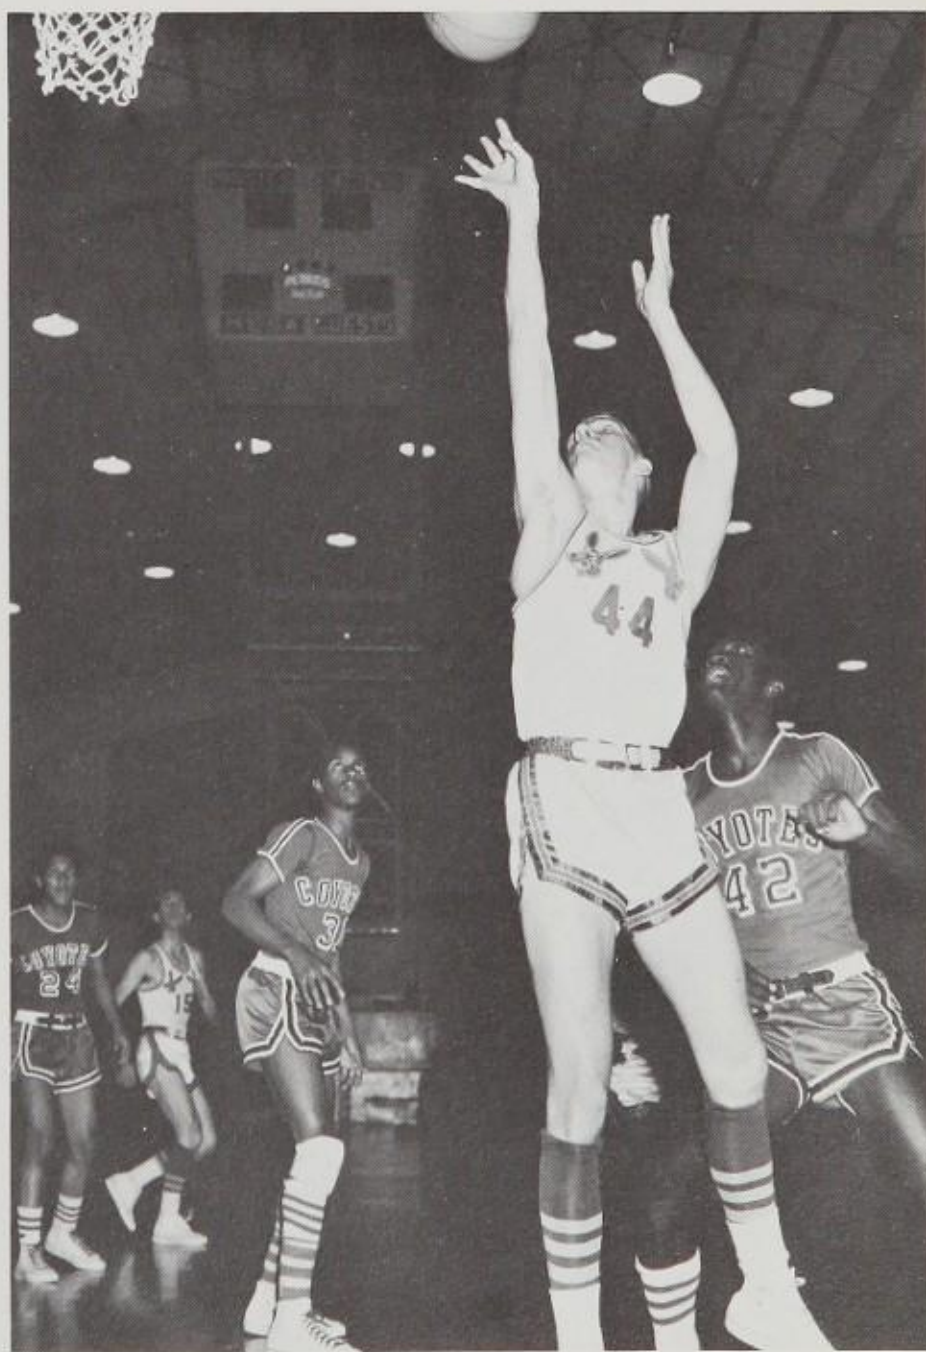

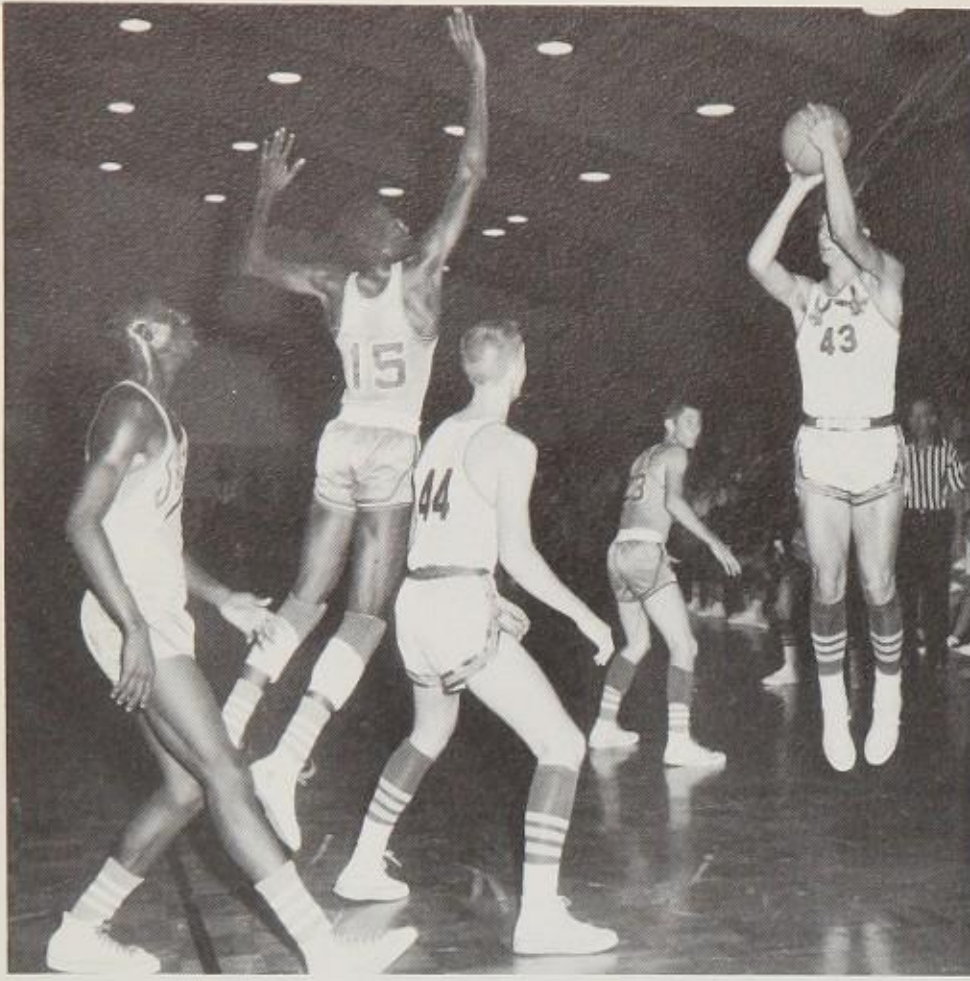

Charley Skinner and Bill LeSueur scramble for a loose ball in the St. Mary's game.

Ernie Grubbs goes for two points in the St. Mary's game played in the boys' gym.

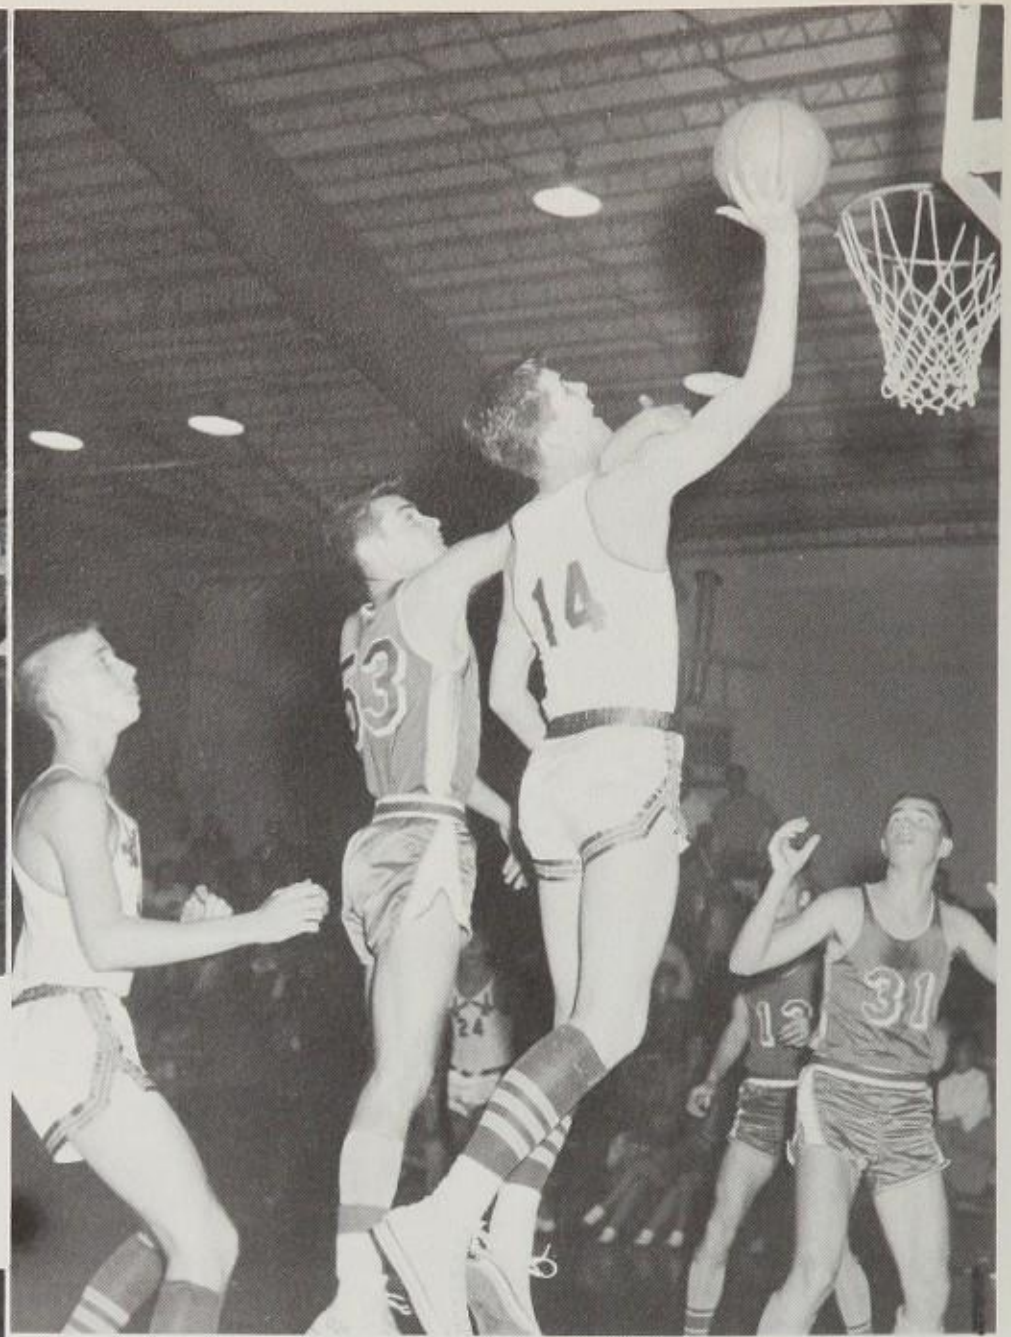

Jim Keppel gets off a shot as a Coyote defender moves in.

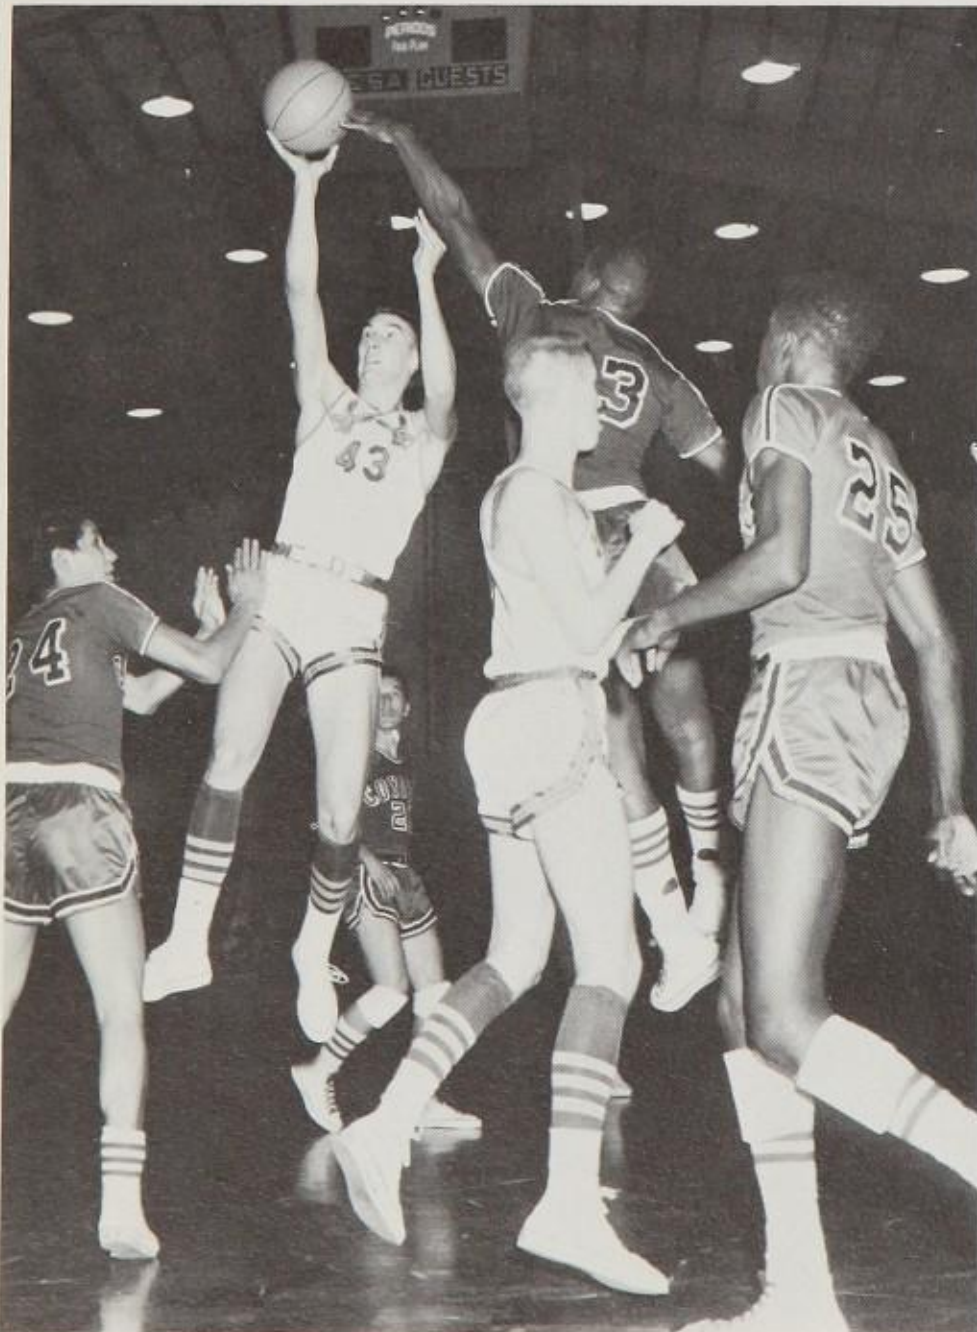

Ben Armstrong scores with a jump shot in the South Mountain game.

Charley Skinner reaches high for a shot in the Phoenix Union game.

J V Basketballers

"As coach of the Jayvee basketball team, can you tell me something about them?" asked Greg Garwood.

"Well," began Coach Harry Goodman, "I think the boys played excellent ball all season with plenty of team work as our record of 11 wins and 9 losses shows."

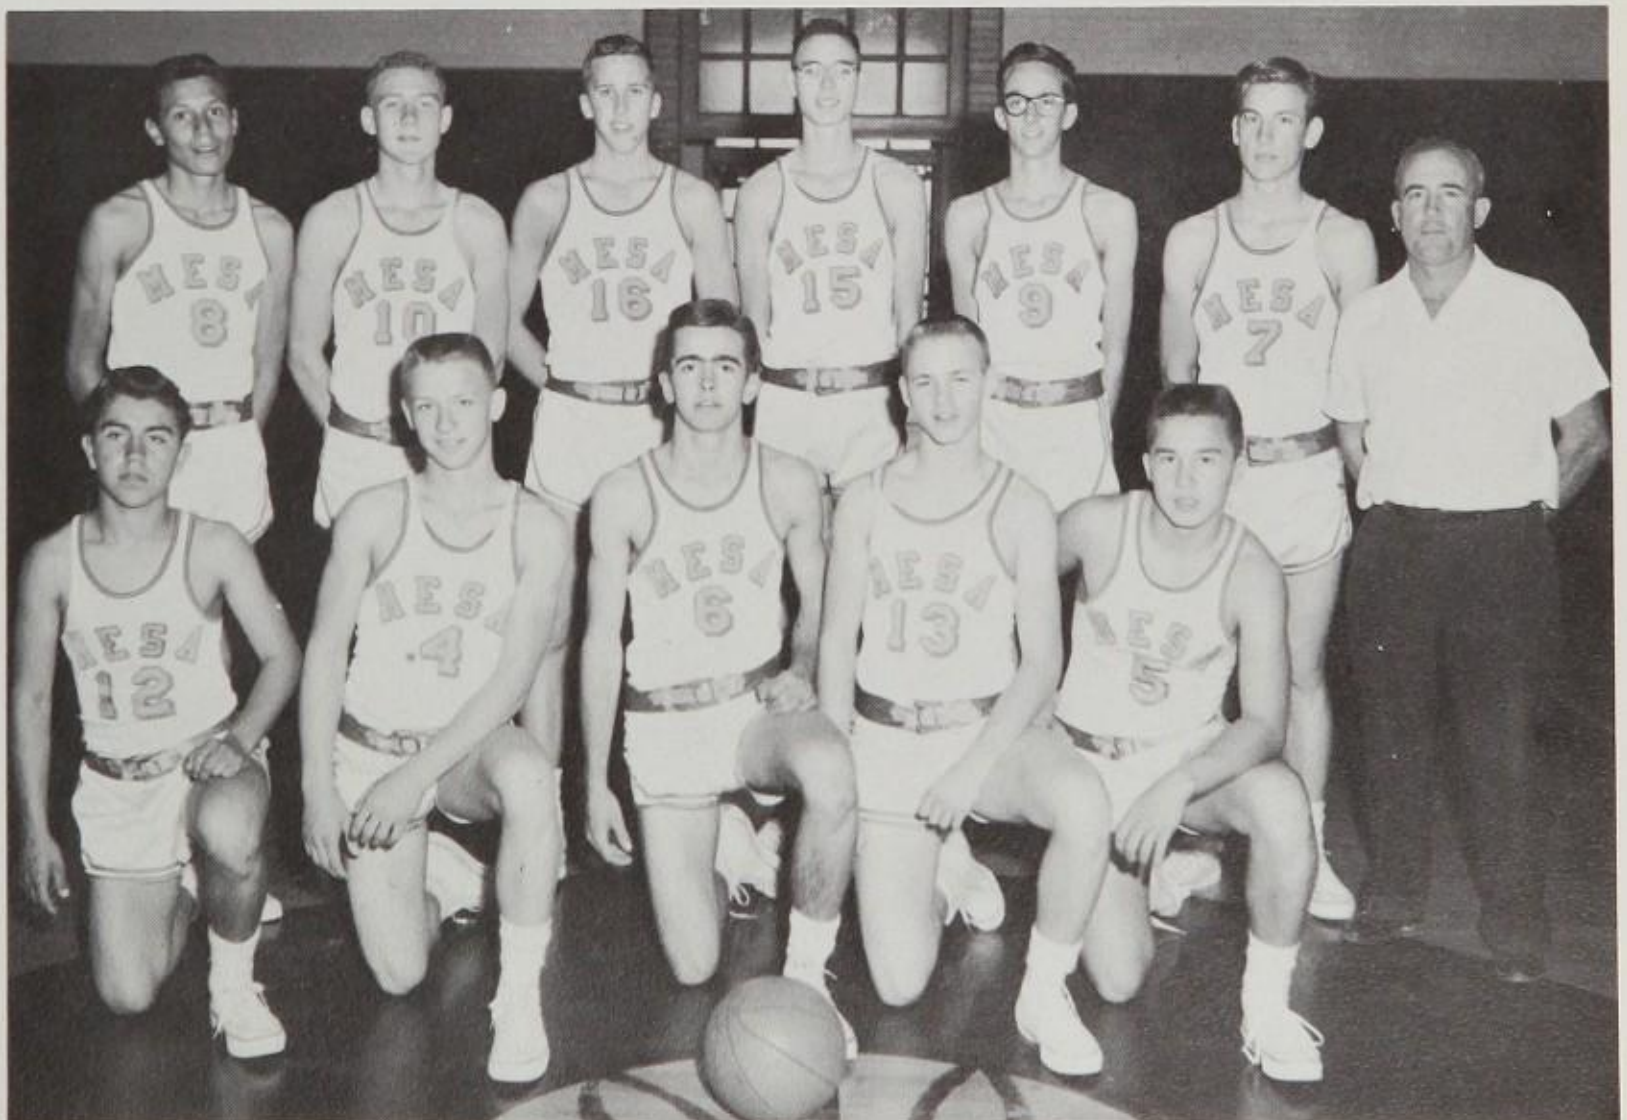

"I am looking forward to seeing many of them on the varsity next year, and I hope that the Jayvees next year have another very successful season."

HARRY GOODMAN

We Wrestled as Varsity

"Where did you get that pin on your sweater?" asked Greg Garwood.

"This is my pin for placing third in the state wrestling match at Washington High," answered Omar Henkel. "Jim McCracken, Gary Lindsey, Darrell Holck, Ronnie Seay, and Jim Ruda also were in the state meet.

"This isn't bragging," continued Omar, "but we ended our season by winning the district meet at Arcadia. We had a fair record during the regular season with 6 wins and 6 losses."

Mesa Varsity wrestler Ronnie Seay gets set to begin the second period, in the top position, with his Carl Hayden opponent.

Our Cinderfellas

"Say Greg?" asked Terry Cassady. "Weren't you on the cross-country team this year?"

"Yes I was Terry, and we had a very successful team this season winning five of our six dual meets," answered Greg. "Also," added Greg, "we placed second in the county meet, third in the district meet and seventh in the state meet."

"Where do you run your meets?" asked Terry.

"Our course of 1.7 miles goes through the Jackrabbit Stadium and around the baseball diamond."

"Our leading runners were Ray Conover, Jerry Keesler, Leslie Pospisil, Corwin Edwards and Bob Lisonbee."

Coach Carvel Jackson looks forward to another fine season next year with most of our runners returning.

Successful Thirlies

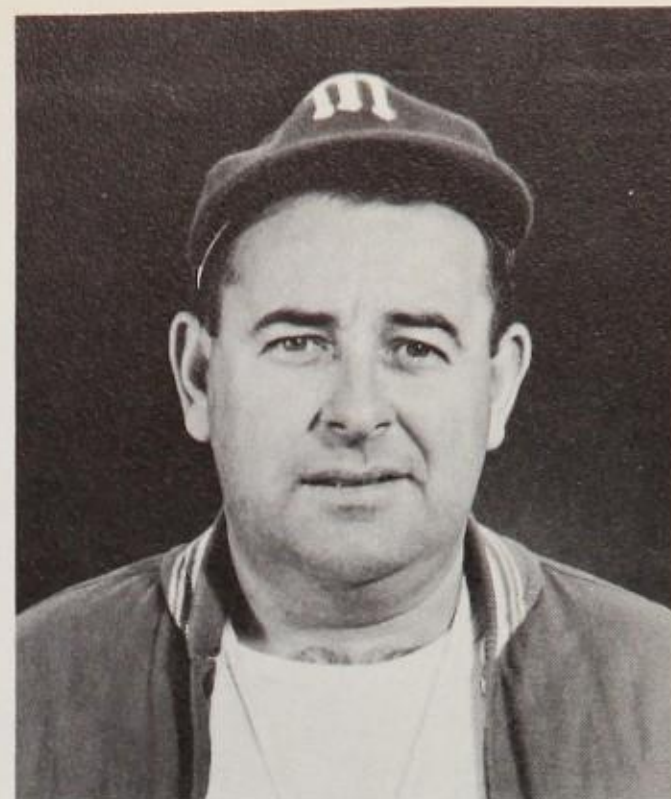

"We lost our first three track meets to Phoenix Union, Tempe and West Phoenix," declared Greg Garwood to Shari Wynters.

"What went wrong?" asked Sharie.

"Nothing went wrong," replied Greg. "We lost Andy Livingston in our first meet and two or three others who were our point makers. Coach Dave Gates, the new varsity track coach this year, and Carvel Jackson, assistant coach, think that we have a strong squad."

"Why do you think that when you've lost the first three meets?" asked Shari.

"We lost to a strong Tempe, West Phoenix and Phoenix Union teams by a few points.

Divot-Diggers

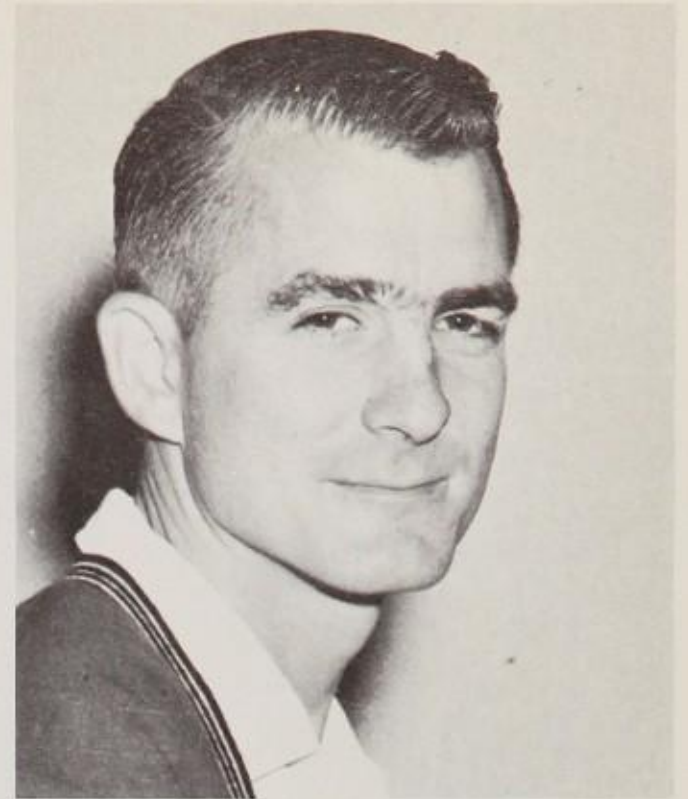

On the greens at the Mesa Country Club was coach Pat Pomeroy, in his first year as golf coach.

"Watch your swing!" shouted coach Pomeroy to Angel Vasquez. "You're getting too wild."

"Okay Coach," replied Angel. "I think the others need help too."

"I hope that our early wins over Tucson, St. Mary's, Catalina, North Phoenix and Carl Hayden are signs of an excellent season this year," declared coach Pomeroy with enthusiasm.

Men of The Diamond

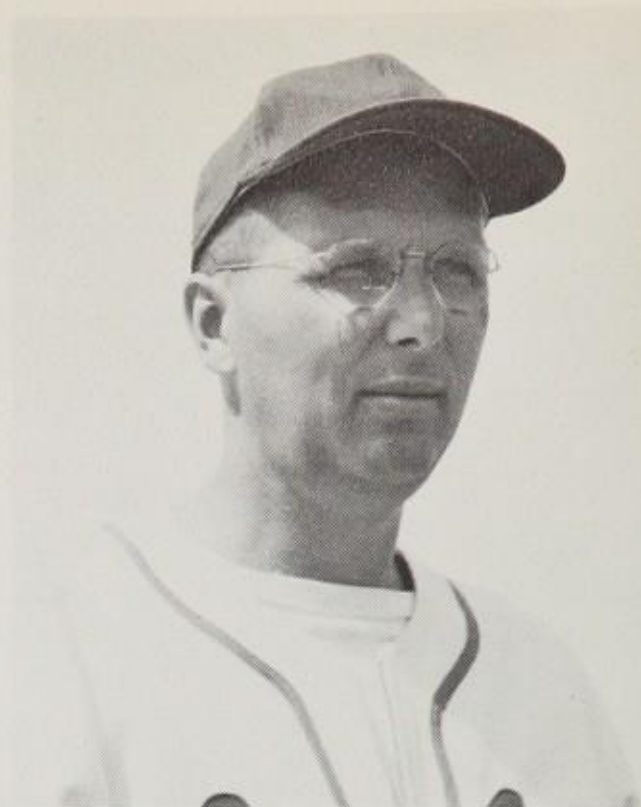

"It looks like Coach Erv Reid has another fine baseball squad this year," declared Greg Garwood.

"If we keep playing like we've been, we will have an excellent chance for the district title and even the state championship," replied Jon Chesser. "Our early wins over Tempe, Scottsdale and St. Mary's show our strength."

"What happened to the team in the first Carl Hayden game?" asked Greg.

"We had good pitching, but our errors lost the game for us. Some bad luck also contributed to the 4-3 loss. We have a number of returning lettermen this year which accounts for the teams' experience."

Hustling Netters

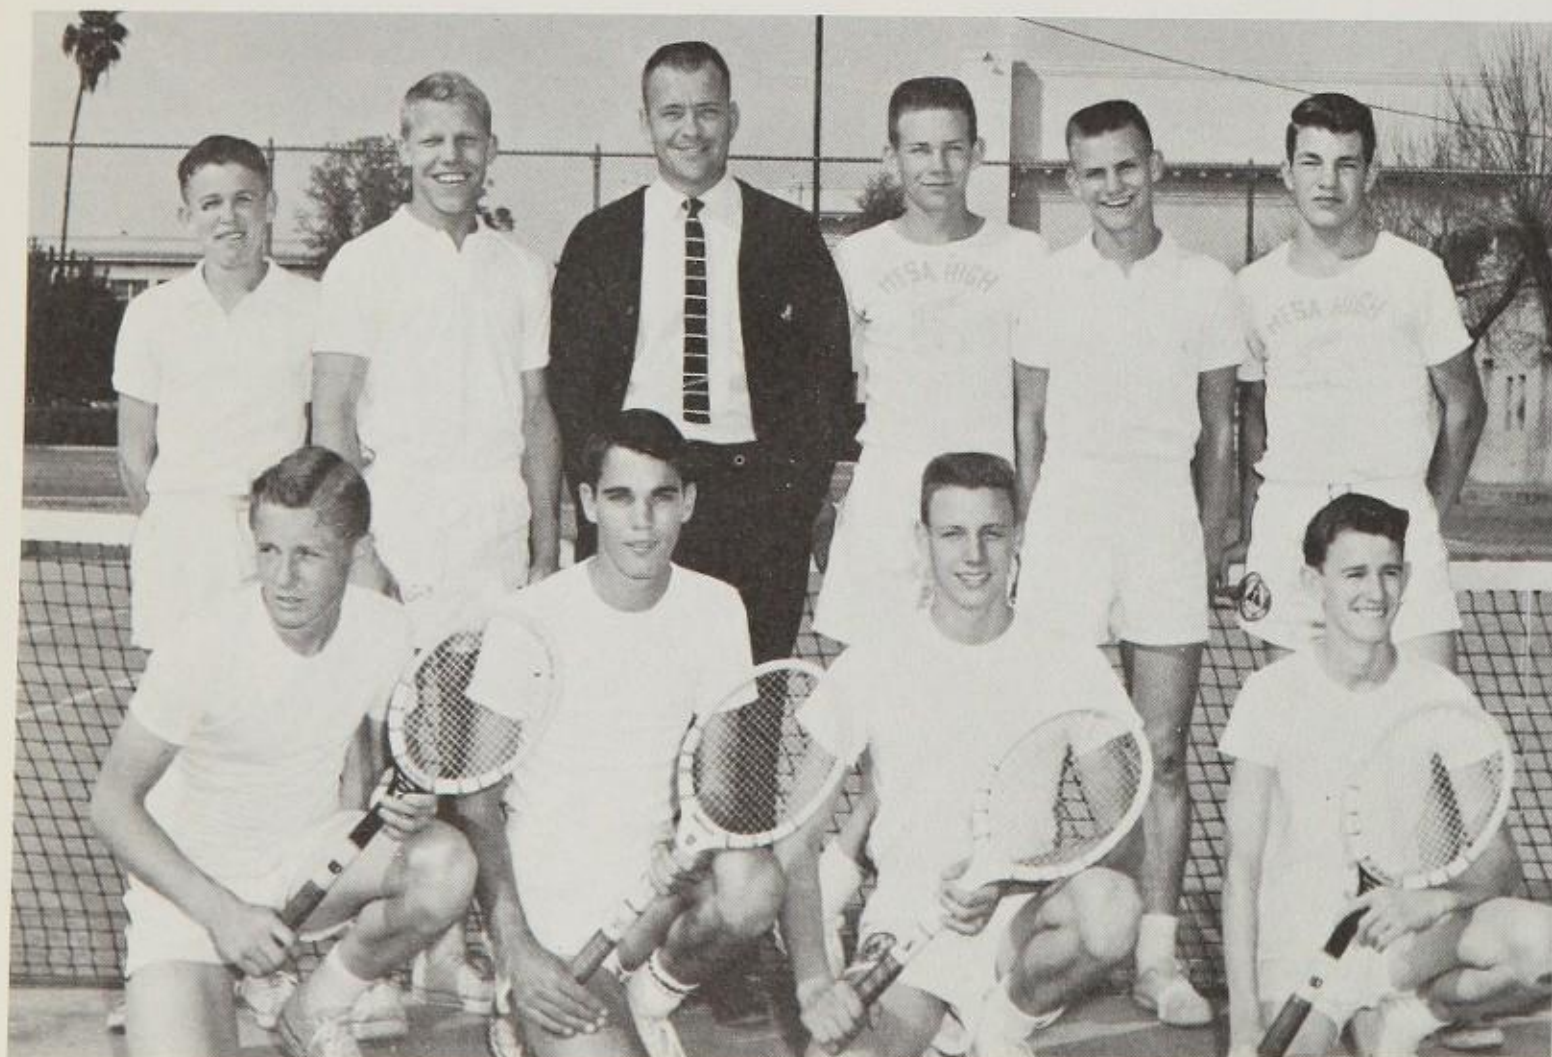

"With our record of 7 straight wins before a loss, we have an excellent chance for the district and state championships," declared Roger Patton to Torry Lofgreen during practice.

"Coach Bill Fitzgerald will sure be happy to have a championship squad in his first year at Mesa High," replied Torry. "Let's get back to our practice, Roger. We have a tough match to win tomorrow."

"Come on men!" shouted Coach Fitzgerald. "Let's finish the season with a winning record!"

Three of Mesa High's netters are shown here, who have all contributed to their excellent record during the early part of the season.

On The Courts

"Hello, Miss Davis," said Shari Wynters. "I see your girls' tennis team hard at work. How are they doing this year?"

"Well, Shari," answered Miss Davis, "the girls got off to a good start, but they have slowed down some. They try hard and I'm pleased with them."

"Who are some of the members of the team?" asked Shari.

"We have three seniors, Elain, Peggy, and Janet and some juniors," replied Miss Davis. "I think with more courts, we could increase our tennis program."

"Goodby, Miss Davis. I have to run along now. I'll see you."

School Life

Mike and Shari Wynters walked slowly home along the familiar route they had used since the first day of school.

"Are you going to the annual signing party tonight, Mike?" Shari asked her brother.

"I don't know. I've signed my name so many times today, my fingers won't listen to me when I tell them to bend."

"That's what you deserve for being so popular with the girls! Remember how many offers you had to the CoEd?"

"Well, a guy can't help it if the girls find him attractive," grinned Mike modestly. "You'd have the same problem with the boys if you weren't so obviously gone on Greg."

Shari smiled. "He's taking me to the party tonight."

"It seems like you might get tired of seeing that same face time after time. He took you to the Christmas Formal, the senior party, and the Junior-Senior Prom, not to mention the dates you've had to Movie Club, the games, and other school activities."

"Greg and I had a lot of fun going to all the school events this year," said Shari.

"I understand, but I like to give all the girls a chance," he grinned. "I walk one girl to class, eat lunch with another one, and take still another to the games at night."

"You're just lucky that we have so many activities at school. Otherwise, you might have to break down once in awhile and spend some money on them."

"That's right," said Mike thoughtfully. "Say, Shari, what do you suppose I'm going to do after I graduate from Mesa High?"

Mesa High students gather tips from Hollywood cameramen during the filming of the movie made at Mesa High.

Mesa Went Hollywood

Greg and Jim Keppel walked from the parking lot toward the main building one morning before school. "You know, Greg," said Jim, "we've had so many sharp activities this year. I hate to see it all end."

"That's right," said Greg. "Remember when we went to the State Legislature. And who could forget when Hollywood came to Mesa High. Ah, the life of a movie star!"

"Yes, but they missed out on a golden opportunity when they didn't discover my vast and varied talents."

"They probably didn't bother to look farther than your face," grinned Greg. "But really, we've been pretty lucky this year to have so many special and enjoyable activities."

Mesa acquires new cheerleaders to create pep at the "mock" basketball game.

Patti McCormick and Billie Gray, stars of 'Chalk Talk', take a moment's break during a strenuous day of movie-making.

Lee Kinsolving gives students instructions on behavior when Mr. Gifford, the teacher arrives.

Organized This Year

"Where are you going, Bedford?" asked Greg as he caught up with Bedford Douglas on the walk leading to the library.

"Hi Greg! I'm going to our weekly Debate Club research meeting in the library."

"Research meeting—what is that?" asked Greg.

"It's one of the more difficult phases of Debate Club work," answered Bedford. "Now don't tell me you haven't heard of our Debate Club."

"Sure I have, but I never did realize just how much work goes into preparing for a debate. I imagine you and Wes Shellan had to put in quite a bit of effort to win the state debate title and place as runners up in the big four debate tournament held at ASU last winter."

"Wes and I did work, but without the help of our club sponsors, Mr. Criddle and Miss Freseman, we could have never succeeded."

"Because of the outstanding work of every member, the Debate Club has done one very good job in its first year at Mesa High," Greg said.

"Annie Get Your Gun"

"Wouldn't we have fun if we could have lived in the old West days?" Mike asked Anna Marie Cox.

"Well, we did, Mike. 'Annie Get Your Gun' brought the old West to life."

"Shoot 'em up. Burn 'em down. The operetta sure was well done."

"I'll say it was. After the time the people connected with it put into making it a success, it wouldn't have dared be anything less than spectacular."

"Spectacular is the exact word for which I was searching. Why when I get to Broadway, I'm going to import the entire Mesa High operetta cast and directors to do my big spectacular. You know, it has to be good for me to commit myself like that."

Sitting Bull is presenting a ceremonial pipe over the head of Indian Maiden Pat Tarpey during the operetta 'Annie Get Your Gun.'

One Foot In Heaven

Marla McNeil (Mrs. Cambridge) and Martha Davidson (Mrs. Jellison) bring milk and bread to the new family of the parsonage, while Mary Louise Lynch (Maria), Printy Crandall (Louise), and Peggy Anderson (Letty) look on.

"Oh! Excuse me, Mrs. Buffington," apologized Mike when he accidentally bumped into the drama teacher. "Here, I'll pick up those books for you. You know, I never did get a chance to tell you how much I enjoyed both of the all-school plays, 'One Foot in Heaven' and 'Seventeenth Summer'!"

"Well, thank you, Mike," said Mrs. Buffington. "The students worked very hard to present the plays and will be glad to know that you appreciated their performances."

"They did a very good job!" added Mike. "Both presentations were excellent! I thought Donna Olin and Steve Miller were wonderful as the mother and father in 'One Foot in Heaven.' It is hard to believe that people would be so set against change as that town was. Those old busybodies Mrs. Jellison, Mrs. Sandow, and Mrs. Cambridge really made me mad! But at least things came out all right in the end."

"Mother's little lamb," Leslie Whiting (Mrs. Digby) remarks about her sissy son, Jim Keller (Georgie), while Jo Buffington (Mrs. Sandow) and Clifford Miller (The Doctor) grin understandably.

"Answer that, if you can, Brother Spence!!!" Gary Simon (Major Cooper) demands of Steve Miller (Brother Spence), as Donna Olin (his wife) reassures him. Looking on are Cheryl Jones (Molly), Del Rae Terry (Bishop Sherwood), Carolyn Wright (Eilleen), Don Anderson (Hartzell) and Mike Olson (Ronnie).

Seventeenth Summer

"And 'Seventeenth Summer' was just as enjoyable as 'One Foot in Heaven'," Mike continued. "The characters in the play were just like some people I know. Kitty reminded me of that little imp sister of mine. And that Jane! We boys ought to be protected from girls like her."

"Sherry Stiles was perfect as Angie. I wonder how many kids do have a seventeenth summer like Angie's?"

"Quite a few, I suppose," answered Mrs. Buffington. "That is why we chose the play. We wanted a play that would appeal to the students because it was about teenagers just like them."

"Next year I'll have to try out for an all-school play," proposed Mike enthusiastically.

Sherry Stiles (Angie) antagonizes Lorraines' ivy-league boy friend Gerald Carringer (Martin) while Tony Shumway (Jack), Duke Graham (Fitz) and Shari Sellers (Margie) watch, and Paula Reedy (Jane) practices for the parade.

The characters pair off into couples, Doug Lyle (Art) and Jennifer Newell (Margaret), Donna Gray (Lorraine) and Gerald Carringer (Martin), and Tony Shumway (Jack) and Sherry Stiles (Angie).

The Morrows gather for breakfast as Phyllis Steele, Mrs. Morrow sets the table; Donna Gray, Lorraine, chats with her girl friend over the telephone; and Jennifer Newell, Margaret, and Sherry Stiles, Angie, kid their younger sister Kitty, played by Kenne Henderson.

Outstanding Talent in Triple Assemblies

"Are you ready for the assembly, Pat?" inquired Shari.

"Is anyone ever ready for assembly?" returned Pat Tarpey.

"The seniors had better be. They are faced with some stiff competition from the junior and sophomore classes."

"I know. The class assemblies this year were outstanding. All the assemblies have been well-carried out. From traditions to talent, we have had them all."

"The students here are really fortunate to have so many. I know most schools don't have them as often."

"We try to present to the students an assembly to acquaint them with every important phase of school life. That's why we have sports, music, foreign exchange, class assemblies, and talent assemblies for variety."

Shari laughed. "My little brother, Mike, says he is going to be in all assemblies next year. He's enough variety for anyone."

"Thank Heaven For Little Girls" is motto of Junior Class as they pass it on to seniors and sophomores in junior assembly.

Sophomores show rising possibilities as they display loads of talent and fun in their first assembly.

Four "Babes" show one of the "Famous Firsts" presented by the Gah-Tso in their annual Follies.

Three Mesa lasses chime in on "The Wayward Wind" during the Old Faces assembly.

An up-and-coming combo adds spice to the New Faces assembly.

The victorious Mesa High football team is honored in an assembly following their capture of the state AA football championship.

A Tribute to Mesa High's Alumni

"How are you getting along with Greg, Shari?"

"Just fine." Shari said as she looked at Judy Hoopes,

"You have been going out with him for quite a while, haven't you?"

"The first time we went out was to the Homecoming dance. That was so much fun. I think I broke a record that night for getting my feet stepped on. Just think, that was clear back on November 18, 1960."

"He took you to the Superstition Ball, too, didn't he? I remember how excited you were before the dance."

"Yes, and it turned out just perfectly. It was a wonderful dance, just like homecoming."

"Couldn't have been who you were with, could it?"

"Maybe just a little bit."

Walt Johnson's band played popular music of the past and popular music of the present suitable to the dreamy mood of the dancers at the Homecoming dance held at Tri-Stake Center.

The 1961 Homecoming Dance was one of the most widely advertised and largest attended of any of the informal dances at Mesa High this year. Jon Chesser and Nancy Gates reigned supreme over the dance.

"Say It With Music" was the theme of the 1961 Superstition Ball, held at the Mezona this year. The spark-ing, turning ball cast dreamy light over the dancers at the Ball.

Darlene Beverage reigned over the Ball with the poise of an actual queen and along with her attendants was dressed in apparel suitable for any queen's court.

Janet Eaves is crowned at the annual F. F. A. Sweetheart dance.

Dance to Your Heart's Content

"Well, we started with an informal hello party to acquaint students with each other. We had formals, after game dances, semi-formals and a big western dance. I guess you remember that Western Dance, all right."

"I sure do."

"Being crowned the F. F. A. Sweetheart isn't a daily event, that's for sure."

"And the dance was so perfect. Just think about the planning that goes into these dances, Shari."

"It's hard to imagine that someone can plan a dance like that and keep it running smoothly, but they do."

The students started the year with a great big hello.

SENIOR PARTY

The Seniors could have danced all night to the music of the annual Senior Party.

They Could Have Danced All Night

"Was the senior party as good as the sophomore party, Greg? I don't see how it could be, but I thought I'd give you a chance to brag."

Greg grinned at Steven Freestone. "Steven, when you have something good, you don't have to brag. The less you say, the better it was. So I'll just say nothing."

"I don't know how I can top that," laughed Steven. "But I will eventually. The sophomore party was, of course, better, so somehow I'll be inspired."

"Well, maybe I can help. Would it do you any good to know that the sophomore party was held on October 24, and the senior party was held on March 3?"

"Now don't try to confuse the issue with facts, Greg."

"Let's just credit both parties to the good planning given them by class officers and let it go with that."

SOPHIE PARTY

The Sophies' enjoy watching a dance contest held at their annual class party.

All couples enjoyed the lovely Christmas dance sponsored annually by the Mesa High Boys' League.

Don Warden, Boys' League president, and his date enjoy the first formal of the school year.

Formals twirled to the dreamy music of "White Christmas" at the Memorial Union building on the ASU campus in Tempe.

Christmas Formal Theme - Happy Holidays

Greg Garwood and Don Wardon were talking in the main hall before school one morning.

"It just doesn't seem possible that graduation is so near, Don," stated Greg. "Why, I can remember so clearly Christmas vacation and the Christmas formal. What a riot I had at that dance!"

"We members of the Boys' League Council did our best to make the evening a success. I sure hope everyone had a good time."

"Say, Greg," continued Don, "not that I don't know but who did you take to the formal?"

"Oh, a girl. I - - -"

"Well, well, the world is full of surprises," laughed Don.

"Seriously, Don, the Boys' League did a fabulous job on the formal this year. The theme 'Happy Holidays' was just perfect. Next year's council will have to work extra hard to top it."

Couples were entertained by the sweet voices of Eleanor Glazier, Anna Marie Cox, and Carol Millet. Carolyn Wright accompanied them on the piano.

The theme, "Happy Holidays," enchanted the couples who are pictured here at the Christmas Formal.

Once Upon A Highland

"Judging from a participant's standpoint, the Co-Ed this year was beautiful, Connie. You must have worked hard on it."

"Thanks, Shari," answered Connie Glazier. "It really took the concentrated effort of the entire Girls' League Council to make it a success. From the time we decided on the theme, 'Once Upon a Highland,' all the members really pitched in and helped."

"I know Greg and I really enjoyed ourselves. Where I came from, they didn't have a twirp week, so I really appreciated it. It gave me a chance to find out just what the boys go through, and at the same time have a good time."

Dancing to the smooth music of Bob Roth's Octette beneath Scottish plaid tapestries contributed to a delightful evening for all who attended the Co-Ed formal.

Frank Rotisky and his date take time out from dancing to enjoy some of the delicious refreshments offered during intermission.

Students chat at some of the tables ringing the dance floor and giving the atmosphere an air of sophistication. The tables were decorated by Council members with paper bagpipes, adding to the festive Scotch mood of the occasion.

Connie Glazier, Girl's League president, discusses her dance program with her date, Dennis Chapman, beneath part of the beautiful decorations by Lynn Valentine.

Ode to the Orient

Shari and Marsha DeWitt walked up the stairs toward homemaking class.

"Ode to the Orient," began Shari, "was a wonderful theme for the Junior-Senior Prom. I really had an enjoyable time."

"So did I," said Marsha. "I just hope the seniors enjoyed the dance. After all, we gave it for them."

"I'm sure they did. No one could have helped but enjoy it."

"It could just be that you enjoyed it because you went with some handsome senior named Greg, you know," said Marsha.

"Could be," smiled Shari, "but it really was a wonderful way to close the school year."

Students arriving at the Junior-Senior Prom were graciously greeted by a few of the faculty and student officers.

Dancing to dreamy music made the hours fly quickly by.
Students enjoyed themselves among the Oriental decorations of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Honors and Royalty

Greg and Mike sat in the lawn chairs in the patio during second lunch.

"You're going on to college, aren't you Greg," asked Mike.

"Yes," answered Greg, "and I'm really glad now that I kept my high school grade decent enough to get in a good college. I need that education for the field I plan to enter."

"Well, I guess I'd better shape up and study next year. But the going really gets rough sometimes. These kids who get good grades deserve to be honored."

"You know, Mike, it seems these days a college education is required for almost every vocation."

"I'll agree on that for boys, but I'm a firm believer in keeping the girls home. They should be cooking, cleaning house, and sewing. Men should be the bosses. Besides that, not many of the girls I know are smart enough to go to college."

"I don't imagine many girls agree with you. What about Shari?"

"Well, she's an exception. Shari is pretty and intelligent too. You know, Greg, Shari deserves to be chosen a queen or something."

"Maybe next year she'll be chosen homecoming queen or supersition queen," said Greg.

"She would make a sharp queen. I think I'll stand up right now on this chair and shout it to all of my fellow students within hearing distance. Shari has to be elected!"

Greg reached for his books and arose. "All I ask is that you wait a minute until I am out of sight."

Candidates chosen to compete for the title of Homecoming queen were Sheryl Tuttle, Nancy Gates, Darlene Beverage, Carol Hamblin and Connie Glazier. Those chosen as candidates for Homecoming king were Jon Chesser, Terry Cassady, Wayne Johnson, Bill Chesley and Dic Johnson.

Finalists in the Homecoming race were Jon Chesser, Sheryl Tuttle, Connie Glazier, Nancy Gates, Wayne Johnson and Bill Chesley.

Proudly They Served

"Nancy!" called Mike, "wait just a minute."

Nancy Gates stopped. "Hi," she greeted Mike Wynters.

"Hi. I was just wondering if you have chosen the Homecoming Queen for next year. I thought that maybe I could put in a plug for my sister, Shari."

"Well, it's a nice thought," laughed Nancy, "but I don't choose next year's queen. She is chosen by the student body. They have a right to choose their homecoming royalty, you know. After all, the royalty that is chosen does represent Mesa High."

"I can see why, all right. Just the same, it is going to be quite a job to get around to every student in the school next year, so I can clue them in about the best candidate."

"It sure is. You had better get started, right now."

"I'll start tomorrow. Tonight, I'll plan by line of attack."

The Royal court awaits the coronation as the honored subjects kneel in the background.

A Radiant Queen and Her Lovely Court

"Darlene, what are the qualifications needed to be eligible for Superstition Queen?" asked Shari.

Darlene Beverage looked thoughtful as she answered. "There are five main ones, Shari. First is service to publications. Scholarship, personality, beauty, and service to school are the other four important things."

"Gee, that sounds like almost impossible odds. But you and your attendants were well qualified, that's for sure.

I'll bet you were nervous, waiting for the big announcement."

"We sure were. We were all so nervous it took us weeks to calm down. It really made me feel honored to be chosen from a group of such wonderful girls."

"I can imagine. You've fulfilled your position like every queen should."

CONNIE GLAZIER

U. of A. Senior Day Princess

Leading the procession of Mesa High seniors that attended Senior Day at the University of Arizona in Tucson, was Connie Glazier. Connie represented Mesa in the Senior Day Queen Contest.

Donna Olin, Nancy Gates, Pat Tarpey, Glenna Ong, and Carol Hamblin represented us last summer at Girls' State, which was held at the University of Arizona.

CAROL HAMBLIN

A. S. U. Senior Day Princess

Carol Hamblin represented Mesa High in grand style at Senior Day held at Arizona State University in Tempe. Carol was chosen by the senior class to vie for Senior Day Queen.

Representing us at Boys' State last year were Dennis Chapman, Jon Chesser, Steve Goodman, Bill Chesley, Charlie Bradshaw, Terry Cassidy, Tom Taylor, Tony Alldredge, and Stephen Dana.

She Spread Goodwill

As Peggy Kilbourne walked from the English building to her locker after school one day, she spotted Buff Humphrey standing at the bottom of the main steps.

"Hi, Buff," greeted Peggy. "Are you standing guard over the school or something?"

"No," laughed Buff, "I'm just waiting for Stella. She has an appointment to speak at a civic club in half an hour."

"I imagine she is kept pretty busy informing us Americans about France."

"Yes, she is, but she really enjoys doing it."

"We're just lucky we have an intelligent and charming girl like Stella with us at Mesa High this year as our foreign exchange student."

Stella Kilen, foreign exchange student, enjoys visiting with her father while Mr. Kilen was here on business.

Winners All

JON CHESSE
Thom McAn Award

"Of all the awards won by Mesa High students this year, I didn't win one," stated Mike Wynters emphatically. "I just don't understand it."

"Why not, Mike?" asked Dick Owen.

Well, sure I suppose it takes work to win one, like the Tom McAn award that went to Jon Chesser. Before that Leland DePriests and Tom Taylor won high honors in the National Merit Scholarship tests. I know that took work, just like your project for the Mesa Science Fair which brought you a sweepstakes award."

"Mike Klein sure worked long and hard for his sweepstakes honors at the Central Arizona Regional Science Fair. He certainly earned his trip to Kansas City, Missouri, where the National Science Fair was held," Dick pointed out.

"Gosh, that frightens me; all that work before I become famous? I'll just dream!" exclaimed Mike jokingly.

They Reached Their Goal

Mike sat talking to Mr. Kellis in his office. "I'm really going to work harder next year, Mr. Kellis, but I don't think I'll ever be a candidate for valedictorian or salutatorian."

"Few students ever are, Mike. But its a great honor and a worthy goal to work toward."

"Students achieving the honor of valedictorian or salutatorian certainly deserve high praise for their diligent work and effort."

Mike agreed, "I'll agree about that, but I want to keep my father around just a little longer. He would probably have a heart attack if I even hinted about straight ones."

They Want To Travel

"We certainly have enjoyed you as our foreign exchange student, Stella. You have really represented your country well at Mesa High."

"Thank you, Shari," smiled Stella Kilen. "It is very important to do that as a foreign exchange student. People judge countries by individuals."

"That's right. It certainly must put a great deal of responsibility on those who participate in it. That's why only the very most qualified students are chosen."

"Mesa High has had good representation in this program. Buff went to England last summer. If Peggy is chosen to go to Europe this summer, she will do an excellent job, too."

"It's just too bad that there isn't enough room for all qualified students to go."

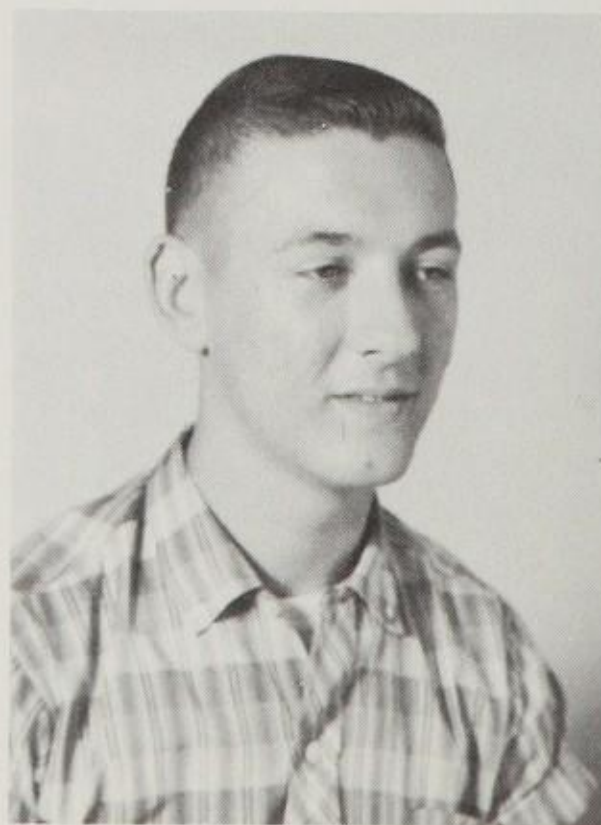

ELIZABETH HUMPHREY
Foreign Exchange Student

Dick Smith, Pat Lewis, Marsha Nader, and Peggy Kilbourne were candidates for summer abroad program.

STEPHEN DANA
Elks Leadership Award

Leon Mauldin, Bart Ricks, Calvin Challand and James Ray accompanied by Leo Peterson were winners at the National Dairy Judging contest last October.

Mike and James Ray walked toward the parking lot after school.

"I guess I really haven't done too well this year," said Mike.

"Perhaps that was because the contest was for girls only, Mike."

"Well, I might at least have won the Elks Leadership Award. But with this class distinction around here we sophomores don't have much of a chance."

"If you'll remember, the contests were open to seniors only."

"You're right, James, and besides that those seniors really deserved to be honored. In fact, I'll go so far as to even say that most seniors show a few human characteristics."

JOYCE GILES
Elks Leadership Award

Acknowledgements

As editor-in-chief of the 1961 Superstition, it is my duty and my privilege to make the following acknowledgements:

Thanks to the Universal Cover Company for the lovely job they did on our cover; to Arizona Trade Bindery for binding the book; and to Security Printers for printing the annual.

A special thanks to Mish Studio, who so patiently and kindly contributed their services to produce all our senior portraits; to Hennington Studio, who took the underclassmen pictures; and to the photo lab classes who, through their many efforts, furnished all the other pictures in the book.

A shower of gratitude to the business firms who generously bought advertisements that helped us pay for the publication of this book; to the journalism classes who enthusiastically sold the ads; and to students who bought this production.

I'd like to recognize the faculty and administration for their steady cooperation and assistance to us throughout the year. I'd particularly like to extend a bushel of appreciation to G. T. Young, advisor, and the yearbook staff for the countless hours of untiring labor they put in to make this publication possible. Thank you all.

"Well, it looks like this is it," said Greg.

He, Shari, and Mike stood in front of the main building on the last day of school.

"It's independence day," grinned Mike. "After a year of toil and strife we are at last liberated."

"I hate to see the year end," said Shari. "It's been wonderful. But before the end of this liberation day, as you call it, Mike, I wish you two would find time to sign my annual."

"I'm glad you got to me while there is still time," Mike said. "I expect the usual crowd of girls to come flocking for my autograph any minute now."

"Speaking of the annual," mentioned Greg, "I think this year's edition is pretty sharp."

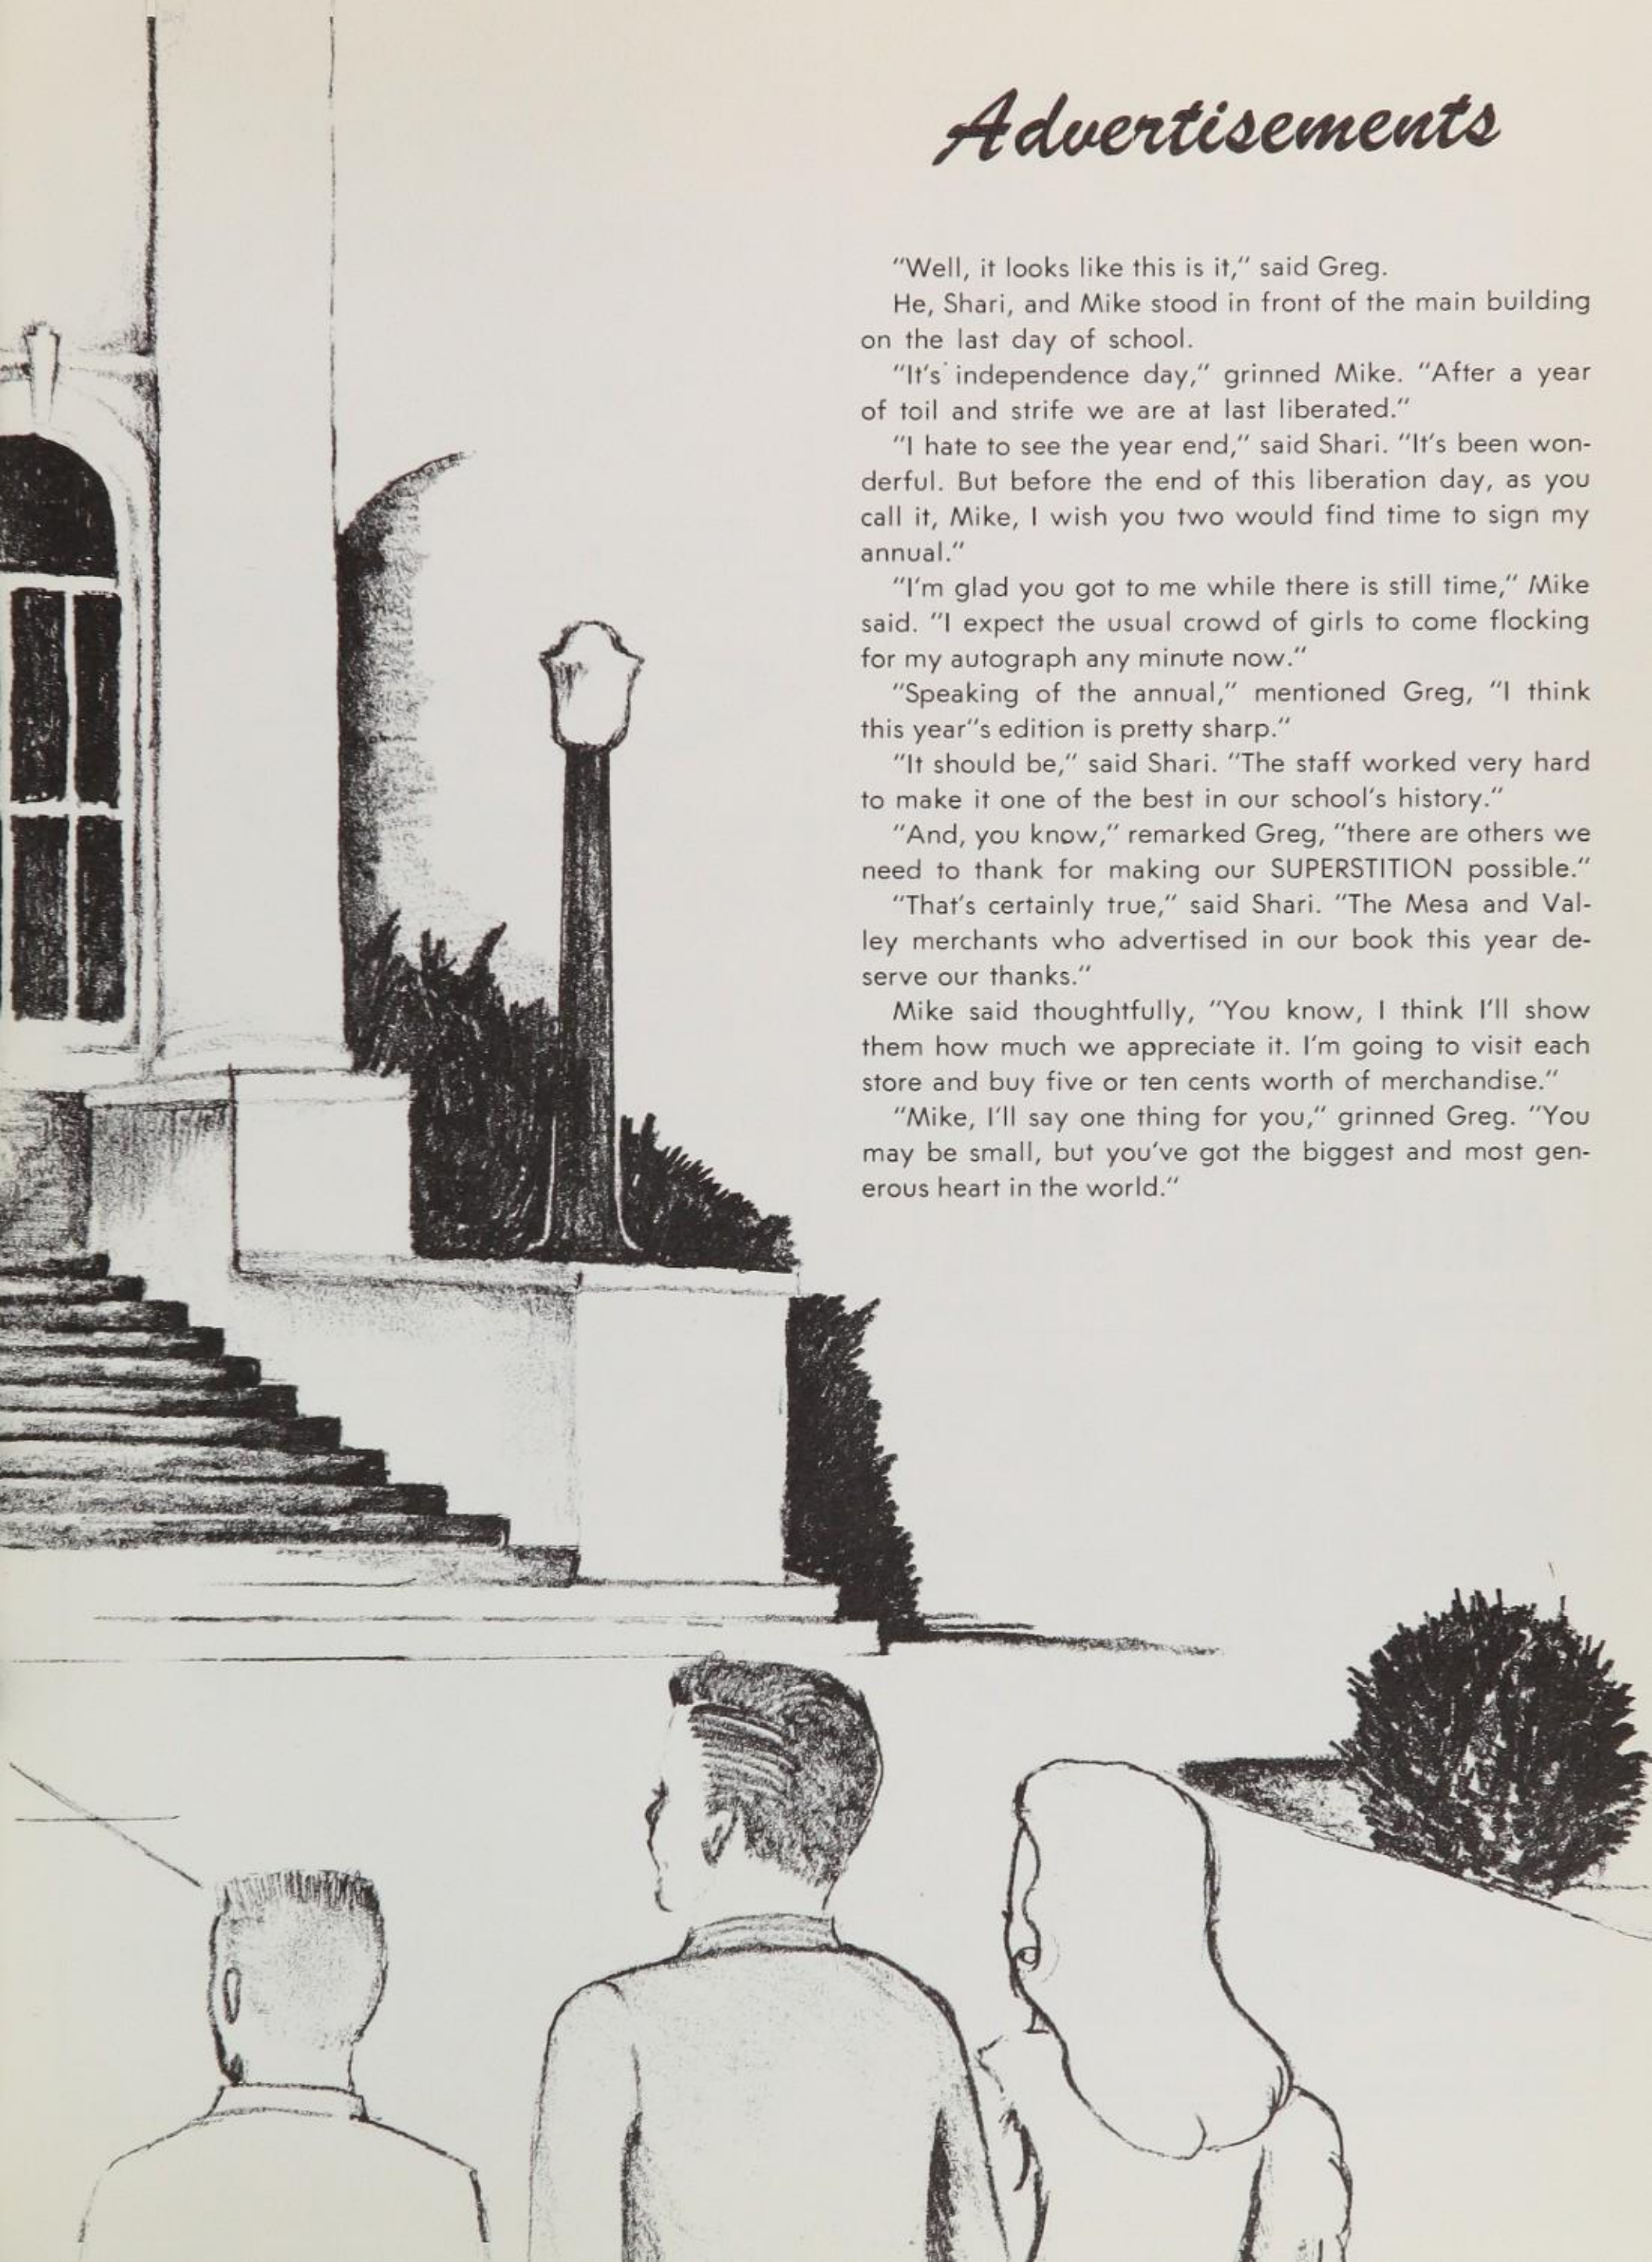

"It should be," said Shari. "The staff worked very hard to make it one of the best in our school's history."

"And, you know," remarked Greg, "there are others we need to thank for making our SUPERSTITION possible."

"That's certainly true," said Shari. "The Mesa and Valley merchants who advertised in our book this year deserve our thanks."

Mike said thoughtfully, "You know, I think I'll show them how much we appreciate it. I'm going to visit each store and buy five or ten cents worth of merchandise."

"Mike, I'll say one thing for you," grinned Greg. "You may be small, but you've got the biggest and most generous heart in the world."

OWNING YOUR MUNICIPAL UTILITY SYSTEM ...like owning your home!

If you're buying a home, every monthly payment adds to your ownership . . . gives you something more than a stack of rent receipts. § It's about the same story with your consumer-owned utility. As your utility system grows in value, you get the benefits—because you are a citizen “stockholder.” The money you pay for utilities stays at home, and every dollar of it works for you—through better utility service, lower rates, increased assets of your local utility, and contributions to your local government. § And, just as in owning a home, local consumer ownership of your utility means local management and control. Municipal ownership keeps the benefits of a growing asset in the hands of home folks.
